Now that I have finally replaced the cylinder on my Ditto and don't have to depend on the local store for getting out ADAG,I can once again get back on schedule.

To you,now lying within this foreign land,
We,who remain,pay tribute of a pledge,
That dying,thou shalt surely not
Have died in vain.
That when again bright morning dyes the sky
And waving brouchs above shall touch the rain,
We give you this*that in those times
We will remember.
We lived and fought together,thou and we,
And sought to keep the flickering torch aglow
That all our loved ones might forever know
The blessed warmth exceeding flame
The everlasting scourge of bondsmen's chains
Liberty and Light.
When we with loving hands laid back the earth
That was for moments short to couch thy form
We did not bid a last and sad farewell
But only,"rest ye well".
Then with this humble,heartfelt epitaph
That pays thy many virtues sad acclaim
We marked this spot,and,murmuring requiem,
Moved on to westward.

MOVING,RAIN,ETC.

You couldn't believe the things that could happen to a human being just from moving. (1)-I had to repalce a lost Licence plate($45.00)
(2)-The place wasn't ready,In fact it was flooded,so I had no water,no lights and no sewer facilities till after the Xmas holidays,In the time between the last issue and this I will be moving again,NO not to another address,but to another space.In this court there will be no use for a space number,since all the mail now goes to the managers office,so consequently all deadlines are now set at 10:00 AM in the morning,and untill I get settled in a new spece,I will be without a phone,but as soon as I get a phone,I will go back to the old deadline of 4:00PM(EST) so anyway Have a good year and many many wins foreverybody.

/Since this was printed,I have once again moved this time into a house,so light a candle and a little prayer,and hope that the nice mail at the bank,will let me see you.

The Turkish Army Stationed in Sevastopol is routed and must retreat, The only two areas open are Armenia or off the Board. Larry St. Cyr submitted Fall moves for Craig Klyver and since he mist, he is then replaced under ADASS two mis rules.

England, Germany, Italy, and Russia build one (1) all others remain constant.

PARIS (Sept. 16, 1902) President Robaire Le Formidable uttered but two very expressive lines in his speech today, "Angleterre....Bleah!!!!!!" later in his address, pointing out the improved Franco-German relations he stated, "Vive-L'Allemand!!!" He also in his speech gave a detailed description of the action being taken to end this filthy English plot. Ten warships from the French Fleet are heading toward the English Channel to drive the English off the High seas.

SAN MARINO (Nov. 2, 1902) In a unanimous motion, the league of Mini-States, in their centennial meeting, voted to join France in her struggle against the English. The Grand Council decided on two courses of action. The first was the immediate embargo of all English Gods, a truly damaging move to England. The second was to send units of the States Navy to assist the French Fleet. The States fleet consists of Chinese war-surplus patrol boats. The ships ready for action were; LMSS Nauru, LMSS San Marino, LMSS Maldiv Islands, LMSS Guyana, LMSS South Yemen, and the LMSS Luxembourg. Amphibious assault teams were contributed by Andorra and Liechtenstein. Their first mission was to paint obscenities on the white cliffs of Dover. The council decided to postpone further action until their next Centennial meeting in 2002.

DOVER (Dec. 19, 1902) The English society for the protection of Motherhood fought a bloody encounter with the league of Mini-States navy today. The society was fighting to protect the Cliffs of Dover from desecration. The battle inflicted heavy casualties on both sides. The LMSS Guyana and the LMSS Maldiv Islands both went down, the LMSS Maldiv Islands put up a bold fight before Captain Peery jumped overboard. In Peery's panic, however, he was hit by a rolling pin shot by the Society and was never seen again. This news was received with rejoicing on both sides. Naturally, the bold fighters from the mini-states fought back bravely. They destroyed five rolling pin launchers, and an ammunition dump of Purses filled with lead shot, while this was going on, the assault teams from Andorra and Liechtenstein attacked the cliffs with chalk inflicting heavy damage. The league of mini-states claimed a massive victory and began planning their next assault which it reported to be against the channel islands. War rages on..... Some of the dirty slogans chalked on the white cliffs of Dovers was "Dear old Oranges...Koning drinks tea...Smythe cheats at tittly-winks, Hyman is a right winger...McCallum is really Irish...Nelson

CHULA VISTA (007) Commissions from the last issue was the Turkish Army Ankara even though Turkey was not entitled to a build it was made and printed. In answer to the question of the Germany Army in Bohemia, it was not Annihilated (Phillips) your copy most likely showed it as being Annihilated, but it was corrected to show the Russian Fleet Denmark. The mistake was on my part for printing the moves and then finding that I had Germany's moves on a postcard, but that it had slipped under my Ink Blotter and the master was already printed, also the Italian Navy Fleet Tyn-W. Med should have been underlined. In answer to the question of replacement moves. I had two sets of Replacement moves for Russia, but the Player for Italy submitted a resignation, so I flipped a coin and that is why Mr. Phillips you took possession of Italy instead of Russia. I hope I have clarified all the questions that were asked on this game.

BUCHAREST: Upon being informed by a royal courier that the expected Army marching up from Constantinople would not be coming/Al I had notified Ed Halle in the last issue that it was a temporary build and that he could submit a change, but he felt that it would not be ethical to change it. and that instead a fleet had been launched from Smyrna, Pasha Ben Had did not lose his composure, but merely remarked, "How Nausty" (PUN, I hope not).

LONDON(Oct 23,1901) The Duke of Cumberland today officially announced that English Fleet units operating in the Channel were acting without orders and mistook the French movements as being hostile. The Duke, hopes in the light of so few casualties that M.Skinner will not hold these unfortunate activities against the Friendship of our nations.

ROME-As Proof of my good faith towards France,I will destroy Austria.

VERSEILLES(REUTERS) Le Grande Marchal Henri Maisson reported to the Supreme war council that the treacherous attack on the French Border by the German Army was decisively beaten back. On the 9 of April, German Field Armys poured across the French Border in a completely unjustified attack, 25 miles within the French border our troops met La Boche. Outside the Town, Laque Blanche et, Bleu, Marshall Maisson Skillfully maneuvered his troops and on the morning of April 12th, the 11th. Copt. led by the gallant Ambrose P. O'Hill launched a surprise assault and completely smashed the German left wing. The rest of Our Army followed up the attack and completely routed the invading forces. The German Army fled with alacrity back to Munich. General Maisson reports he has captured 3 acres of German troops, the entire artillery of the army and all the supply wagons. At the same time Admiral Raphael J. De La Semmes reported an encounter with the English Navy in the Channel. The British forces sailed out of a cloud bank and attacked several French fishing trawlers. Our Navy sailed from Brest to protect them and inflicted a serious defeat on the English navy. In the ensuing engagement two English Battleships and three battle Cruisers and innumerable small English vessels were lost. We sustained minor losses. For his action Admiral de la Semmes was awarded the "Order of Valor" with Diamonds. At the same time for his action at La Que Blanche et Bleu, General O'Hill was promoted to Field Marshall of the Republic and awarded with the Croix De Guerre.
