From the Grand Duchy of Great Zott "Is the Austro-Russian Alliance Cracking up"?

66-AU

Open letter to Germany: ..How dare you invade Sweden; We have been fighting with the Swedes over 800 years, Don't you have any sense of propriety. We Russians have prior claim, Get out yesterday or we may become impatient with you and re-arbitrate your borders.

Yours truly-moscow Marlene,.

Elan' Vital wins again; -The French second army enflamed with love for the sacred soil of France, though back an Italian army and a German Army in two successive battles. Its just as we have always said-"One Frenchman is worth two of any one else, especially anyone who likes Canadian Red Cap ale. We like Blatz Beer;.

CONSTANTINOPLE: It is with heavy heart that the Ottoman Empire finds its necessary to ensure the dominance of man over women. In furthering this policy of Man's rights the Government has declared war against that infamous Matriachy, Russia. This Government has been quick to recognize the inherent dangers of a women ruling 200 millions. It is terrible enough for a man to suffer three wives ruling his domestic affairs; what horrors must he now suffer if women demands to govern his political-Economic life?.

VIENNA-SEPTEMBER-1901... With the acquisition of Greece, Albania, and Serbia, the Austro-Hungarian empire has recovered her historical territories. The Imperial Foreign Ministry announced that Austria has no further territorial ambitions North of the danube, and confir her support for Russian possession of Rumania. Rumors that the son of the Chief of the Imperial General staff for the forces of the Holy Roman Empire had eloped with the Daughter of the Grand Vizier of Turkey were vigorously denied by the press Secretary for the Dodecagon. However, reporters noted that neither of the young people had been seen in recent weeks, except by the proprietor of a ski resort in the Swiss Alps. who claimed that he hoped they were married.

66-AN

EPINAL-16-April 1902 (SIMPLICISSIMUS) For the first time in weeks soldiers of the Imperial first find themselves able to partake of the pleasures of leisurely France. The only complaint among the ranks seems to stem from the lack of French wine- a result of cold winter.

66-AN

PARIS-16-April 1902.. (LE HARVE).. The French government announced today that in the future no more wine would be sent to Germany, The Minister of Wine making announced that the heads of the German Government were getting to drunk on French wine and keep trying to sneak into France for more wine.

OCCUPIED DRESDEN-As General Sukhomlinov watched the Russian 2nd Army cross the Elbe, he was reported to have said-"Dear me; I hope I remember correctly that I am to order the Army to support a French invasion of Bavaria from across the Rhine instead of the other way around. I do wish I could remember what I did with the secret Communique from the French General what's-his-name". Luckily the Tzar won't notice any incompetence, these days he is too busy reading Austro-Turkish mail. Also he has some plan to import Zebra Skins. He mentioned something about them aiding in the reinforcement and recruitment of Armies.

BERLIN (23 March 1902); His Imperial Majesty, Frederick V, emerged from his closet today. He has been in the closet since last fall, whimpering, probably owing to the perfidious Italian invasion of Southern Germany. His Majesty addressed the Reichstag on the current situation and received a standing ovation, a vote of confidence, several bouquets of edelweiss, and a declaration of War against Italy. "Down with the perfidious and repulsive Italians!" Cried one Reichstag member, representing the city of Munchen. After his address to the Reichstag, His Majesty proceeded to call up old Veteran Commanders to the field. Placed in command of the Southern front was Baron-General Meinhardt-Franz-Rudolph-Ludwig-Johann-Frudo-August-Wilhelm-Karl-Freidrich-Von Schwartzenburg-Rudolstadt-Bopfigem Sitzenplatz, the most hypenated Commander in the German Army. It is said that his very name strikes terror in the enemy. In command of the Western Front is General Ludendorff, Hindenburg, and Schickelgruber. The last is a former Corporal, promoted to General out of recognition of his fervent last-ditch defense of Munchen against the perfidious Italians. General Schickelgruber made his last stand at the Alte Beer-Halle, where his actions were so valiant that he came to the attention of the General Staff. "Ja, Dot Schickelgruber ist nodt a putch-offer," observed General Hindenburg. His Majesty also issued a statement to the Austrian Government, warning them against Italian perfidy. "If Munchen goes, can Wein be far behind"?

66-AN

PRECIBLE (1902) ... The Imperial High Llama, today Announced that "He would no longer send the precious Accra Berry Juice (From which DSL is made) to the Emperor of Austria." His announcements to world seem more to deem as rantings from a Mad Man. Than from a Man who wants only peace."

ABURSOLLUM-1902 ... The tiny kingdom of Abursollum announced a joint declaration of War with the tiny Kingdom of Small against the mad Emperor of Austria-Hungary.

Berlin (12, May 1902). His imperial majesty, Frederick V, Was today crowned Emperor of Rome and Monarch of the Holy Roman Empire of the German Nation. Immediately after his coronation the Emperor vowed to eradicate the usuping vermin presently polluting the Holy City and to oust the anti-pope, his majesty nominated his brother, Prince William, who took the name Propylactus. His holiness then blessed the Emperor and vowed a new crusade against the infidels in Italy. His Holiness called upon good Teutonic Christians everywhere such as Austria, to take up arms against the common foe. His majesty then issued an imperial command-----

That the King of Italy must meet him at Canossa, where Imperator Et Pontifex shall decide whether the wretch is to keep his miserable Crown. His Majesty also ordered his forces, when they invade Italy, not to ravage the land more than necessary or fun.

VERSAILLES: In a note delivered to the Italian Ambassador today, the Foreign Ministry made it clear that the French Government will abide by the terms of the treaty of Milan, which it signed with the former Government of Italy;

Paris; ... As a service to those unable to read French, the text of the French declaration of war, published some months ago, was today reissued in an English version. "The Emperor Napoleon IV, Declared to his Ministers yesterday. "It is my task to inform you that there exists a state of war between France and Germany. It is the sacred obligation of the French Empire to destroy that terrible menace, which is Germany. It is not the German people, which we shall destroy. No, it is the ugly risen body of Jacobinism, We cannot understand why our Russian brothers have seen fit to ally with these barbarians. It is necessary to avenge our brother Wilhelm; tell our warriors that their task is simple; to die for the glory of France and for the peace of Europe; The enemy must be crushed;
