THE DIPLOMAT

What another AEOLUS so soon! And a sixth page to boot (although all it is a lot of statistical dribble). This does however, bring the magazine up to date on both games (for a couple of hours).

The player commentary submitted for post-game publication continues to arrive in fair quantity. In fact a few players have been submitting data with nearly every move. Unfortunately a few people have not sent in one word. Now anything you do send will be held until the game is over. At that time I'll gather together, edit, and publish the information submitted. Why send it in now, when it can be written at the end? Your current opinions and thoughts are quite likely different than the words you would compose following the action.

Does anyone have any idea of which postal game has been the bloodiest in terms of annihilations? The AEOLUS games have nearly been averaging one per move (this includes the 1900 moves).

Rod Walker is about to start on his proposed Diplomacy federation charter. If you'd like to lend a hand - his address is on page 11. Rod's also come up with his own rating list. As usual, the editor's score is incorrect.

And now we have a word from the Inner Self:

I Eduard Halle(sic), take this opportunity to declare I am in no ways part, dominant or otherwise, of the Entity which labels itself "Monte Zelazny." After all, I love my brew too much to keep any food in the icebox, and Zelazny is well known for His love of food (ask Vicki), and keeps nothing else.

After (if) Monte makes His pilgrimage to Youngstown this wummer, I wish the assembled people there to inform Me if they would be part of this Organism, and then lay claim to it. Anyway, I'm Me, He's He, and (whoops, almost said We're We) that's that. Or is it the other way around?

DIPLOMACY GAMES:

The listing of current postal Diplomacy games that follows throughout this issue, is basically a revision of John McCallum's "Games in Progress" article published in BROBDINGNAG #70. In order to make the present list of reasonable length, only games which have progressed to and beyond Fall 1903 have been included. The number of games in this category (from the magazines I receive) still reaches fifty-seven, so prepare yourself. The list is in two parts:

a) Game Data --arranged as follows:

Boardman No. (Last known Fall year) Player (no. of supply centers) country; etc.

b) Where to find each game (this section located on Pg.10):

Boardman Number The magazine that carries the game.

PRESS RELEASES:

ANKARA: The second meeting of the "What to do With Russia" league opened in Ankara following the Russian seizure of Rumania by Russian hordes under the leadership of Wellsovich the Terrible. His Majesty Turkustu Mahamund noted "the world will sleep till the Russian treachery against mankind has been righted." The meeting went on into the night as none of the assembled members was very sleepy.

SINISTER INTERNATIONAL CONSPIRACY HQ: Miss Pussy Katz (!), Unpublicity Director for the Conspiracy, took credit for the collapse of the Austro-Hungarian Empire. "Thus perish all nations, all dynasties, all peoples who resist the dictates of the Sinister International Conspiracy," she hissed to a blindfolded reporter at a hidden rendezvous somewhere in the Szekler Alps.

Miss Katz declined to say who would be the next victim of the Conspiracy, or which nations were presently operating under Conspiracy dictates. "But you will notice," she said, "that success has attended French arms. The French government has believed implicitly in the existence and power of the Sinister International Conspiracy for many years!" Then, with the winning snicker which has made her famous in espionage circles, Miss Katz concluded the interview by ordering two faithful dacoints to tie up the reporter and dump him in front of the House of All the Russias in Kiev at 4 AM the following Sunday.

BERLIN: Words cannot describe our reaction to France's move, and even if they could, Zelazny wouldn't print them.

PRESS RELEASE:

BERLIN: We take up Goliath's challenge.

SINISTER INTERNATIONAL CONSPIRACY HEADQUARTERS, LONDON: Twiggy, the blonde, willowy Unpublicity Director of SIC, presided over a secret press conference at the country seat of the Duke of _____.

"First off, I'm sure you want to know about the resurrection of Miss Pussy Katz," said Twiggy. "It's true she survived her put-down in Vienna, and, man, I'm gassed about that. But the poor popsie blew her mind when she got back and found she'd lost her job. Man she's split, she's joined another scene that broke off from ours. So don't believe anything that bird says. We're the real SIC, we're the most -- the most sinister, the most international, the most conspiring. Pussy Katz is mixed up with that Trotsky group -- Turkey Trotsky and the Swampland Swingers (courtesy of Walt Kelly)."

Twiggy sipped Kool-Ade and continued: "Man, let's drop that, and take a look at our SINISTER INTERNATIONAL CONSPIRACY activities. We've been Kuching up a storm in Germany, Wacht am Reinsel. We'll turn on the world. Germany in France! France in England! England in Scandinavia! Lucy in the sky with diamonds!"

DEADLINE: Fall 1903: 16 May 1968.

The Austrian A Ser was annihilated.

PRESS RELEASES:

Paris (3 March 1903): King Charles XI today awarded the Croix de Guerre to General Jacques Sarrail, Commander-in-Chief of the French Army, for his brilliant counterattack on and subsequent annihilation of the German invaders in Burgundy.

Following the joyful ceremony, His Majesty held a short press conference. When asked of the current situation in the West, the King replied, "We have successfully held off the German invaders to the east while attempting to stabilize against the British to the west. Under the present conditions, my advisors inform me that the French armed forces should be able to hold its own for at least another year; however, these conditions may change in the not so distant future. Prime Minister Joseph Caillaux is presently negotiating with representatives of several European powers in Geneva, and last reported that all was going smoothly." King Charles would give no further information on the talks other than this.

THE LAY OF LUCIFER (Part 5): Wherein His Satanic Majesty deals with the insidious Bram Doan.

The appearance of Bram Doan caused a silence to fall over the Infernal Throne Room, which was punctuated only by the cries and groans of the damned and the taunting snarls and threats of the lesser demons.

"The whip, the whip!"

"No, no, not the whip!"

"The whip, the whip!"

"No, no, a thousand times no! Not the whip, please, anything but the whip!

". . . (chuckle) Anything?"

"The whip, the whip!"

"He, he, heh, heh, cackle! And now, 1000 hours of Lassie!"

"Aaaaaaaiiiiiiiiiiiiiiyyyyyyyyyyeeeeeeeeeee...eee...ee. .e . . e . ."

His Satanic Majesty, however, seemed not to be perturbed by the appearance of Doan. He looked at the newly arrived figure, his flaming yellow eyes sweeping over the gaunt, fanatic limbs, the pinched face, the wild, staring eyes, the mustache, bristling straight out from his upper lip in a fit of frenzy. In his hands he held twin bombs, and his mouth frothed slightly as he yelled, "Kill the warmongers! Death to the sinister international war conspiracy! Freedom and independence for everybody, whether they want it or not!! Revolution forever! Kill, kill!!!" And with that, he launched both bombs into the assemblage, where they erupted into blue-hot flame, indicative of the terrible Peace Napalm, manufactured in Brooklyn and other centers of the International Kill For Peace Conspiracy.

But fire, of course, is just part of the general atmosphere of Hell, and Doan might have had more effect if he had eaten a clove of garlic and breathed at everybody. Grinning darkly, the toad-like figure of the demon Leer-Sin lunged at Doan and dragged him down. The two immediately set to fighting, clawing, kicking, gouging, biting, slapping. As the demon's poisoned fangs sank into Doan's posterior, Doan whipped out a huge hypodermic and gave Leer-Sin a gigantic injection of LSD in approximately the same location. As luck would have it, one of the peculiarities of the anatomy of both individuals was that the small clump of nerve ganglions which served them for brains were located in the afore-mentioned locations, and they were instantly stretched flat on the floor.

During the excitement, Sir Cecil Hardesty-Posh and Baron Von Rottenegg grabbed the Comte du St. Lo and began stabbing him, while the other four Suppliants tangled in a great free-for-all in which each wound up with a black eye. Lucifer, smoking angrily from his elbows and wing-tips, separated the combatants. He then ordered Doan's prostrate form thrown into the Chamber of Ultimate Horror. "Imagine the real and genuine terror when he wakes up in a little cell where the only reading material is a pile of old XENOGOGICs (snicker)." Leer-Sin was dropped into the Pit of Black Flame, where he could be counted on to revive. By this time, the Suppliants were at it again, Prince Ferdinand of Hapsburg-Lippe having obtained an axe from somewhere. "Now stop that!" cried His Infernal Majesty. "I realize there is no honor among thieves, but this wanton bloodthirstiness is . . . well, it's understandable. And with that, the Devil jumped into the melee, giving better than he got, and everybody had a smashing good time. The imps on the Repair and Rehabilitation Crew were glueing pieces of bodies together for days.

THE LAY OF LUCIFER (Part 6): Mharain His Satanic Majesty rewards the Ottoman Sultan for his researches into sacred knowledge.

As several imps began cleaning up places of the Suppliants and putting them back together, Lucifer sat, resting, on the Brimstone Throne. He thoughtfully tasted a cup of liquid sulfur, which was delectable, if a trifle cool. Suddenly, a bell jingled. Lucifer skipped over to the door, slinging, "I'm going to get a lat-toe, I'm going to get a lat-toe..." Joyously he accepted a piece of parchment in his salons, and found that it was addressed to him from the Sultan of Turkey. It was in this wise:

"Ye ceremony, referred to by Yourre Infernal Majesty, undergone by the Witche Della Stallia, is obviously ye dedication of ye saide Witche, her soule and bodie, unto the service of thyselfe, ye Devil. The customary central feature of the saide service of dedication, in the case of a female witche, and especially if she be noble, is an acte of submission total of her bodie unto the Devil His use by the same. It is related that the Covene of witches to which the said witche is to be admitted being met, the postulant for admission enters, wearing an outer garment of black, and after the customary back and forth about it, is admitted to the circle of ye Covene. There she is suffered to remove the outer garment, revealing one of carmine blue, and is caused to lie down on a table, spread with a fawne white cloth, standing in the midst of the Covene, with black candles lighted at her head and her feet.

Then the Black Man, being the President of the Covene, and usually a man acting out the parte of the Devil, although some saye he is not acting, but in such circumstances the Devil Himself entereth into the proceedings, after an invocation of the Evilie Power, too long to repeat here, and after further obtaining the assent of the aspirant Witche to the power of the Devil as against all other powers, casteth aside his nether garment, mounteth up and if ye saide Witche be a virgin, belisenth her, or if not, then nevertheless proceede to treat her in the same wise. This ceremony taketh place in connection with a solemn, even as a piece of a Court, being invested with the power of his office save in connection with a service of Communion.

Now, if the foregoing be sufficient to warrant the granting unto the Sultan Sidi-Kokran of a boon from His Infernal Majesty, as beforetimes published, then let it be given.

His Infernal Majesty was much pleased, "Why, Sidi-Kokran, baby," he said, "damn your black heart, of course you shall be rewarded." Lucifer gestured hypnotically, "Let there be a new Turkish supply center." And there was a new Turkish supply center, and the Devil looked upon it and saw that it was bad (what else?), and that it was in Hawaii, and that any unit it supplied would have to be built there, and that there were 750 provinces between it and the closest European province, and that if a Fleet were to be built there, it could be in Europe by the year 2052 (if the game lasts that long).

NOTE TO SIDI-KOKRAN: That will teach you to try to take advantage of some idiot offer ye make in this line.

*These two games actually belong to the magazine, MISKATONIC UNIVERSITY; however they are published and distributed with ARMAGEDONIA.

AEOLUS #5

DIPLOMACY MILIEU

21 May 1968

1. COSTAGUANA Vol.111, No.6: Game #3 has room for one more player; $3 Fee; last chance foe quite a while says Conrad (Conrad von Metzke, 5327 Hilltop Drive, San Diego CA 92114).
2. EREHWON Vol.11, No.10: 4 positions left in the last game open with a $4 Fee; future games will cost $5 (Rod Walker, 1575-A White Drive, Rantoul IL 61066).
3. FRANKENSTEIN: A new magazine which will be edited by Harry Manogg. Walker will do the publishing, so apparently the magazine will belong to the Pandemonium Publications family (with Cats). One game will be carried, the "Diplomacy World Series"; positions will filled by invitation only; you might express interest to Harry though (Harry Manogg, P.O.Box 769, Kankakee, IL 60901).
4. GLOCKORLA 18: 3 regular Diplomacy positions are available; interesting letter column; stand-by positions for SUPER-ECONOMIC DIPLOMACY (Dave Lebling, 3 Rollins Court, Rockville, MD 20852).
5. MARCH OF DIMES TOURNAMENT: Tournament consists of two divisions: a) Avalon Hill and Gamescience; b) Diplomacy. Diplomacy Division prizes include Avalon Hill games and a complete fleet for Fletcher Pratt's naval game! Entry fee for the Diplomacy Division is $1, plus a 6¢ SAE with each move (Dan Evans, 3405 Westchester, Bakersfield, CA 93309).
6. STAB 48: The beer drinker's gazette; also contains postal Diplomacy as a secondary feature (John Koning, 2003 Sherman Avenue., Apt. 1, Evanston IL 60201).
7. VALHALLA 2: The competition; recommended as a fill-in in those spare moments between AEOLUS issues; of interest is a listing of war-gaming clubs (John Koning see STAB above).
8. WILD'n'WOOLLY 125; No game openings, but lots of end game action to be observes (Dan Brannan, 2542 N.W. Vaughn, Portland, OR 97210).
9. And a hand for Gene Prosnitz, winner of 1966BC, playing England.
