Issue #5

This is the official 'zine of the Miller Number Custodian, who is; Lee A. Kendter, 4347 Benner St., Phila., PA 19135 215-333-9729

Hello again! Things are just humming along nicely at the MNC office (well, I really don't have an office but a small area of my den is set aside for MNC bussiness). Spring has arrived and I'm very happy as I HATE the cold weather! Time to oil my softball glove and see if my old arm can get ready to pitch another season. Ahh...spring.

There were again NO contributions for this issue even though I had a couple of you suggest you might write something. I guess that your'e satisfied that this is a dull, dry statistics 'zine. Oh well, I tried to make it otherwise but it will most likely stay this way.

Let's get down to bussiness. First a financial report.

Balance in treasury as of 2/1/84	$190.37
Donation from Ben Schilling	75.00	(dipcon funds)
Donation from Fred Davis	1.00
Donation from Mark Coldiron	2.00
	<hr/>
Total	268.37
Printing and mailing A&O #4	- 31.40
Day to day expenses 2/1 to 5/1	- 35.00
printing and mailing this issue	- 33.00	approximate
	<hr/>
Balance	168.97

The treasury is still in good shape. Thanks to all of you who helped !

The 'Wordworks"/Wes Ives affair.....My opinion.

For those of you who get Diplomacy Digest and Everything you are probably aware of this controversy. Origionally I had written over two pages that I was going to include in here but then after much thought I decided that all I would be doing is repeating things that had been said somewhere else. I am going to make a brief statement as to where I stand on the issue and give a very brief background to the affair.

- 1) Mr Ives runs games by computor and applied to the BNC for numbers for one of his games. Due to the way the game was run she felt it was a variant. No, I'm not talking about the fact that it is an "E-Mail" game, Kathy already issues numbers to those. The fact that Mr Ives is running ANONYMOUS games is the issue. When Kathy consulted with me I agreed that the game is a variant. My opinion was based on the fact of the Anonymity and the way that these games were handled in the past.
- 2) Mark Berch has written a substancial amount of material in DD about this. He feels that the games should be given a BN and not a MN. I have exchanged dozens of letters with Mark, Kathy, and several others about the issue. Since my letters were all 'not for publication' you won't see any of them in DD or elsewhere. That is why I am writing this here.
- 3) I have come to the conclusion that nobody can be 100% right on this issue. At best it might come out 60/40. Both sides have valid points. However, I have examined all sides of the arguement as carefully as I can. I have taken all points into consideration and weighed them very carefully. I agree with Kathy that Mr Ives games are indeed a variant and should not get a Boardman Number. I know that some of you will not agree with me and I'm sure that some of you will. I'm not looking for a debate nor am I looking for a pat on the back. I just feel that my opinion in the issue should be known publicly. This is the last you will hear from me on this subject.

The supply center counts for 1904 and 1905 are obviously wrong, since neither adds up to 34 supply centers. I assume that in 1909 either Russia was four short or Turkey was 3 short. I'm sending a copy of this to John Leeder who may be able to supply some useful information. A copy of this issue of NFA will be sent to the Miller Number Custodian, Lee Kendter, once I figure out where he lives.
