WEST COVINA DIPLOMACY GAME NUMBER ONE  SERIES I  SPRING, 1901 ***

RUSSIANS MOBILIZE IN MOSCOW.....(RANS) The Imperial Russian 1st Corp has mobilized in fortifications outside Moscow, and has marched to St. Petersburg in what looks like a definite beefing up of Russian Forces near the Gulf of Bothnia. Arch Duke Ivan said that a recent heating up of world pressures had caused Emperor Al and himself to "decide that some of our fronts needed help." He went on to say that the movement of the Imperial 2nd Fleet from St. Petersburg to the Gulf of Bothnia by High Admiral Franz had nothing to do with his army's movements.

FRANCE INVADES AND OCCUPIES SPAIN.....(RANS) President Talbot said in Paris that due to civil turmoil in Spain, the French Republic had decided to set up a Protectorate over that country for a period of time until satisfactory changes can be made in the internal structure of that country. The French Army stationed at Marseilles has moved in a striking manner to base itself in Madrid. The French President went on to say that the movements of French Armies towards the North was for the sole purpose of keeping that front strong against building pressures from it's neighbors to the North and East.

ENGLAND MOVES.....(RANS) Prime Minister Mazouch announced in London that England was preparing her armies and navies for what looked like a great conflict in the North Sea of the English Channel.

AUSTRIA-HUNGARY ADVANCES TO BOHEMIA.....(RANS) Grand Duke Greeley said that he was ordering his armies to Bohemia from Vienna so that he could be assured of support if Germany happened to advance against his country. He also stated that he was moving his Fleet out into the Adriatic so that he could assure himself safe shipping in that area.

GERMANY OCCUPIES DENMARK.....(RANS) Reichsmarshall Love announced in Berlin that his forces were occupying Denmark because of prolonged action by that country against the interests of his New Order. He also said that he was advancing his forces to the West because of a need for effective training of his troops. "The Armies at Berlin and Munich need more in the way of training," said the Commandant, "and Kiel and the Ruhr provide the best places for that training to take place."

ITALY MOVES OUT ONTO THE IONIAN SEA.....(RANS) Prime Minister Woolsey said in Rome that in order to protect Italian interests in the Ionian and Greece in particular, he was ordering his fleet from Naples into that area. He also announced that his Roman Army was moving to Apulia to bolster the Eastern Defenses.

GERMANY INVADES FRANCE!! CRUSHES HOLLAND LOVE DECLARES "GOTCHA"

(NOCB)-(RANS) Reichsmarshall Love announced in Berlin a two-pronged military advancement by his armies of major military proportions. He stated that his First Army was occupying Holland because of that country's "definite unwillingness to restrain itself from pursuing anything other than a strictly neutral course, and therefore endangering the territorial integrity and sovereignty of the German people."

Saying, in part, that "No German will rest until France is wiped off the map," he announced his Second Army's surprise crossing of the French border and occupying of the province of Burgundy. "No longer can the New Order and the German people allow the existence of such a slovenly government and its people so close to their home," he declared. "France and the French are through; and the flag of the New Order will be flying atop the Eifel Tower by the coming winter."

Asked if he intends to pursue such a stringent course of action in the future, the Reichsmarshall stated that his people "have no desire for war...we merely are acting out of purely defensive necessity; we have no wish for territorial gain or colonization."

SCANDANAVIA SCREWED RUSSIA COMPLETES ATTACKS

(INB)-(RANS) Arch Duke Ivan and his hard-marching Imperial First Corp crossed over into Norway, and in one of the most fantastic maneuvers of all time travelled the entire length of the Norwegian Coast, and then defeated a powerful Norwegian Army outside of Oslo. Arch Duke Ivan called it the greatest maneuver since Hannibal's crossing of the Alps.

High Admiral Franz and his Imperial First Fleet demolished the Swedish Coastline and the major cities of Sweden. They blew out of the Gulf Bothnia just ahead of the Winter Storms, and are now in control of all of Sweden. High Admiral Franz met with Ivan on the coast overlooking Denmark and congratulated him on his fantastic march, and there they talked over ways of invading Germany.

ITALY INVADES GREECE.....(RANS) Prime Minister Wbolsey and his Military Advisors were jubilant in Rome as the Italian Fleet in the Ionian acted as a convoy force for the Army in Apulia. Greece fell almost without a shot as the Italian Land and Sea Forces overpowered her.

(- (EDITOR'S NOTE: Reichsmarschall Love issued a communique in Berlin congratulating the French President on his "excellent military judgement.") -)

AUSTRIA-HUNGARY MOVES TO RETREAT.....(RANS) In a vain attempt to retreat against increasing pressures from Russia and Italy Grand Duke Greeley was forced to call his forces in Bohemia and the Adriatic home. However, action by Russia, invading Vienna, and action by Italy, moving from Venice to the port of Trieste, led to a military standoff. The Austro-Hungarian forces were unable to even return home. The Imperial Russian Ambassador in Vienna was ordered home, and all relations with that country were broken off.

ENGLAND FAILS.....(RANS) Prime Minister Mazouch once again tried to earn England a foothold on the continent, but military action by France led to a land and sea stalemate. Attempts by England to occupy the English Channel also ended in defeat of both parties, and subsequently there was no change in the placement of forces.

TURKEY ENTERS THE WAR.....(RANS) The RT. Chancellor Don announced in Istanbul (Constantinopol) that his government was acting against atrocities by the Bulgarian government and summarily attacking that country. He also moved to bring his armies in Smyrna to Constantinopol to reinforce that area. The fleet anchored in Northern Turkey also moved to occupy the Black Sea.

FRANCE SUFFERS DEFEAT ON ALL FRONTS..... France failed to occupy Belgium, failed to take the English Channel, and was invaded by the forces of the New Order. Tonight in Paris the streets were empty and the lights in the War Ministry glowed late into the night. President Talbot emerged from the Ministry late that morning looking tired and worn. He refused to make a statement and drove away to the front near Burgundy. The tri-color was flown at half-mast because of the thousands that had died in the battle to save Burgundy from the German Hordes.

REVANCHE

FRENCH ARMIES RETAKE BURGUNDY; ENGLISH CHANNEL

(RANS) All France was dancing in the streets as the Republican Defense Army retook Burgundy from the Germans. German forces were routed as the Republican Defense Army marched from Paris and the French Forces in Picardy lent their weight also. Enthusiasm for an all-out invasion of Germany rose as President Talbot said, "The French People shall not rest until the Ruhr-land is growing nothing but okra!" He went on to call Reichsmarshal Love a "traitor" and "infamous wretch". In an address to the French Assembly President Talbot shouted, "We shall march over the entire population of Germany. We shall march to the gates of Berlin over the corpse of the New Order." He referred to Germany's attack on Burgundy in this way, "It was an insane move, and it couldn't have succeeded from the start." France also moved to occupy the English Channel, and succeeded totally, so ending the British domination of that area. President Talbot said, "If England plays ball with us, we'll play ball with her. Of course, nobody knows when we're going to drop the ball....." and in this way left the possibility of an English-French Pact open.

TURKEY CONQUERS SERBIA.....(RANS) The Right Reverend Chancellor Don said in Constantinople that Turkey had moved to crush Serbia, and so shifted the entire weight of her forces into the North.

ITALY OCCUPIES TRIESTE.....(RANS) Prime Minister Woolsey said in Rome that because of building pressures in the North, and mostly because of the military standoff in Trieste, he had ordered Italy to spare nothing in taking over Trieste, and it was taken without any major battles, since the Austro-Hungarian Fleet had fled to Albania.

RUSSIA DEFEATS TURKISH FLEET.....(RANS)-(INB) Admiral Eulenburg and his Third Imperial Fleet defeated a Turkish Fleet in the Black sea, and so pushed the Turks back to Ankara. What appears to be happening is a major Russian offensive against Turkey.

RUSSIANS VICTORIOUS

Constantinople Taken

(RANS)-(INB) In a surprise sweeping sea and land effort Admiral Eulenburg and the Imperial Third Fleet ambushed the Turkish city of Constantinople and were victorious all around the city. Eulenburg and his fleet swept in from the Black Sea and sailed right into the Golden Horn. There they shelled the city of Constantinople, and soon Russian infantry was landing all around the suburbs. Within hours the city had fallen and the Turkish forces were in full retreat. The Turkish Army had previously fled to Smyrna for unknown reasons. The Right Reverend Chancellor Don had been evacuated from the Chancery just minutes before the Russian Dragoons began raiding the building. After the victory Admiral Eulenburg and his Vice Seamarshall Tutelev met at the Church of St. Sophia, and announced that it would be returned into Christian hands. Emperor Alexei XIII sent his congratulations from St. Petersburg, and announced that he would be there within several weeks to accept the city's surrender. On other fronts the Russians occupied Armenia, so surrounding Turkish Sea Forces, and moved into occupation of the Norwegian Sea. All in all, it was a great day for the Holy Russian Empire.

ITALIANS MEET DEFEAT ON TWO FRONTS; VICTORY ON ONE.....(RANS) Prime Minister Woolsey today made a statement saying that "Italy has met one of the most crushing defeats in her history. We have been defeated in Greece, and so forced back to Apulia, as well as the fact that we have been defeated by the Austro-Hungarians in Trieste, and so pushed back to Venice." He went on to say that "hard times" lay before the Italian people, even though they had been victorious in Tunis.

FRANCE CONQUERS BELGIUM.....(RANS) The only real neutral power in Europe, with the exception of Switzerland, has been conquered. The English, the Germans, and the French all aimed attacks at the innocent country of Belgium, but now the New Guard won through. With the support of the First Libertine Fleet and the Republican Defense Army the French whipped the Germans and the English. President Talbot called it a "great victory".

(RANS) ALLIANCES SEEM IMMINENT.....(RANS) It became apparent today that the alliance pictorial would be broadened very soon. Alexei XIII and Reichsmarshall Love met in Selisia and signed a treaty of alliance and mutual friendship. Prime Minister Woolsey signed a pact with Russia in Rome while Alexei also signed it in Selisia. Prime Minister Woolsey announced that he was happy at the situation. President Talbot is now considering an offer from England for a similar alliance against Germany and the New Order.

FRANCE, ENGLAND SHAFTED!!!

(NOCS)-(RANS) Reichsmarshall Love announced in Berlin that Germany had moved in a decisive act, throwing the armies and navies of her enemies back in utter rout. German fleets from Helgoland rushed into the North Sea, and with support from the Russians in the North and the German Fleet in Denmark, the English were swept off the seas and back into Edinburgh. Love announced, "We shall demolish the piglike Englishmen, and I will stand in Buckingham Palace, with Prime Minister Mazouch serving me as a slave!" Germany also destroyed the French Army which had just lately run over Belgium. German forces marched into Brussels and raised the flag of the New Order over that nation.

RUSSIANS CAPTURE BULGARIA & ANKARA (INB)-(RANS) Admiral Eulenburg and his naval forces moved into Bulgaria in an effort to avoid certain defeat at the hands of the overpowering Turkish forces in that area. They left Constantinople to the attacking Turkish Fleet from Ankara. However, as soon as the Turks pulled out of Ankara Vice Seamarshall Tutelev and Baron Potzelski guided the Russian Armies to victory. Tutelev attacked from Sevastapol with the Fifth Imperial Fleet and took the Black Sea. Potzelski and his Russian Army attacked from the East in Ankara after the Turks had evacuated.

ALEXEI READS DEFINANCE TO THE WORLD (INB)-(RANS) In Sevastapol Emperor Alexei read his proclamation, which was also read in Oslo and Rumania at the same time. It stated that "Russia is tired of being a scattered and confused power. The force Russia has obtained in recent campaigns is going to be brought to bear on Russia's main challenge to supremacy in the North --England!" Alexei went on to write, "our fine and upstanding allies, the Noble Germans, will help us in crushing the disgusting English!"

ITALY MOVES FOR REVENGE; AIMS AT FRANCE (RANS) Prime Minister Woolsey said in Rome that the reason Italy was moving towards Greece was to acquire "revenge for Turkish atrocities there." He also said that because of France's actions against Piedmont, he was moving a fleet towards the port of Marseilles... "just to keep old Talbot in check."

WEST COVINA DIPLOMACY GAME NUMBER ONE SERIES ONE FALL, 1903

RUSSIANS ROUTED

(INB)-(RANS) The Russian Steamroller ground to a halt in Southeastern Europe and Asia Minor as the Turks, with the aid of Austria-Hungary, struck back with unbelievable force to send the Russians fleeing in all directions. The Turkish attack on the Russian flanks in Ankara and Bulgaria resulted in the dislodging of the Russian forces from those areas. Admiral Eulenburg and his fleets failed to retake Constantinople in what was to become the greatest Russian failure of the war. After receiving the news that both Bulgaria and Ankara had fallen to the Turks Admiral Eulenburg sadly killed himself. He walked over the side of the ship with a Russian Flag wrapped around his body. The Right Reverend Chancellor Don was overjoyed at the news, and Turkish Soldiers danced in the streets of provinces which had been occupied by the enemy for months. Emperor Alexei was grim at the report, and pledged that all war efforts in the North would cease until the "gadfly of Turkey" is crushed. He ordered a new staff for the Southern front to replace Eulenburg, and made Tutelev, once a Vice Seamarshall, the High Admiral of the Southern Forces. Although the Russians invaded Denmark at the news of the German collapse, they still have only enough supply centers for the continuance of their present strength. "When I am in Berlin and Kiel in the Spring," said Alexei, "then look for me to march on Turkey. They will return to the dust from whence they came!" The outlook for the Southeastern Front of the war is dim, with a long hard struggle developing there between Austria-Hungary and Turkey on one hand, and Russia and Italy on the other.

GERMANY COLLAPSES

(NOCS)-(RANS) Head of the Provisional Democratic German Government, Corporal Adolph Sicklegruber, announced today in Berlin the immediate suing for peace by the German People. All armies and navies will put no resistance to aggressing forces. "This is due to the large scale civil disorder and chaos in the Fatherland. We have no present facilities for coping with the problems inherent in prosecuting a war and quelling civil disorder." Corporal Sicklegruber went on to explain that, "This is all necessary because of the fact that Reichsmarshall Love has secured into his own personal possession the entire contents of the New Order's Federal Treasury. He is now residing in Neutral Switzerland, and we have no plans to press charges. He has a heavy enough burden to bear as it is."

APPENDIX: From his garden Villa overlooking the Swiss Alps, Love issued the following communique to the people of Germany and the world, "Germany is a nice place to visit, but I wouldn't want to live there. With the multi-millions which I borrowed from the German People I will pursue my long time dream, financing the Jim Hertenstein got West Covina City Council campaign. My last word to the people of Germany is, 'Gotcha!!!'".

ENGLAND RETAKES THE NORTH SEA.....(RANS) While German Forces crumbled, the English Navy swept the North Sea clear of foreigners. Russian Fleets from Norway and the Norwegian Sea were not enough to stop the joint Franco-English effort. With this move the pressure on England was eased. For a while it seemed as if the sun had set on the British Empire, not so now.

FRANCE REGAINS BELGIUM.....(RANS) In another of the "hot potato" actions involving Belgium, the French Forces swept the vacillating German Armies from the field as the Strength of France was saved. Had France not regained Belgium, a valuable supply center would have had to be lost, and one of her forces dismantled. It was generally agreed that the Fleet in the Mis-Atlantic was the one open for moth-balling, but it appears now as if that fleet will stay in action.

ITALY CONQUERS ALBANIA, TRIES FOR MARSEILLES.....(RANS) The Italian armed forces were active as they led a two-front movement. The Italian Fleet from the Gulf of Lyon made a mad dash towards Marseilles, but was stopped by French Armies which were luckily returning from the battle in Piedmont. However, the Italians did have success in Albania, where one can see the alliance between Italy and Russian Forces working. Italy prepared herself for an attack against Greece, but the Turkish Forces still maintain a mute silence in the conversation.

ADMIRAL EULENBURG BURIED IN MOSCOW.....(INB)-(RANS) The Holy Russian Empire saluted its greatest sailor of all time here as Admiral Eulenburg was buried. It was he who led the striking attack of Rumania in 1901, and it was he who defeated the overpowering Turks on the Black Sea in 1902. Later that year he led the Russians to the occupation of Constantinople, and then at the peak of his brilliance he evacuated Constantinople, only to conquer Ankara and Bulgaria. Emperor Alexei attended the funeral, the largest since the death of Alexei XII's. Karl Strohiem delivered the eulogy, calling him a "glorious martyr to the Russian Cause. May we all remember his dedication, his brilliance, and his overpowering love for Emperor, Empire, and Honor....these the cornerstones of the Russian Officer, immaculate in the face of a cruel world."

GERMANY FALLS

Berlin, Kiel, Munich, Holland, Taken by French, Russians

(RANS) Russia and France invaded Germany in a decisive manner as the Fatherland crumbled. Russian forces occupied Denmark in the Fall, and this Spring went on to march into Kiel and Berlin. The flag of the Holy Russian Empire was raised over the German capital as Alexei XIII exclaimed as he arrived in Berlin for the surrender of the city, "Never have I seen such a beautiful sight! This is what Russia shall do to her enemies. I swear that as I stand in the German capital, so shall I stand one day in Vienna and Constantinople. Nothing can stop the Russian Steamroller!" On the other hand, President Talbot entered Holland amid a shower of flowers as the Dutch greeted him and called him "Saviour" in the face of their long occupation by the Germans. Talbot noted that England was next in line. "France will go on to greater victories!" he later stated.

TURKISH ATTACKS FAIL....(RANS) Turkish forces made a mad effort to eliminate the Russian stronghold in Rumania before Russia could raise more forces in the European interior. However, co-operation between the Italians and the Russians led to the Italian conquest of Greece and attack of Serbia, which cut the amount of force the Turks and Austri-Hungarians could throw against the Russians. Alexei and Woolsey are confident of holding the two powers off until more armies can be raised and more fleets can be built.

AUSTRIA-HUNGARY & FRANCE ATTACK VENICE....(RANS) The Austro-Hungarians and the French tried to gang up on the Italians in Venice, but quick naval action by the Italians in the Gulf of Lyon still held the French away from the battlefield. Italians everywhere were jubilant at the news.

ENGLISH VICTORIOUS.....(RANS) The French attempted to invade London as the hour of judgement came for the British People. Prime Minister Mazouch was there himself as the French started landing, but action by the English Armies from Yorkshire destroyed the French as they landed and hurled them back to the English Channel.

TURKEY CRUSHED

Russians Victorious!

(INB)-(RANS) In one of the strangest and most earth-shattering campaigns in history Russia overwhelmed Turkey and occupied the provinces of Smyrna and Bulgaria. The Right Reverend Chancellor Don exposed the scandal that led to Turkey's defeat in an International Press Conference in Constantinople. He said that the orders were ready to be issued, and he felt that they would have stopped the Russian Attack, but they were never given out. Chancellor Don said that he also held the Imperial Orders for Austria's Armies and Navy, but that communication inadequacies kept the orders from ever getting to the troops. Chancellor Don described the condition as "One where we lost contact of our troops, and because of that one entire army has been wiped out. He said that "Heads will roll" when his investigation of the matter starts. On the other hand, Emperor Alexei XIII called the action "A true stroke of military genius!" The Russian Forces under High Admiral Tutelev crushed Bulgaria while Baron Potzelski and his army readily occupied Smyrna. Alexei said that "this is a great military triumph, but our beloved Eulenburg shall only be avenged when Russian Forces are in the City of Constantinople, and burn it to the ground!"

THE ENGLISH TAKE BELGIUM.....(RANS) While France looked towards the giant in the East, Russia, for trouble, and got it, England invaded Belgium and took it. The Fleet in the North Sea began shelling the Belgian Coast and soon the English were landing. The English Fleet from Edinburgh moved in to occupy the North Sea as the original fleet took Belgium. England has launched four major invasions of the continent, but this was the first one to succeed. The first two were against Germany, and now the fourth one is against France, and has resulted in victory.

FRANCE LOSES MUNICH.....(RANS) No sooner had the French Armies moved into Munich than the Russians broke over them from the North. Marching from the German Capital, Grand Duke Ivan (recently promoted) overwhelmed the French and sent them fleeing back to Burgundy. This leaves Russian Forces in total control of what was once Germany.

CONSTANTINOPLE SACKED

(INB)--(RANS) The Russian movement to avenge the death of Admiral Eulenburg has at last succeeded. High Admiral Tutelev struck Constantinople in the same way in which Admiral Eulenburg did and took the city by storm. It came as a complete surprise, and for the second time in the war Russian Dragoons mounted the steps of the Turkish Chancery and captured its officials. Once again, however, Chancellor Don escaped to the Aegean. Emperor Alexei departed from Sevastapol and landed in Constantinople, the first Russian Emperor to do so. He mounted a hill outside the city and ordered it burnt while he watched. The citizens were sent fleeing to the last Turkish outpost in Asia Minor, Ankara, while the city caught fire. After the fire was over, the city was worked over with dynamite. Alexei ordered the city then plowed under and sown with grass. He saved the Santa Sophia monument, but ordered another monument built overlooking the Golden Horn, to later be the tomb of Eulenburg. He then went to the Rumanian Frontier, where he looked over the border at the forces of Austria-Hungary. "My next stop is Budapest!" he exclaimed, and indeed, none seems to doubt him. Once more the Russian Steamroller flattened her enemies, and the outlook for all anti-Russian countries in Europe is dim.

ENGLISH TAKE HOLLAND (RANS).....In one of the best planned actions of the war, the British trapped the French in Holland, and killed them to the man. The French Army was surrounded by Russian Armies in the East and South, with the British attacking from the north and West. President Talbot said that the likelihood of stopping the onslaught was, "quite negligent."

ITALIANS CAPTURE TRIESTE (RANS).....The Italians finally got moving as they rolled over Austria-Hungary and sent her fleet fleeing into the Adriatic. "With Russia," declared Prime Minister Woolsey, "we shall split the Empire of Austria-Hungary. When we are in Vienna, the Russians will be in Budapest!"

Russians Celebrate!

(INB)-(RANS) Within the last years (since the last issue of ATTENTION!) the Russians have rushed forward to more and more stunning victories. In the Fall of 1905 they plunged down into Austria-Hungary, and by this Spring they were in full control of the province and city of Vienna. Alexei (as he had previously predicted) went to Vienna and saw the city burnt to the ground. He then said that he would build the city of "New Moscow" on the sight of the old town. Grand Duke Greeley was caught by Russian Forces, since he utterly refused to leave the city, and was executed by Russian Dragoons at the order of Baron Potzelski, recently transported to this front after the defeat of the turks. Russian victories in Asia Minor were complete as the Turks were killed to the man in Ankara. The Turkish Fleet in the Aegean ran out of fuel and crashed on the shores of Turkey rather than surrender. Russian Fleets under High Admiral Franz invaded the Atlantic last Fall, and are now in control of the French port and Province of Brest. England made vain attacks on Russian Holdings in Germany, and was repulsed. Russian Fleets also continued their action in surrounding England by taking the North Sea away from the French after stiff English resistance. This Spring alone the Russians defeated an Austro-Hungarian Army near Vienna and killed them to the last man. Alexei XIII stated in Vienna as he addressed his troops, "I am now firmly convinced that victory is in sight. Our forces threaten all sections of Europe. As far North as England, as far South as Syria, as far East as Armenia, and as far West as Portugal, the Russian threat is real and powerful. I am pleased to say that after five long years of war, the Holy Russian Empire nears the final Victory!"

West Covina Diplomacy Game Number One Series One Fall of 1906

(INB)-(RANS) The balance of power in Europe was at last tipped as Russia rushed onward to her final and crushing victories. Russia attacked Greece and held it against little resistance. Russian Fleets under High Admiral Franz defeated the British and occupied Edinburgh. Russian Armies under direction by Baron Potzelski surrounded the remaining Austro-Hungarian Armies in Budapest and wiped them off the map. This gave the Russians a total of twenty supply centers, making it more powerful than all of the remaining powers combined. Emperor Alexei XIII, Master of Asia and Overlord of Europe spoke to a crowd of two million in Moscow. He told them that at last, after six years of brutal and cruel warfare Russia had overcome her enemies. He stated that "now we can look forward to a newer and brighter era of human accomplishment. Under the guiding influence of the Russian Way of Life we can reform Europe into a cohesive and orderly society. The Russian Religion can help cure a morally sick continent. Our economic system can rebuild the war shattered economies of Europe. Today we can rebuild Europe, since we have conquered it. In the future I am positive that Russia can go on to conquer and rebuild the world. Under my rule, man will enter the true "Golden Age" of his accomplishments." So, the war in Europe comes to a close. Russia outwitted and outdid the other powers in Europe. She played them against each other, and so confounded their usefulness. She picked on one nation at a time, and so concentrated her powers. When Russia grew so powerful that she was about to sweep Europe, the other Great Powers refused to unite and fight a common foe. In this way, Russia won the day.
