SEASON'S GREETINGS FROM BORIS AND MS NAR!!

We'd like to take this special opportunity to wish all you Borisers out there a Happy Holiday and a fruitful New Year. And if you're looking for a New Years' Resolution, how about "I will mail my orders in early!"

BORIS VI is still out to sea, it seems, but we'll start it for sure next time. If Drew isn't ashore by next issue, we'll randomly choose from any who volunteer to fill his slot. Simply send us your country preference list and you'll be considered.

We had several entries in the "Name the Variant" contest. None of them felt right, although Jim Bliss's entries triggered the final name, so he gets one free issue for the near miss. The entries were: Aberrant Empires, Bound for Glory, Coal Car Loaded, Deviant Tycoons, Load Sixteen Tons, Loaded Coalier, and Spider Coal. I was initially looking for something like "Coal is King" to match the other "___ is ___" names, but, ...well turn to page 6 to find out.

We only had two positive responses to the call for GUNSLINGER players. Showdown #14, The Poker Game was suggested. Second call!

There was enough interest in a STELLAR CONQUEST game to discuss it further. I've got the AH version, not the earlier Metagaming edition. Anyway, what I had in mind was a "blind" game where the players would only know their starting corners and that at least one other player was in the game. This would preclude the publication of game reports here in BORIS, but that could be handled by personal "inserts" into each issue. Or postcards could be used fortnightly. Those of you who are interested, please comment.

We've extended the deadline again this time for several reasons. First, there's a minimum chance we'll be out of town for the normal deadline. Second, snail mail is especially slow this time of year, so that will make up for that a bit. Third, who'd want me to put this thing together while under a hangover?

Speaking of the Post Office, one of the reasons this is being published as late as it is, is that the USPS is only letting .500 on their two-day "guaranteed" delivery. New Haven got one here on time, but Black Mountain took four days.

BORIS'S BBS

THOUGHT FOR THE SEASON: Moneo ut quis quem vicent occidet. --Gladiators' Code

Only Paul Zieske ventured an answer to the Spaceman Spiff problem, and he got it right. The answer was 89.0%. Good work!

Yes, Jim. GODSFIRE from Task Force games, copyright 1985. I read the rules about 1980 and got Paul Sanders's copy a couple of years ago. Haven't reread it yet. Still have ASL to reread.

BOOS & KUDOS

Especial thanks to Don Chinnery for the new maps for 1835 and the variant. Perhaps I'll use them next issue.

This month's Madame Bolduc Press Excellence Award goes to the Celestial Flapjack for his article datelined Rome in BORIS V.

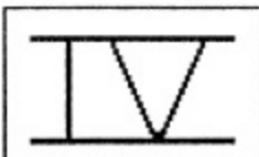

This month's Ms Nar Super-Sudsby Bomb goes to Mike Anchors for negligence and Saunders for delay of game.

DEADLINE FOR ALL GAMES IS NOON (CST) 9 JAN 93

BRITS, FRENCH AT WAR!! ISLAM RESURGENT!

FALL 1904

CLIFFHOME--While the French destruction of ENG A HOL may be quid pro quo for last season's annihilation of FRE A HOL, the British annexation of Normandy and Britanny cannot mean anything short of total war between the two Western Powers. Sure to benefit are Lord Devon and the Kaiser, which means Lord One-Eyed should emerge the victor--and perhaps supreme European Warlord. Meanwhile Wormington has lost a center due to some Tsarist clerks mistranscription of the Tsar's intent. A retreat of TUR F ION to APU would surely give Lord Devon fits and aid a surrounded France. Can the Six cooperate enough to stop Lord One-Eyed? Don't count on it. Maybe Three...

TROOP MOVEMENTS

EMBASSY BEAT

BUDAPEST--The government today issued an official apology to the Italian government for the 1st Fleet's unwarranted incursion into GRE. They pledged the full support of Austrian military power in whatever endeavor the King should choose in the future. At least the isles are nice.

CLASSIFIED 3

J.P. to P.S.: The Russian's not just confused, he's been sleeping all game.

I swallowed my gum. (Juicy Fruit)

Do you know why oysters don't like to give up their pearls? It's because they're shellfish.

Q. What do you do with a teenage ensign? What do you do with a teenage ensign? What do you do with a teenage ensign? Earlie in the morning?

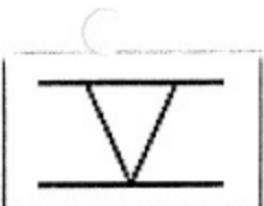

A. Beam him into space with wide dispersal. Beam him into space with wide dispersal. Beam him into space with wide dispersal. Earlie in the morning!

GERMANY OUT!

TURKS HANG ON!

FALL 1904

Murkwood--Kaiser Rolle's force did not survive the harsh Bohemian winter nor did half of the Sultan's. Both England and Russia appear to be set on destroying the now-minor Great Powers before squaring off for the main event. Only France and perhaps Austria have the strength to survive an extended onslaught and any defense will fall squarely on their shoulders. The longer they hold out, the more likely a confrontation between the Bear and Lion will break out with odds to be snatched by devoted puppets, er, allies. But beware of the Flapjackal! The jaws that bite and the claws that catch!

EMBASSY BEAT

BUDAPEST--Austria sends its condolences to the former Government of Turkey for being so lousy a neighbor as to precipitate its own demise at the hands of Russia.

LONDON--The coast of Europe is free from the French and German invaders. It's now time to take the Med back from the French and support Italian freedom fighters. It's open season on Frogs!

ROME--The Italian PM was exhausted after another long day of deciding which size sheet Italian parking tickets should be written on. The war wasn't going any better either. Flapper McBytes harbored a deep resentment against his bumbling onefish predecessor Bwad "the incontinent" Wilson. Then he remembered his shoes and the Genie of the Shoes.

Rubbing furiously for 15 minutes he was unable to make the Genie of the Shoes reappear. Then he remembered the Genie only appeared on Internet. Finding an unused terminal the Flapped One called up the Genie.

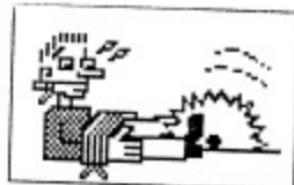

"What do you want?" asked Genie Paul irritably. "When I want you I'll call."

"I need some help here," whined the Flapper.

Hmmmm. The house rules don't cover an NMR at the Triannual IPfest. OK, so add this to your copy of the House Rules at the end of Rule 8:

If a player does not send in orders for the IP interphase:

- a) The GM will issue the delinquent player two cards.
- b) The GM will discard the lowest numbered card(s) from a delinquent overfull hand.

MAGIC REALM SPIDERS SLAUGHTERED!

BUSHYTAIL FINDS BASHKARS!

The Cast

John Butta: "Moondoggie" the Sorcerer (Bushytail, Misty)
Scott Cameron: "Wulf Ironhelm" the Berserker
Don Chinnery: "Scitch" the Witch King (Ribbit Chitter)
Dan Farrow: "Woolly" the optional Wizard
Richard Price: "Sir Jordan" the White Knight
Jack Shackleford: "Fang Gulfwulf" the Berserker
Michael Tsuk: "Capt Avalon" the optional Captain

COMMENT: This turn was fraught with Rules interpretations. One of Woolly's conditional moves was to "hitchhike" on Scitch's pop of a PURPLE. Nope. Under the 1st Edition Rules a player was allowed to activate another player's permanent spell, but not the 2nd. Rule 41.2f4, Sentence 3 says that the spellcaster can only use his/her/its own color chits. Further Rule 41.2f4a states that a color chit can only supply one spell with color.

Then there was the problem of Scitch's "Absorb Essence". Does he become the monster or does he suck it into himself and thus assume his maneuver. Now, clearly the absorbed monster cannot attack the T. Spider since Scitch didn't have his attention chit there nor was the H. Spider initially attacking the T. Spider. Then too, 41.6f1 prohibits a player who succeeded in casting a spell from playing a weapon or a FIGHT chit in the Melee Phase. What would that T6 be but the H. Spider's inherent FIGHT chit? Since Scitch didn't play a maneuver, under the second interpretation, the T. Spider would automatically hit and Scitch/Silky would have to take it (and soon die). Under the second, no harm can befall Scitch/Silky until Round 2. I went with that.

The worst was a belated appeal to revoke Capt A's "horse stealing" privileges. As you recall, Capt A's toadies, the Patrol, looted the late Rogues' abandoned treasure pile for three horses and a treasure card, but he was prevented from further looting by being blocked by Wulf, Roger, and Raoul. Now had there been orders written to transfer the booty during Daylight, then it would've happened. But they weren't, so Capt A had to do it in the Evening. Wulf proved belligerent (and why not? Capt A and toadies wiped out his Friends) or Capt A was greedy (and why not? It was his neck on the line). So after the first round of combat, I allowed Capt A to run away with the goodies. Wulf has protested (belatedly), and Capt A himself is unsure of the transfer, but neither gave me chapter and verse to overrule the decision. I have found only four pertinent rules: 14.2 which prohibits characters from trading while monsters are in their clearing; 14.4 implies while that trading is generally done in Evening, it can be done in Daylight; 22.9f3 which allows trading after combat ends; and 32.2f2 states that hired leaders trade like characters. There were no monsters in the clearing, but a combat situation is implied; on the other hand, I don't see where it is expressly forbidden. So until someone proves otherwise, or Capt A defers, he keeps the three horses (as recorded in BORIS #6). He'll keep one in any case, since last turn's move required one.

We evidently erred, but did no harm, last time when we allowed Woolly to sneak in that S. Rules 28.4 and 28.5 state that he was blocked when the monsters appeared. Too bad, he would've discovered the Lair this time.

EVENING 7

Capt Avalon traded for the broadsword but rolled 6,2 = No Deal.

Meester Baal = 5

Robin lures Imp. Sir Jordan alerts sword and Wulf plays MOVE H6 to run away towards BY2. Imp curses 2 and charges while Robin thrusts L1 and charges 4 and Sir J swings H6. Alas! Robin's arrow is glancing (5,4).

The Imp attacks again, this time swinging M4 and dodging 3, but is slain by Robin's second shaft, thrusting L1 (3,1). Sir Jordan earns 2F and 1H.

Scitch lures one H. Spider and the T. Spider. Woolly lures the other H. Spider. Scitch casts "Absorb Essence" on the H. Spider (smash T6/duck 4) from the Thrust box. The T. Spider thrusts M4/charges 3. Woolly swings ax M5 at his spider while dodging M4*. The spider smashes T6 and ducks 4.

Scitch/Silky smashes T6 and ducks 4. The T. Spider again thrusts M4, charges 3. Woolly again swings M5 while dodging M4* and so slays the H. Spider which was trying to swing T6 and dodge 4. Woolly earns 3F and 3H

THE HUNT

MARTIN & J. FISHER
TAKE LEAD!

Inspired by Lipton's book, "An Exaltation of Larks", this is a word game where we propose a noun and the players are asked to propose a collective noun to fit, such as "flock" for "sheep", or "pride" for lions. Boris and Ms Nar will rank each entry for each word and the best score will be the winner, regardless of Mr. Lipton's proclamations. Each word gives a possible 1 point, but the point may be split if either more than one player suggests it or two or more words are ranked equally. The first player to score 10 points wins six free issues of this rag. The Hunt is run in "Chases" or rounds. This is the first Chase, so everyone is starting out even. To the Hunt!

CHASE 1

Score this time: Jason Fisher 3, Dick Martin 3, Scott Cameron 2, Dan Farrow 1, Wayne Morrison 0.

LEGEND: B = Boris's suggestion, L = Lipton's suggestion, N = Ms Nar's suggestion, * = winner, + = duplicate suggestions, + = tie for first, / = B/L/N suggested it too

COMMENTS:

Dick Martin: I used the "word association" method to come up with these....

Dan Farrow (having spelled it "dollup" initially): OK, so spelling isn't my long suit! Dollup it is. (Actually, you know what I say about grits. Get them the "L" off my plate. In this case, I left the "L" off of my dollup!)

CHASE #2:

1. grits	2. bracelets	3. pillows	4. forests	5. coffee
6. starships	7. soldiers	8. reindeer	9. bouquets	10. paper

"I'm a Genie not a miracle maker," said the Genie as he carefully continued to work on his latest anti-Saddam bomb. This one blew up as soon as it detected any megalomania.

"Aw c'mon, I was a standby now how about throwing me some dots."

Laughing like a hyena the Genie said, "You don't really expect to survive do you?"

"Why not? Your players aren't so hot. I never even heard of them."

"Look, be a good boy and you might survive. If you annoy the other players they'll kill you. Haven't you learned anything yet?"

"Humpf!" said the Flapper, who was growing more defiant. "I might kill them, you never know. Maybe I'll win."

The meter on the Genie's bomb suddenly started to tick wildly. "Oh no," said the Genie in panic. "Please don't tell me you can win, if you do..."

"And why not?" said the outraged Italian leader, "I'm a great player I could win." At that moment the Flapped one heard an explosion and the line went dead. "He'll pay for this," said the Flapper of the Genie but the Genie already had paid in full.

VIENNA--In answer to a surprise request for aid, Austria announced it would send its armies to help defend Italy from the anticipated French invasion.

SCOTT'S WORLD PRESS REVIEW

Moscow Minute--Czar Smiley was shocked by the sudden rush of his daughter to the Royal Cossack Hospital earlier today. The princess had been engaged in playing the new game, football, when another player stepped on her foot just as the princess was passing the ball to one of the strikers. Although the doctors predict the princess will have to have a cast for three fractures in her ankle, no surgery is contemplated. A cast will soon placed on her leg. The princess said "The suffering does not compare to our brave soldiers and seamen defending Mother Russia." The Czar has ruled out Siberia for the offending player although it was considered momentarily.
