PRESS FOR AR74-1

BRUSSELS, FALL 1901/ The Kings Royal Sapiers Patrol of United Truth Searches, also known as the Brussels SPROUTS (oh the pain of it all and even without a French-German accent) today

*For those of you who have claimed I can't spell, I give you the officially 100% certifiably approved version.

greeted the first companies of German Empire Troops as they arrived in the city. Reports of French build-ups on the Belgian border have proved exaggerated but the people of the city are much relieved to see the troops entering the city (much relieved of their wine, their money and of course their daughters that is.) "Well," said the mayor, "At least the young men are safe which is much better off than we would have been if the French had gotten here first!"

A twenty-one gun salute was today ordered for the Danish ambassador to Berlin. When the salute was fired, however, it was found that their aim was a bit low and the next ambassador is advised to purchase a bullet-proof cummerbund before making the trip to pick up the body of the former ambassador.

ANOTHER GERMAN POLICY STATEMENT/ The Kaiser (recently back from his speech therapist, though he still hasn't learned to type (OR SPELL!)) spoke again on the quality of the new zone ALTERNATE REALITY. "Vat vee haf heir ic vun uf zee greatest zones in zee vurld und vee don kar hu noz it. Zees dunkofs hu maik fun uf zee vey vee sprechen must gehen ober vee vill find out about zeer family in zee faterlant!! Ver-stehen Barnes?" (And now do we get to see the other guys moves--and I mean before the deadline this time??) ((only if you can get here yesterday.))

MUNICH TO SWITZERLAND/(Barnes is in Switzerland isn't it?) Where do you want the TV set delivered? ((HUH??))

PARIS/ Premeir Wilbert Geiger looked dismayed over the situation in Germany. "Obviously they're on the verge of civil war. It shan't be long before the forces of the vonLager-son and Peergarden Empires are at each other's throats. What shall we do?"

The Premeir's advisors advised him not to get involved and to maintain France's neutrality with Germany which already was six months old. But the premeir thought elsewhere. "No it is too painful for me to see a neighboring country in such agony. We must intervene!"

"But on which side?" asked an advisor.

"On the Peergarden side, of course; ((hey you guys don't use semicolons or colons this typewriter doesn't have either of them. But if you want to type in spanish it's fine with me, and the typewriter.)) did you hear what that Kaiser vonLager-son called us? 'A nation of grape stompers' indeed!" said another.

"No, no, no, you oafs. We must...buzz...hmmf"
"Yeah, what a great idea, Nibb."
