Butter Battles

(A flyer cum subzine devoted to the play of 85A.)

The address is still 3702 Tarragona Lane, Austin TX 78727 though it looks like we'll be moving out to the Bay area (probably SF or Palo Alto) sometime next Spring.

I will not start a new game BEFORE we move, but please drop me a line if you are interested. No game fee and four-week deadlines. New game would NOT have per-NMR NMR deposits, and I'd make a few other simplifications in the HRs.

I've cooked up a variant (of mark lew's "deviant dip" variant) which I'll also offer openings in if I do decide to continue GMing. So here are the rules for... "Radical Dip":

- 1) Before S01 and every spring or fall, each player may propose a variant rule.
- 2) Every spring or fall each player votes for one or two of the rules proposed last time.
- 4) The rule getting the most votes goes into effect immediately. In case of a tie they all pass (in randomly determined order). Each player's votes are weighted according to the number of supply centers they own.
- 5) Victory criterion is a majority of centers.

The only substantive change between "deviant" and "Radical" is underlined above. As in Lew's game, GMing will be highly subjective... no, interpretive is a more accurate word.

GAME NOTES:

- Deadline is Friday, December 13th for Summer/Fall 1905.
- Tom Boyd did not submit orders. Paul Milewski did and is the new TURKEY. Thank you Paul!

- The ENGLAND/RUSSIA draw and the concession to RUSSIA both failed. ENGLAND, FRANCE, RUSSIA, and TURKEY all vetoed both proposals by not voting. There is a new proposal: please vote on an ITALY/RUSSIA draw.
- The Russian LIV-EDI order is impossible because the unit is in the wrong LIV. Qute, eh?
- NMRing player(s) are reminded that they need to send new $5.00 NMR deposits with orders to continue play. The NMR prize pool is now $25.00. (Paul, the deposits/pool apply to original players only.)
- Seems to me the NMR pool is getting pretty big. How about we donate any excess over $20.00 to "hobby services." Please send me your thoughts on that with your orders. (If I don't hear from you I'll assume you don't care!)
- Standbys: J. Early(ENGLAND), M. Fleming, Givan, Kohn(RUSSIA), S. Langley(FRANCE), and Luedi(GM). Holler if you want on or off the list. Thank you all!

IMPEERIALIST MARGINS

IMPEERIALIST MARGINS was the journal of FRANCE in 1985 A, the game carried in BUTTER BATTLES, gamesmastered by Conrad Minshall and published by Greg Ellis. It was published by Larry Peery, Box 8416, San Diego, CA 92102.....

A FINI

For the last time I send you all greetings. Depending on whether you get a copy of BUTTER BATTLES or this mailing first you will know that I have quit this game.

It was an extremely tough decision to do so because, unlike most game resignations this one is not prompted by any action on the part of the publisher, the gamesmaster, or another player. Nor is it prompted by the fact that England, bless his heart, stabbed me last season. No, all the players, the gamesmaster, and the publisher and, and I hope will continue to be my friends.

So why quit? For a typically Peeriesque reason, to make a point. This game is not turning out to be what I expected. What I expected was a postal DIPLOMACY game run on fairly consistent terms. That is not what I have gotten.

Two things have upset me about this game to the point where I feel I have no recourse except to quit.

First, one player has used the telephone to such an extent that he has made this into a phone game. Unfortunately it is not a phone game that I entered. Nor is it a phone game among equals. Ron Spitzer, the Russian player, has used the phone from the beginning of this game to a far greater degree than all the other players combined. He has used it in his communications with the players magnificently. More importantly he has used it to us unfair advantage with the gamesmaster and/or publisher. For example, Ron knew the results of the last seasons moves nine days before I received the official results from the gamesmaster. I know he knew because he called me the night of the deadline (or the day thereafter) and told me the results (e.g. how England had stabbed me and taken Portugal). And then I waited nine days for the results from the gamesmaster. In the meantime I could do nothing because I wasn't sure Ron had told me the truth. In the meantime he had a nine day headstart on his Diplomacy. And no, I don't think it is my responsibility to call the gamesmaster to find out the results of the game.

So, while I could deal with a player using the phone to his advantage in negotiating with the other players, I could not and will not deal with a player using the phone to his benefit in dealing with the gamesmaster.

This is not the first time this has happened. The same thing happened in the Demo Game in DIPLOMACY WORDD where Edi Birsan (as Austria) used his telephone to great advantage in dealing with the other players.

Both Ron and Edi and have spent hundreds and hundreds of dollars on phone calls to the other players and the gamesmaster. I can't fight that. I won't attempt to.

I simply choose not to participate in such a game.

Ron knows this is how I feel. I told him so. Conrad knows it as well since I told it to him over the phone during PEERICON weekend. Greg is also aware of it. Now I want the rest of you to know it as well.

Page Two.

I do not wish to be involved in a game in which one player has an unfair advantage over the other players, regardless of whether it is legal or not according to the house rules. Nor do I wish to be involved in a game in which one player has information about the results of the game days and days prior to any of the other players---unless he chooses to make them privy to those results.

So, I am going.

I am not asking the BNC to declare this an irregular game. That would be insulting to Conrad and Greg. It would also ruin Ron's win, if it should happen. To me it isn't worth it.

However, I have specified that I do not wish to be considered as resigning from this game and that I do not want a replacement player for France. I want France placed in civil disorder. That may, I hope, give England and/or Germany, a chance to recoup a bit and, maybe, give Russia a run for his phone line.

If, for some reason, a replacement player is put in the game as France; then I will ask the BNC to declare this game irregular.

Let France die an unnatural death. As for me, I regret nothing.
