DIPLOMACY: by MOONLIGHT #5

Queen Elizabeth Issue

Games Master Eric Ozog, 1526 N. Lawler Ave
Chicago IL 60651 / Phone (312) 237-4650

Deadline for both games is:

Friday, March 7, 1980

For the first time in the history of both games, everyone got there orders in! (There was much rejoicing) Less work for me. Give me your phones so I can call you collect, in case your moves don't get in.

Note that because the German took Sweden in the Spring, but left it in the Fall, he gets ziltch. You must stay there to collect.

(Paris-Italy) Because of the large outcry of the Italian people, we are now rushing as fast as our grapevine will allow, toward the major centers to alleviate the problem of sour grapes. We are bringing our fabulous and famous champagne with which to celebrate.

(Paris-England) It seems that because an unforeseen earthquake in London that the fleets stationed there fell into the English Channel. But the aftershocks may well be more of a danger to those fleets, and we are only reminding Mon. Churchill of said situation, with all good intentions.

(Russia-Germany) As agreed in our phone conversation I am supporting you to St.Petersburgh. I know that Baltic Sea in anti-German move, but I do not totally trust you. If you did go to Norway, the fleet will move to Sweden. (Retreats, Builds, Removals, Spring 1903 is due)

The Deadline will be for Fall 1903 moves

(Washington) The United States is shocked by the belligerence of the English Muffins. Consequently, we will no longer send them Hershey bars and wrappers to litter the Skagerrak Sea.

(Paris) Psychologists in France have proven that those that are guiltiest, try to attribute their faults to others in yelling they are the guilty ones, especially in the press releases.

(Warsaw) A royal Emissary, known heretofore as the Pied Piper of Warsaw, was dispatched today, enroute to Munich and all points East. The Pied Piper carried on his back a sonorous switch in tactics, ignoring the conventional enticement to voluntary execution. Employing ultrasonic sound emitted by a high pitched pipe, this device is said to lure all sized rats out of their holes.

"Why, with just three shrill notes upon my pipe", ejected the piper, "I can move both mountains and mice!"

He remembered what his grandfather's cousin had told him. Back in 1376 as he marched into Silesia, he blew those three precious notes, and out of the houses the rats came tumbling. Great rats, small rats, lean rats, brawny rats, black rats, gray rats, tawny rats. /and rat rats/

This tooting European rat evictor knew a thing or two about ultrasonic emissions and pest expulsion, delivering a 96 decibel ear piercer that will drive the Munich rats and other vermin headlong into a watery grave, via burgundy and Gascony, of course. /Christ! I've got to have a drink after that one--EMO/

(London) /Blimey, not Steo/ The War Ministry has continued its round the clock meetings in closed session. The Ministry has expressed great confidence in the United Kingdom's ability to defend its shores. The consensus in London is that the closed sessions are in preparation of a campaign against the French territories. A brief release from the Ministry did reveal that British fleets will be used to assist the Germans against the anticipated French invasion of Belgium. As the Russians increase their pressure on Germany's East, the opportunist jingoists of France will seize upon Germany's lack of attention to the West. It may not happen this year, but knowing the typical French underhanded dealings, it is regarded as a future reality in London. /Now comes another torturous paragraph/ London has also extended an invitation to the Emperor of Austria to establish a headquarters for an exiled government, in Borneo. The government has advised the Emperor to leave his winter clothes and ski equipment /I'm gonna cry/ but to be certain to bring his bodyguards. An unnamed informant has stated to us, "He (the Emperor) should bring 'imself lots o' cork t' disguise 'imself. /I canna take it any more/ White meat is a delicacy there you know".

(Black Sea) The Russian Bear has written his final orders here, dealing with the hardship of writing orders to a specified coastline. "We shall show them how it is done, even if it means taking a center or two to do it!", /I'd say she's showing you/ torted the cigar puffing Tsar. This will teach her to miswrite her orders /orders you send her to copy/ and not allow mw to sneak into Constantinople.

(Russia-Austria) No! Dear! It was supposed to be: f adr-ven, a vie S a tri-tyo; which would have of course, expelled the Italian force in Tyrolia, broken up his force in the North, and taken in exchange, his supply center in the event he waltzed into yours. You muffed it, you know! Creap!

(Russia-Italy) The proverbial cat is out of the water-soaked bag!

(Moscow-Marseilles) Guarding!, or eyeing!

(Sevastopal) Fearing the buildup of Turkish forces in Ankara, which could, and might, move into Armenia, and threaten our lovely sand beaches, the Tsar ordered that those soldiers in petty coats be kidnapped and thrust in the oil-soaked beaches of Rumania. When asked why the beaches were oil-soaked, the Tsar replied, "Commonplace oil spills. Why do you ask?" /Hey Bernie-Boy, all this press is obsolete!/
I want to thank Greg nelson, Frank Steo, and Lind Beaumont for sending in the standby moves. I'm glad though, they weren't needed. If everyone is responsible and gets their orders in, so much the better.

Standbies for OZOG 1: Graig Crossley & Neil Lehto For W '02/S '03
Standbies for OZOG 2: Lee Kendter Jr & Randall Husk For F '03

I am curious of the range in ages af all the players. If everyone isn't bashful, I think this could be pretty interesting. I, Eric your games master am 18 years, which is pretty young for a player. I think the age groups are prominent around in the 20's. If a curve was plotted, you would find a stiff drop off in the teens, 30's, 40's and up. Give me your age with your next set of orders, and we'll see if I'm right.

Good-Bye till next month
