

Dippy

the Diplomacy (Allan Calhamer's game) Sunday supplement of the Western Star-Post-Free Press
Vol 1, No 15, May 5, 1973

First off, on behalf of the Great Western Publishing Co & Whaledore Corset Works, we'd like to give a great big wet kiss to all the nice people who have been giving Dippy nice plugs in their Diplomacy Zines. And we'd like to give a punch in the mouth to Tom Eng. Now, down to the business of Diplomating...

As previously announced, the DEADLINE for Spring, 1903 moves to 8 p.m. CDT Wednesday, May 16. If this causes ANYONE any undue hardship, please let me know and we'll extend the deadlines. Press:

There was great joy among the Italian soldiers today, as the English persuaded the French to allow Italian soldiers to spend their leaves in Marseilles. Said one corporal: "I like it so much, I may just stay!"

BERLIN--Kaiser Kincade announced today that the Russians were camped just outside of Berlin and ready to march.

However, it will be a question of which way the armies will march!! "Our German scientists have now developed mechanized pitchforks," he proclaimed.

DIPPY Game #2, the Bomber (named in honor of the 1972 TBA Champions):
1) von Metzke, 2) Evritt, 3) Klitzke, 4) Molnar, 5) McCloud, 6) Skaja,
7) Gross

As I see it, I need preference lists from Evritt, McCloud, and Gross. DEADLINE for preference lists is 8 p.m. CDT Wednesday, May 16. If we don't get your preference list, you get pot luck.
