Take Note: everyone is being charged a $1.00 for this issue to make up for a rather large loss last issue. Bill is trying to find a cheaper copier, and he was willing to take almost a $90.00 loss last issue. No way, not while I'm around. The BNC absorbs a lot of the cost, but I wonder how many people know just how much Bill donates on his own. He does more than his share for this hobby, and hopefully this issue we will be able to cut back our cost. So, the dollar is to offset last issue, and with any luck, we will be back to $.75 next issue.

As you will see by our financial statement, we are starting to go downhill, I ask that everyone please donate a $1.00 for a number. Dip Con has not gotten any money from MDG, and therefore, we have received nothing. We need donations, please help if you can.

I ask all of you to remember something else, if the problem you have with a GM, involves him not coming out or you want your game moved, then you should write directly to the Orphan Service, Dick and Scott are more than willing to help you. If the game involves irregularity or questionable GMing, than write directly to me. Everyone seems to be doing this in reverse. Dick, Scott and I are working very closely together, but we can help you a lot faster if you send your inquiries to the right Custodian. Not that we mind writing each other, this only helps you.

In this issue, you will also find a form which Dick Martin devised and named a "GM Helper". I am sure Bill will agree that this could be more appropriately called - "Our Biggest Helper". I urge all GM's to Xerox this form and start using it for your game stats! We would really appreciate it, and thanks to Dick for giving us a great form, it will definitely make our life easier.

The following list is an orphan game list, we need all the help we can get in finding these games, if you have any info, please contact me, or the Orphan Service. If you could spare us a little room, please reprint.

NOTES:

After seeing Dick Martin's "GM'S HELPER" I can only say "Why didn't I think of that!!" Must be too simple for an over educated person. In this game report form all pertinent game information can be kept on one page for easy updating, transfer to a new GM or zine, or copying. Please use it. For those of you who weren't confused by my "HOW TO WRITE A GAME REPORT" last issue you have a second chance. It's reprint follows. By using Dick's form and my directions a complete game finish report will result. One last request: Mr. GM PLEASE KEEP GOOD RECORDS!

One thing I've noticed since becoming publisher of E. is the wide variation of game finish reports. This lack of uniformity unduly complicates the job of the BNC and myself. It would be a great help if everyone would attempt to follow the form as it appears in EVERYTHING. This form was developed by DON DITTER and myself to make the reports more readable, computer adaptable and contain more complete information.

Basically the report has two parts: 1. The zine-GM-player section and 2. The supply center chart. Most errors and difficulties occur in the zine-GM-player section. A proper report should include the following information:

1. The game number - everyone does this. Please capitalize the letters because lower case letters designate variant games.
2. The zine and GM - everyone does this well.
3. Game date that either zine or GM changed - this should be the last game season that the game appeared in the zine or that the GM adjudicated moves
4. Repeat 2 and 3 for 2nd, 3rd, etc. zine or GM. Note that if the GM changes but the zine does not it is not necessary to restate the zine (see 1979R)
5. Player reports by country - usually AUSTRIA is reported first. The original player is listed then immediately afterward their result and the season the result occurred. The result should be one of the following:

win - if the player won the game. If by gaining 18 sc's then the date would be FXX (where XX= the game year) and not WXX since the rule book no longer requires building units as a victory condition.

If the win is by concession then the date is the season the vote occurred.

draw - The date is the season the vote took place sur - This abbreviation = survived or surrendered. The date is the season the game ended. Should be the same as the win or draw date.

out - This = elimination. This would be FXX (XX=game year last sc lost).

res - This = resigned. The date is the season of the player's last orders.

rem - This = removed from the game by the GM. The date is the season the GM announced the removal.

drop - This indicates the player exited the game because of repeated failure to send in moves (NMR). The date should be the season before the standby assumed control of the position.

6. repeat 5. for each standby called. Note that C.D. is treated as a standby.

7. Repeat 5. and 6. for ENGLAND, FRANCE, GERMANY, ITALY, RUSSIA, TURKEY.

The supply center chart has few complicating situations. The only one I can think of is when a game ends in a Spring season. The chart should not include S.C.'s gained or lost during that incomplete year since the Fall season was not played. One other useful note: please indicate at the right hand margin the nation that won or drew. This saves me lot of looking.

Some other items you may have wondered about:

* = player did not build one unit entitled to during the Winter

+ = player did not build two units entitled to during the Winter

! = player did not build three units entitled to during the Winter

$ = player did not build four units entitled to during the Winter

% = player did not build five units entitled to during the Winter

& = player did not build six units entitled to during the Winter

J. RON BROWN = RON (MM) BROWN

RON J. BROWN = RON (SNAFU!) BROWN

1983CD game start + finish this issue!

Russell Sipe has asked me to address several questions regarding PBEM games. Russell is the publisher of The Armchair Diplomat which is devoted to the play of Diplomacy via computer networks (Source and Compuserve). In the past months there has been some debate concerning the status of these games. Specifically he asks 'Who in the postal hobby will not accept these games as regular?' I can only answer that I do not know. As far as I can see these games do indeed seem regular in that they are play in a manner consistent with the PBM format.

Russell's second question is 'Why should PBEM games not be considered equal to PBM games?' It is quite clear to me that the games aren't equal due to the mode of transmission of negotiations. Indeed the computer mode is far superior to the USPS and that is exactly the point. PBEM players are not subject to the long weeks of inaction, negotiations can be carried out in a day or two rather than in weeks and the occasional mail screw up does not occur. Furthermore the mode is not available to the vast majority of players. The hardware and software limits the number of players who can participate. Thus the PBEM players are a select few who are segregated by their mode negotiation from the main body of the hobby.

Russell's last question is 'What is the purpose of a segregated listing (which I proposed to Russell) for PBEM games?' The reason I suggested a segregated listing was simply to demonstrate my willingness to accomodate the PBEM aspect of the hobby. If you are happy with the current system of notation for computer network games then it will be continued. I find it to be preferable to a separate listing system.

The opinions expressed are my own and not those of the ENC (although Kathy may or may not agree with me).

*Until Spring,
