BNC Chatter

As of September 1, 1986, Steve Meinowski will be the Boardman Number Custodian. Until that date, all trades and subs as well as game start and game finish information should be sent to me. Any other business with this office should be directed to me and will be handled by either Steve or myself.

I leave this office viewing this hobby as pretty much the same as I left it. It is a raucous and shrill yet quiet and serious collection of competitors who delight in the play of the game in whatever form it takes. I love to see a well played stab as much as a well done fake 'zine. I deplore the antics of a poor player such as a dirty fold. These are the aspects of the hobby of Postal Diplomacy. Good and bad. Winning and losing.

Another aspect of the hobby is the role of the Boardman Number Custodian. The person who occupies this office is held by the uninformed and mild-eyed to the capacious dictator. These unfortunate believe or would have you believe that the decisions of the BNC are made unilaterally and without consultation or consent. Nothing could be farther from the truth. The decisions of the BNC are not arbitrary, nor are they binding. You are free to ignore the opinions put forth. However, virtually no one does ignore them. They do represent an opinion that a game was conducted in a manner other than the accepted norm for "regular" postal Diplomacy games. This is the BNC's right and responsibility since he registers the start and finish of all postal Diplomacy games. The good name and reputation of this registration lends some accreditation to the conduct and outcome of the game. It is thus important that the custodian take an active role in the progress of these games and if warranted to make some comment about its progress or outcome. I hope to present in "Litigation" some light on the decision making process. This, by last opinion, will appear in the Fall issue of Everything.

Some of you have applauded my choice of successor and some have not. This is, of course, the norm for the change of this custodianship. Steve Meinowski brings a strong history of publishing and gamestering. He is also a veteran of many games. In addition he brings two other qualities to this position. He has a thorough knowledge and understanding of the game of postal Diplomacy and the integrity to deal fairly with the problems inherent with this job. In short, besides the obvious qualifications, Steve Meinowski has the "right stuff" to handle this very difficult task. I know that the responsible members of this hobby will give him their fullest support.

Corrections

1982CK - Notation should be "Irregular - GM's brother was in the game".
