BNC) When I took over the position of BNC, I set a limit on how long I'd serve in the office. The hobby is a changing organization, and as such, needs to avoid having one person in a policy-setting position for any great length of time. I find myself swiftly approaching the limit I set for myself in this regard, and as such, I will as of this point, actively seek a replacement for myself in this office. If you are interested in this job, send me a note so stating, and I will send you a brief questionnaire, regarding your qualifications for the job. If you ARE interested in this job, let me remind you of a few things you'll need. The first is some time, if you have to ask how much, you don't want this job. Second, you must be able to have people call you an asshole without going off the deep end and with still being able to respect their opinion. Third, you need to have some hobby commitment. If you are still interested, let me know.

LITIGATION: For those of you either involved with or interested in this section, I have postponed any litigation until the end of this month due to the mailing problems mentioned previously as I do not wish anyone coming back to me with the complaint that material sent to me on a particular case 'must have been lost'. We currently have 4 cases awaiting some sort of litigation -- it will be a busy next few months.

Some time ago we had a hobby-wide survey of publishers. It was suggested that it would be interesting to see the same thing done for GMs and the general state of game-mastering. Some-where further along in this issue you will find a compilation of questions regarding GMing. I intend to try to get one of these to every active GM, personally; however, if you know of someone who does not receive one, or you don't receive one in the next month, feel free to use the sample enclosed in this issue. I encourage all GMs getting this to participate; I know it will take a little time to fill out, but only with full coverage can the survey be meaningful to the hobby as a whole. Thank you, in advance for your participation.

A SURVEY OF GAMEMASTERS AND GAMEMASTERING

The purpose of this survey is to find out what is being done in the hobby in general. There are no right and/or wrong answers to this survey; the Diplomacy hobby is quite diverse and diversity should not be shunned.

In filling out this survey we do ask for your name; however, if you do not wish your name used in any way, associated with this survey, you may choose to do so and only your answers will be noted. You may always elect to comment (written) on any question(s) as you see fit. If you do make a written comment of this nature, it may see print when the results are publicised. Copies of the final results will be made available to anyone who wants them.

It is requested that only GMs with one or more years of experience by the end of December, 1988 participate in this survey. There is no restriction on the number of games you run.

THE GAMES

- _____ How long, in years, have you been GMing the game of Diplomacy
- _____ How many games of regular Diplomacy do you run?
- _____ Would you prefer to run: (a) more games, (b) less games, (c) things are just about right as they are.
- _____ Have you ever run a game on a computer net - PDEM?
- _____ Do you GM games other than Diplomacy?
- _____ Do you GM variants?
- _____ Do you currently or have you run an orphaned game?
- _____ Would you accept an orphan game at this time?
- _____ When assigning player positions do you: (a) assign randomly, (b) use preference lists, (c) other - please explain
- _____ Do you have a gamefee? If yes, what is it (if you combine a gamefee with some other charge, please estimate which portion is the gamefee)

DEADLINES

- _____ In terms of weeks (estimated) how far apart are your deadlines?
- _____ Would you delay a game at a player's request: (a) yes (b) no (c) depends on the reason.
- _____ Would you accept a 'late' move if you have not adjudicated the game?
- _____ Would you accept a 'late' move if you have not published the zine?
- _____ Do you employ any type of NMR insurance: (a) collect call list, (b) W.A.P., (c) other - please explain
- _____ Will you accept orders over the phone?
- _____ If you accepted phoned orders (above), who is responsible if the orders are not copied correctly: (a) you, (b) the player
- _____ Would you delay a game if the majority of the players missed their moves?
- _____ If you are using combined seasons, how many players must request a separation before you grant one? ((N/A - not applicable,  - not allowed))
- _____ Would you send the results of a game early if all the moves were in?

MISSED MOVES

- _____ Do you use standby players: (Y) yes (N) no (V) varies
- _____ If a player NMRs in SOI will you: (a) run the turn normally with the NMRed units holding, (b) use neutral orders, (c) delay the turn and call for a replacement, (d) other - please explain

Do you use the C.D. rule or will you call standby players for every position, regardless how small? (a) C.D. (b) S.B.
How many consecutive moves must a player miss before you replace him? (N/A - not applicable)
How many non-consecutive moves must a player miss before you replace him? (N/A - non applicable)
If a player called for a S.B. position does not get it; would you call him to S.B. in the game again?
Do you employ the use of neutral orders: (a) in 1901, (b) past 1901, (c) never Do you employ the use of permanent, or standing, orders?
Do you employ the use of general orders?
(Please don't be embarrassed, but ...) Do you NOT know the meaning of (N) neutral orders, (P/S) permanent/standing orders, (G) general orders, (-) none of the above.

TURNS

Do you (a) play each season out, one season, one turn; (b) employ the 'American' system of combined moves /W-Spr, S-Fall/; (c) the 'European' system of combined moves /Fall-W, Spr-S/; (d) varies with the game involved; (d) other - please explain
Would you use 'A/B' moves, where one player submits two moves and another player says which of the two to use.
Would you allow two or more players to submit a move on the same piece of paper?
If a player submits a set of 'final' orders, will you allow him to revise it?
Do you accept conditional orders? If yes, what: (a) whether a S.B. player has taken over a position, (b) builds/removals, (c) retreats, (d) other - please explain.

PROPOSALS

Do you allow for voted concessions?
Do you use: (a) DIAS, or (B) permit voted draws that aren't DIAS
((If you do not allow voted endings, please disregard the rest of this section))
Which do you adjudicate first: (a) the voted proposal, (b) the actual adjudication of the game.
If two or more voted proposals pass in the same turn do you: (a) call for a revote, (b) take the smallest proposal (ie. a win over a 2-W), (c) other - please explain.
Do you consider a 'no-vote-received', but a regular turn submitted to be a vote (F) for the proposal or (A) against the proposal?
Do you consider a complete NMR to be a vote (F) for the proposal, or (A) against the proposal?
For a vote to pass must the players be (a) unanimously in favor, or (b) must only a majority be in favor of it?
How do you list the vote result: (a) just the pass/fail status of the vote, (b) list the # of votes for and against, (c) list each player and how they voted, (d) other - please explain.
If you do not normally publish how a player votes would you do so at his request?
Would you allow an eliminated player to be included in a draw vote?

PLAYER REMOVAL

Which of the following would you consider to be grounds for the removal of a player from a game:

- _____ If you allow a player to sign up before sending a gamefee, failure to send the fee.
- _____ Failure to maintain a sub to the zine carrying the game.
- _____ Failure to submit moves (NMRing).
- _____ Deception of the GM in his role as GM.
- _____ An unsuccessful attempt to deceive the GM in his role as GM.
- _____ Gross interference in the processing of the game.
- _____ Abusive language and/or actions towards the GM.
- _____ Lying to an ombudsman in a disputed matter.
- _____ other, please explain.

_____ May a player resign from your games?

_____ If a player resigns from your game, may he name his own replacement?

GM REMOVAL

- _____ If the players in one of your games wished to move to a new GM, would you:
(a) consider it if it were a unanimous request, (b) consider it if it were a majority request, (c) not consider it at all, (d) other, please explain.
- _____ If you found you were unable to continue GM for an extended period of time, would you: (a) put the games on hiatus, (b) assign a temporary GM, (c) try to rehouse your games, (d) other, please - explain.

OMBUDSMAN

- _____ Would you allow a decision you made, but one disputed by a player, to be referred to an ombudsman?
- _____ If you and a player(s) went to an ombudsman, and he ruled against you, would automatically abide by the ombudsman decision?

ORDER WRITING PROBLEMS

- _____ Disclaimer: one of my collaborators suggested that this particular section might be consider an attempt to control your attitude, so if you'd prefer not complete this section, check here.
- _____ Would you accept orders as ligit in the following circumstances:
_____ A player lists ' F Mth CA yor-nwy', but fails to list 'A yor-nwy', will you accept the latter move.
- _____ A player fails to list a retreat, but orders the retreated unit in the next move/season, will you accept the move of the retreated unit?
- _____ Same as the above, except substitute 'build' for 'retreated unit'.
- _____ If a player omits the unit designation and lists only the area ('mar-pie'), will you accept the move?
- _____ If a player mislabels the unit (F mar instead of A mar), will you accept the move?
- _____ If a player supports another player's move, but fails to list the country-designation in the move, will you accept the order?
- _____ If a player orders a unit twice, will you accpet: (a) the first order, (b) the second order, (c) depends on the situation, (d) neither order
- _____ If a player submits an ambiguous order, would you: (a) attempt to determine the correct meaning, (b) not process the order, (c) other- please explain.
(Example, a player orders a ven-tro.)

GENERAL OPINIONS

Please rate the following statements, 1 through 5, where one is 'Strongly agree'.

- _____ I enjoy the Diplomacy hobby.
- _____ I enjoy GMing more than playing the game itself
- _____ I feel that fees assessed to various aspects of running a game (gamefee, subs, etc.) are too low.
- _____ I feel that extensive houserules are a drag on the play of the game
- _____ I believe that the BNC guidelines for determining 'regularity' are too restrictive.
- _____ I believe that on the whole my GMing is better than the hobby average.
- _____ I believe that a survey such as this has some value?

ENDING QUESTION

What question do you feel a survey such as this should have asked, but didn't ... and please provide an answer for your question.

_____ Name
I do/do not wish my name used in listing the results of this survey

Optional Question (answer or not as you wish)

What would you consider to be the biggest problem facing the Diplomacy hobby today ... and if you have an answer, please explain ...

In continuing with the the statistical annalysis from last issue (due to that wealth of stats I have from the DipWorld project), I felt that since last time we looked briefly at draws, it would be appropriate this time to look at ~~winners~~, er winners, though I suppose that depends on what side of the win you're on.

I have chosen an arbitrary time to determine when the stats should be pulled, in this case B67-75, and an arbitrary Fall season to look at the games before the win .. and finally, an arbitrary country to look at: Russia, the definitive winner. So, let us then look at the end of the biginning, F03, to see what Russia did to ensure its win. There were 21 Russian wins during this period, and by 1903, most all were well on their way to a win (12SC/2 times, 11SC/5 times, 9SC/6 times, 8SC/5 times, 7SC/2 times and 6SC once. So, my friends, if you're playing Russia, you best be on solid footing by 1903 or it's time to start looking for a facesaving draw. There is, however, another way to look at this - if Russia was doing well at this point, who was not.

If we set a value of 3SCs or less as a poor showing for 1903 and 6 or more as a good showing ...

a) Austria was 'weak' in 13 of the 21 Russian wins to lead the pack in countries to 'get', but second in the pack was not the close Turkish neighbor, but the northern menace of England with 12 'weak' showings. So, if you can, it seems that if you can't arrange Austria's destruction, you're next choice is to ensure that England goes down the poop-chute.

b) France, on the other hand, makes a great ally becuase in the 21 wins, France should be considered 'strong' in 13 occasions, and it didn't make one bit of difference in your quest for the win. ... and right behind France comes Italy with 7 'strong' F03s and only 2 'weak' ones. These are your definitive allies ... remember ...

c) Turkey looks like it could go either way with just as many 'strong' and 'weak' F03s ((well, almost)), but the key here is '6'. You damn well better hold him to 6 SCs for it appears that the 7th will invariably be one of yours!!

d) I'd comment on Germany, but it doesn't appear to matter much what he did, poor fellow, caught between you and your good ally, France ...

e) Lastly, take a quick look a dominance. If we set 9SCs as a determining factor for dominance, you will not that it is very, very rare for another country to become a dominant player in your game: A did it one, and I did it once and you got away with it, but I'll bet you did it with a quick surgical removal. Let no one else, dominate the game.

HOBBY SERVICE ANNOUNCEMENTS FOR "EVERYTHING ..."

ROBERT E. SACKS
4861 BROADWAY 5-V
NEW YORK NEW YORK 10034

1. The Orphan Games Project needs your help in placing orphans. Contact us if you are unable to continue GMing or publishing your games, if you have information about games that haven't been adjudicated in months, or if you are willing to take on an orphan game.

Kathy Caruso is the (new) Director of Orphan Games, in charge of the placement of regular Diplomacy Games. Her address is 29-10 164th St, Flushing NY 11358.

Robert Sacks is the (new) Assistant Director, in charge of the placement of Diplomacy variants (including Gunboat) and other games. His address is 4861 Broadway 5-V, NY NY 10034-3139.

2. Known Game Openings is an independent hobby service (which means we don't let anybody control our editorial policy and endorsements) which only includes game openings voluntarily submitted to the Registrar (Robert Sacks, address above) or his staff. Openings listed include Diplomacy, its variants, other multi-player diplomatic games, and some multi-player campaign/exploration/sports games with the same flavor or audience.

The Convention Notes section lists conventions (including open house parties) and full page flyers have been included on a space available basis. The Directory of Hobby Services section is a relatively neutral and relatively complete list of hobby services and their publications, worldwide.

EGO is available for a self-addressed stamped-envelope, and we will send you a copy when your game openings become stale (3 months old); it is also available to publishers who intend to include it or excerpt from it in their publications.

3. If you want your zine to be reviewed in the Nov. 1988 edition of the EGO'Zine Directory, send a copy to the Editor, Bruce Geryk, 836 W Lakeside 2W, Chicago Il 60640. His acid reviews have received favorable notice all the way to Australia, but the more sensitive publisher might want to avoid his notice.

Meanwhile we are looking for an editor for the 1989 EGO'ZD. Applications should be sent to Robert Sacks (address above).

CORRECTIONS

1. 81CP has been officially abandoned. The game never progressed beyond Spring 1901.
2. Game finish listed as 88AB should be listed as 87JA.
3. In 85HE, Robert Acheson is listed as getting a draw as France and dropped as Turkey.

PUBLISHERS COMMENTS

As you can see from Steve's comments on page 1, he is resigning and looking for a replacement. For the record, I have nothing to do with Steve's choice of a replacement. I just hope whoever gets the position will be able to handle pressure as well as Steve. And, to whoever gets the position, I will be willing to continue as publisher or step aside if the replacement has someone else lined up for the job.
