SOUP TO NUTZ By RICK STROMOSKI

Best wishes for whatever it is you celebrate at this time of year.
 (No, I'm not going to print that dreadful joke about Rudolph's slow-witted brother Randolph.)

THE HOLIDAY SCHEDULE

I had originally planned to set 28 December as the deadline for the next moves in these postal Diplomacy games. However, I will have holiday obligations then, and will be unable to print a 'zine then. I am therefore setting the deadlines for NOON, FRIDAY 4 JANUARY 2008. (Happy New Year!)

And, while we're on the subject, I also have to postpone my promised review of Lindsey Davis's historical mystery novel Saturnalia, because with these social obligations there was no time to write it.

PLEASE STAND BY

I am willing to take over games that have been abandoned by their gamesmasters. So if you are a postal gamesmaster who is no longer able to publish, please get in touch with me and with the Orphan Games Director, Michael Lowrey. (See p. 7 for his address.) MUNICH (API): Several scarlet-robed men have been secretly entering and leaving the Royal Palace late at night on several recent weekends. Meanwhile, Protestant troops and naval forces on the front lines are in a holding pattern, awaiting further orders.

players, the current position, and a list of who owns which supply centers. If subscription money can be passed along to me, fine. Otherwise I will ask players to join a new game in Graustark, or to subscribe to Graustark if they do not already do so. Players who resign or drop out can be replaced by Graustark stand-by players.

It is best if this is done quickly, should it be necessary. If a game is abandoned for too long, some players may lose interest, and may not continue to play when it resumes under another gamesmaster.

Stand-by players are always needed for postal Diplomacy games in Graustark. If you volunteer as a stand-by, you may be called upon whenever a current player misses a move. If you send in moves for that country for the next turn, and the present player does not, you will take over play of that position. No game fee will be asked, though you should keep your subscription current, or enroll in a new Graustark game. No stand-by will be called upon in a game in which he or she has already played.

Stand-by volunteers who are willing to take on additional games of postal Diplomacy are listed below. A stand-by player who is already playing in a Graustark game is indicated by "*". If you wish your name added to or removed from this list, please let me know.

THE MINISTRY OF MISCELLANY

"On October 17th, 2006, the U. S. Constitution was bound, gagged, and detained indefinitely." - full-page advertisement in the New York Times of December 5, 2007, protesting the passage of the "Military Commissions Act" which "made it lawful to hold suspects indefinitely without charge or trial, to assume guilt before innocence, to blur the definition of torture, and to use information obtained through brutal treatment as 'evidence'."

"On October 16th, 1946, ten men who did that to the German Constitution were hanged by the neck until dead." - historical fact Graustark is the Very First bulletin for the postal play of Diplomacy. It is published every fourth Saturday by John Boardman, 234 East 19th Street, Brooklyn, NY 11226-5302. Diplomacy is a board game of negotiation and conflict for the period of World War I. It was designed by Allan B. Calhmer and is now published by Hasbro. Another new postal Diplomacy game is now being organized in Graustark, at a game fee of $35. (For Canadian and Mexican addresses the game fee is $50, and for other foreign addresses it is $100, or 75 euros in cash.) This game fee includes a subscription to Graustark for as long as the game lasts, whether or not you are eliminated. With your game fee send in a list of the countries you'd like to play, in your order of preference, and I'll try to put you as close to the top of that list as I can. If you do not already have the postal rules for Diplomacy, which were last published in Graustark #749, let me know when you send in your game fee, and I'll send you a copy.

Graustark subscriptions for non-players are 10 issues for $15 for U. S. addresses, and $40 or 30 euros for others. Back issues as available are 10 issues for $5 for U. S. addresses. To foreign addresses, back issues have the same price as for foreign subscriptions. Players who phone in their moves should call me at 718-693-1579. An answering machine is attached to this phone.

I want to again remind players that the U. S. "Service" is not capable of reliably getting mail here in less than a week. Please take this into account in sending in your moves. If, a few times, your moves have arrived here by mail in less than a week, do not assume that this will always be the case.

Graustark readers who are interested in postal games which don't run here, are invited to write to the publishers of 'zines with which I trade, and ask what game openings they have. For their addresses, see all the readers indicated by "(T)" for "trade" in the Graustark Directory on p. 6 of this issue. Several of these publishers run a wide variety of postal games.

Prior to the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor, whose 66th anniversary was recently observed, American public opinion was decidedly divided about World War II, with a majority preferring to remain neutral. However, almost all comic art took it for granted that the Allies were right and the Axis was wrong. The villains were thinly disguised versions of the Axis powers, particularly Germany.

One of the new comic strips which thus reacted to World War II was Frank Tinsley's Yankee Doodle, which began in October 1940. On 7 June 1942 this strip was taken over by the McNaught Syndicate, which changed its name to Captain Yank, and made its hero a Marine aviator. As such, flying at night, he found himself short on fuel, and saw an aircraft carrier as his only possible landing site, despite the fact that he could not

PATRIOTISM - LVII

PATRIOTISM is the principal cause of war.

PATRIOTISM is the unprincipled cause of war.

PATRIOTISM is the refusal by Cross Country Fulfillment to honor its contract to handle sales and distribution for the War Resisters League 2008 Peace Calendar, on the grounds that it is "anti-American". (Anyone wishing this calendar should order it @ $13.95 from "War Resisters League, c/o We-Fulfill, 218 Round Rock Circle, Grand Junction, CO 81503.)

PATRIOTISM is whining about the fact that tabloids bury the war news on page twenty-something, when in fact this agrees with the public's lack of interest in the war.

PATRIOTISM is whining about Iraq's attempts to punish Americans for crimes against Iraqis.

PATRIOTISM is rejoicing about the fact that "not one contractor has been prosecuted for crimes committed against an Iraqi." (editorial, New York Times, 5 November 2007)

PATRIOTISM is referring to sleep deprivation as torture if Vietnamese did it to Americans in Hanoi, but not if Americans are doing it to Muslims at Guantánamo. (Richard Cohen, Newsday, 6 November 2007)

PATRIOTISM is American snipers in Iraq who "placed fake weapons at 'bait' to attract and kill enemy fighters. (New York Times, 6 November 2007)

PATRIOTISM is the orders given to his men in Iraq by Captain Matthew Didier "that their rules of engagement had changed to allow them to kill even unarmed men fleeing a battle in a rural area with American or Iraqi Army forces." (Ibid.)

PATRIOTISM is three killings of prisoners or fleeing men, ordered by Staff Sgt. Michael A. Hensley of the 25th Infantry Division under these orders, "occurring with the knowledge and encouragement of his superiors". (Ibid.)

PATRIOTISM is the discovery of the cable channel MSNBC, that "shows that criticize the administration with the same vigor which Fox News's hosts often champion it" are "ratings gold", and that "MSNBC is managing to add viewers at a moment when its hosts echo the country's dissatisfaction with President Bush." (New York Times, 6 November 2007)

PATRIOTISM is the U. S. government's acceptance of reports by an Iraqi named Rafid Ahmed Alwan ("Curveball") that Saddam Hussein's government had built mobile biological weapons labs. Alwan is not, as he had claimed, a chemical engineer, had flunked out of engineering courses, and was a fabricator and an alcoholic. (Newsday, 3 November 2007)

PATRIOTISM is President Bush's repeated insistence, as recently as 2006 and perhaps even later, that Saddam Hussein had weapons of mass destruction, even "after endless searches had found no sign" of them. (Anthony Lewis, review of Robert Draper's Dead Certain: The Presidency of George W. Bush, New York Times Book Review, 4 November 2007)

PATRIOTISM is President Bush's attitude that he "knows he is right. When facts turn out to get in the way, he brushes them off." (Ibid.)

PATRIOTISM is a 2005 "opinion" which "gave the Justice Department's most authoritative legal approval to the harshest agency techniques, including head slapping, exposure to cold and simulated drowning, even when used in combination." (New York Times, 5 October 2007)

PATRIOTISM is the congressional grant of "amnesty to officials who may have violated the torture and war crimes provisions of our laws; allowing a defense for future abusers if they relied on legal advice; authorizing the president to redefine cruel, inhuman and degrading treatment; and permitting the use of evidence derived from the use of torture or coercion." (Michael Ratner, Center for Constitutional Rights, quoted by Nat Hentoff, Village Voice, 24 October 2007)

PATRIOTISM is the statement of William Kristol, editor of the Weekly Standard, that "Whenever I hear anything described as a heartless assault on our children, I tend to think it's a good idea. I'm happy that the president's willing to do something bad for the kids." (New York Times, 5 October 2007)

PATRIOTISM is the attempt to drop all charges against the perpetrators of the Haditha Massacre of November 2005. (New York Times, 6 October 2007)

PATRIOTISM is the principal cause of war.

THE GRAUSTARK DIRECTORY

Players in a current postal Diplomacy games are indicated by its Boardman Number, with the initial of the country being played, and with "S" indicating a substitute player. (E. g., "2006A-R" or "2002D-FS".) Paying subscribers will be indicated by the number of the issue with which the subscription expires. Other designations are:

C: complimentary copy for a gamer

N: entrant in the next Graustark postal Diplomacy game

R: complimentary copy for a non-gamer interested in the mystery novel reviews

T: trade copy

U: uncomplimentary copy

This directory is accurate to the date of 1 December 2007. Please let me know of any corrections or additions that need to be made, particularly if you want your nine-digit ZIP code, phone number, fax number, or e-mail address added to your listing. This is particularly important for electronic addresses, which seem to change more frequently than do postal addresses.

If you are already a Graustark subscriber when you decide to send in a game fee, then when the game begins, the number of issues you had coming when you joined will be added to your subscription once the game ends. After your name in the Directory will appear some such notation as "2004C-T+6".

recognize its signals. He assumed it was British, and came in for a landing. But when he landed, he found that he was on a German carrier.

While his mistake made for exciting adventure, there were in fact no German aircraft carriers in World War II. One had been planned, and it was to be called the Graf Zeppelin after the designer of the famous German dirigible airships. However, its keel was laid in 1939, and it was still unfinished when the war ended. In this state it was captured by the Russians.

However, a German aircraft carrier Graf Zeppelin may be found in a board war game, Avalon-Hill's War at Sea (1975). This World War II game is set in European waters, and is a relatively simple game, designed for beginners. Its rules do not mention that the Graf Zeppelin did not actually fight in World War II.

When World War II ended, Captain Yank was retired. I do not know whether Frank Tinsley, its creator, was related to the annoyingly didactic comic artist Bruce Tinsley, creator of the comic strip Mallard Fillmore. In his pro-Bush strip, Bruce Tinsley mentions that his father served in World War II, as if it were relevant to Bush War II, but has said nothing about him or any other relative being a comic artist.

In a recent issue I suggested that readers should look up the details of the new postal rates in the 2008 World Almanac. Unfortunately, upon buying that almanac I discovered that the details aren't there. The higher rates for "large envelopes" aren't even mentioned, and of course "large envelope" is not defined. Nor does the almanac state that the rates it gives (41c for the first ounce and 17c for each additional ounce) are valid only if the envelope weighs less than 3½ ounces.

So apparently you are just going to have to pester a postal clerk to get rates for anything other than a small one-ounce envelope.

The 2008 presidential campaign seems concentrated on two issues - the Christian orthodoxy of the candidates, and who can attack immigrants most viciously. In particular, Rudy Giuliani is being attacked for calling New York City, of which he was once mayor, a "sanctuary city", particularly for immigrants without regard to their documentation.

Yes, New York is a sanctuary city. It was a sanctuary city during the Irish famine of the 1840s, it was a sanctuary city during the Russian pogroms of the 1880s, and it was a sanctuary city during the German, Italian, and Russian dictatorships of the twentieth century. Nor are the opponents of immigration really concerned about whether or not immigrants are documented. Representative Tom Tancredo (R-CO), a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, is opposed to all immigration, "legal" or "illegal". And presidential candidates are vigorously attacking immigrants despite the fact that, in the Southwest, immigrant bashers have been defeated in several recent elections. Spouses, relatives, friends, employers, co-workers, and fellow ethnics of undocumented immigrants, who are eligible to vote, are strongly disinclined to vote for immigrant bashers.

Besides, I have an interest in this. My family came to America illegally. On 3 July 1638.
