PRESS: London to Berlin: Leave my Brest alone or I'll go straight for your Kiel/

Berlin to London: My build of a fleet in Kiel is simply for my own protection as I don't know what your intentions are. I would hope that we will be able to work together in this game.

Also see Kieth Sherwood's press at the end of Hoof and Mouth.

1980 AB: NO SPECIAL HEADLINES HERE EITHER.

PRESS: London (The Tattler) We have it on good authority that the Duke of R. is in town to get some advice from his old friend Lord Zabbington II, son of the late foreign minister. The two dined at Simpsons the other night and were overheard discussing some of the Duke's anxieties. It seems that the Duke has a large private lake on his property where he likes to go when has been too much with him and sail in utter and complete solitude. Lately he has become preoccupied with the concern that ~~XXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXX~~ another neighbor, upon whose property a very small border of the lake also abuts, might choose to sail there as well. "I know I'm probably being unreasonable," the Duke said miserably, "and I've tried everything I can think of to rid my mind of such unworthy thoughts. I've tried cold showers, prayer, and zen meditation. Why I've even tried Hari Krishna, TM, and Scientology!" Lord Zabbington mused long and reflectively before replying. Finally he raised his eyes and looked at his friend over the wine glasses. "Try EST," was his brief enigmatic reply.

Keith Sherwood to Europes of 1980 AB and 1979 AA: Ever had one of those days? First my dog gets hit by a street sweeper, then my hat gets caught in the garbage disposal, my girlfriend says she may be pregnant. But to top it all off, I receive these positions to standby for. Come on, guys! Have a heart! I like life, too. No one even wrote me. I'm so desperate for letters, I'll make the following offers: I will help the first person to write me to conquer the world (puppet, in other words). In case you've forgotten, its Keith Sherwood, 4332 Sycamore, Los Alamos, NM 87544.

That wraps things up till next month.
