Hoosier Archives is a periodic listing of the Diplomacy archives of Walter Buchanan, R. R. 3, Lebanon, Indiana 46052, telephone (317) 482-2824; Archives Director, N3FGEDD; a Director of The Diplomacy Association; and a member of the IFWDS. Since the archives is virtually complete in at least xerox form back to 1966, the archives listing will only appear quarterly, the last being in issue #35, or as further substantial additions are acquired. However, additions to the archives are solicited, either through originals, which are preferred, or a loan to permit xeroxing. Also, postage fees will be paid for duplicates so that they can be made available to others. The main purpose of Hoosier Archives is to make available information from the archives, such as Diplomacy articles, game news, etc., as well as to serve as a medium for original articles, which are solicited. This is Albatross Press publication #41.

INTO THE ARCHIVES NO. 8

With this issue, Hoosier Archives presents another promising new author. His name is Arnold Vagts, and in addition to being one of the leaders of Los Angeles' most active FIF Diplomacy group and a rising postal star, he was a worthy opponent at DIPCON IV in San Diego. The following is the first article of a two-part series on "locked up positions," better known as stalemates, a term Arn dislikes due to its connotations. In any event, these two articles are the most thought provoking articles I have seen in a long time.

TACTICAL CONSIDERATIONS IN LOCKED UP POSITIONS

by Arnold E. Vagts, Jr.

DEFINITION: A Locked Up Position (LUP) is a position in which a country can get, such that no other country or combination of countries can eliminate him, but in which the country with a LUP cannot eliminate all of the other countries either.

This definition conforms to what we "intuitively" think of as a LUP. Notice that the elimination constraints prevent a country which has, say, all of the supply centers on the board but one, from having a LUP, which is what we would expect, and want.

What are some of the properties a LUP has? More than one country may have a LUP--this follows from the definition: a country which cannot be eliminated has a LUP or one which cannot eliminate all of the remaining countries. Consider LUP #1 and #2 below, at the end of this article. I am convinced that it is not possible for three countries to simultaneously have a LUP--perhaps a reader can prove this. Since it may take only six units to control a LUP, it is obvious that a country can win even if another country has a LUP and the winning country does not.

The easiest aspect of Diplomacy to master is tactical play, yet few good players do little more than adequate; thus, an inexperienced player has a chance to do serious damage to a much more experience player by outwitting him tactically. Tactical play can be improved by reading tactical articles, solving tactical problems, and applying simple game-theoretic techniques (e.g. minimax solutions). Especially valuable is a detailed analysis with the players of a game when it ends. It will help point out what went wrong, why, how, and when, and perhaps how it might have been prevented by taking other branches of the game tree. Occasionally a complete game will be documented. Such a game is 1971CC, a telephone game of which I was Gamemaster.

Be aware of what is tactically possible on the board so that a LUP will be recognized should it arise. Three LUP's are listed below; assume that there are no foreign units behind the front line of the LUP. Each LUP below has its mirror image (there seems to be some law of symmetry), i.e. the situation is a LUP from both sides of the LUP line even though only the units for one side are given.

- LUP #1 TUR Position: A Arn S A Sev, A Bul S A Run, A Bud S A Vie, A Tri S A Tyo,
A Tus S A Pie, F Nap S F Tyh, F Ion S F Tyh.
Supply Centers: Ank Smy Con Sev Run Bul Gre Ser Bud Vie Tri Ven Rom Nap.
Tur may give up either Tyo or Tyh but not both; may lose Pie if holds both.
- LUP #2 GER Position: A Fin S A Stp, F Bal S A Ber, A Kie S A Mun, A Ruh S A Mun,
A Bur S A Gas, F Por S F Mao, F Nao S F Mao.
Supply Centers: Stp Nwy Swe Den Kie Ber Mun Hol Bel Par Bre Por Lon Liv Edi.
- LUP #2 ENG Position: F Nwy S A Stp, F Den, F Por S F Mao, F Nao S F Mao.
Supply Centers: Por Den Swe Nwy Lon Liv Edi.
FRA and GER must be eliminated.

OUR COVER

Another artist has joined the Hoosier Archives fold. Kurt Erichsen, a cohort of Mark Verheiden and another member of Oregon comic fandom, has been kind enough to submit the cover for this issue of Hoosier Archives. If you look closely, you will discover quite a few skeletons in the editor's closet revealed. Among other things, I turned 30 ten days ago. Ah yes, I know. Now I'm over the hill! Anyway, it is good to have another Oregon artist join the fold. Many thanks, Kurt. (Guess who's eating the chocolate off the fanzines! Gad, on top of Mexican food...?)

NAORG-OPLID

Beginning with Hoosier Archives #41, Naorg-Oplid, edited by that infamous liar, Carol Ann Buchanan, will be incorporated as a subzine of Hoosier Archives. Naorg-Oplid and its widow-editor are unswervingly dedicated to the task of overthrowing and/or outlawing FTF Diplomacy, PFM Diplomacy and AOKO (any other kind of) Diplomacy.

Contributions by Diplomacy widows are joyfully welcomed. Press releases, too, are most welcome. Just remember, we're striving for good grammar and good taste (this here 'zine in't gonna be no ordinary Dippy 'zine!).

To counteract the effects of DAT, DDIGNFFF and FWIDS, Dippy widows are urged to join TDWA--The Diplomacy Widows Association. For further information, write me at R. R. # 3, Lebanon, Indiana 46052. All you need is a purple-passion aversion to Diplomacy!
