JASTRZAB--18

THIS IS RADIO JASTRZAB, OUT OF THE DEPTHS OF NEURO WARSAWA SOMEWHERE IN OHIO. WE HAVE DEEMED IT WISER TO KEEP THE EXACT LOCATION OF OUR SECRET TYPEWRITERS/PRINTING PRESSES/TANK GAMES SECRET DUE TO OVERWHELMING PRESSURE APPLIED BY THAT DEVIL FROM HOPELESS JCT. WHO WOULD BOGGLE OUR MINDS AND KEEP THIS SET OF YOUR HANDS FOREVER, BOOKING AGENTS (A FRONT REALLY) ARE THE FAMILY OF S. WROBEL, 7 POLAND VILLAGE BLVD., POLAND, OHIO 44514. PHONE: 216-757-1110 AFTER 9:30 WEEKNIGHTS ONLY. SUBSCRIPTION RATES ARE 10/$1.50. GAME FEES WHEN THERE ARE GAME OPENINGS ARE $5.00.

GAME OPENINGS: I had expected to open another game or even start another game with this issue, provided that one of the orphans had been completed. Neither has finished; however we will announce that there are openings in one section of regular, honest, good-old-fashioned American Diplomacy. If my records (read: poor memory) serve me properly, Three parties had expressed an interest before: Boulanger, Prasse, and Klein. If you gentlemen are still intent on playing, please submit a country preference list asap.

THE CHARLES REINSEL AFFAIR: PART ONE. ~~DISCOVERED~~ ~~a press release, detailing~~ ~~the~~ ~~same~~ (and everyone knows who lives there) stating: "Overheard at an argument: 'You can take it and shove it up (GRAM was the exact quote) your Charles Reinsel'" Mr. Reinsel apparently took this personally and reacted accordingly: 1. An editorial in BIG BROTHER (NCRB'S NOTES #118) of MAY 1973 which stated: "IT IS NOT RIGHT, NOR FAIR, FOR ANY GAMESMASTER (HONEST THAT IS!) TO PUBLISH PRESS NOR PROPAGANDA IN A GAME BY OTHER THAN ONE OF THE SEVEN ACTIVE PAID-UP PLAYERS! 2. A PRESS RELEASE (?) FOR GAME 1973AU: "I DIDN'T WRITE IT & IMBECILS PRINT IT AND MORONS READ IT" Now then, one of the original, paid-up, active players in that game did in fact submit the body of that offensive press release. I merely added the dateline which I thought most appropriate to current events in Diplomacy circles. Most would agree that it was appropriate and humorous. I do not take umbrage at Mr. Reinsel's reacting with 'Imbecils' and 'Morons.' However, his belief that the printing of "Black Press" is not right or unfair or even dishonest is indicative (to me at least) of a player who has not grasped the real, inner workings of Diplomacy as a game. Lew Pulsipher said someplace that "Wargaming is just a Goddamn hobby." Diplomacy is a game influenced not so much by the movement of pieces as by the interpretation of other players by said moves. Black Press, which does have its real-life counterpart in the "Fifth Column", can be an effective weapon, if one even bothers with it. I suggest, Mr. Reinsel, that you reexamine your reasons for playing Diplomacy at all. If it is for enjoyment and personal satisfaction (which is becoming the 'American' way-of-life) then you should learn not only to live with it, but even use it yourself. I would appreciate, as a further extension of my opinion, if all players in 1973AU would advise me if they have heard or received any correspondence from Mr. Reinsel about their game together. I know of one player who has received nothing since the beginning of the game. One not receiving anything is not unusual; if none of the others have been in contact with Charles, I venture to say that Mr. Reinsel would be better off playing a different sort of game by mail. Diplomacy is the interaction between players And JASTRZAB will continue to have Black Press, written either by players, outsiders, or by myself...Black Press which may or may not be funny, revelant, honest, but will be part of the game.

REPUEBLICAN, n. a species of elephant you can lead to the watergate but cannot make remember

---Jenny Krasner, Melville, NY
NEW YORK Magazine, May 21, 1973

POLITYKA, a Warsaw (Poland) weekly, reports that construction workers, digging a foundation for a cement plant near Poman, unearthed a three-ton bulldozer. "We consulted an archaeologist," the paper remarked, "and he said the find cannot be taken as an indication of high technological development among ancient Slavic tribes." ---PLAYBOY, May, 1973

SIGH! Bob Knudsen did not receive JASTRZAB 16 and has requested a deadline estension. Orders for Spring 1906 are on file for all others. However, all may be changed. Regardless of the ~~fact that Bob's orders will not be~~ he is entitled to the consideration. The deadline of Spring 1905 is therefore June 9, 1973. Peter Shamray, 19614 Le Conte, Los Angeles, Calif 90924 will be playing Austria while Don Horton is abroad feeding the European Squirrels.

1972BQ--WINTER 1904-----

Bob Knudsen apparently failed to receive JASTRZAB 16 and has requested a deadline extension. As all other necessary winter adjustments are on file, we request Bob to forward his build immediately. All Winter adjustments will then be sent out by carbon copy and a deadline announced for Spring 1905. Conditional Spring 1905 orders on file for France and Italy.

1969BV--SPRING 1911-----

Bob Knudsen as above. Spring 1911 orders are at hand (but may be changed) for Italy and France. Therefore the deadline for Spring 1911 shall be June 9th and the deadline for Fall 1911 June 23 unless Bob submits his orders immediately or sooner than that and the French player advises that he is not contemplating a move change and has had enough negotiation time. Burt, if I don't here from you, your moves are set

1972CM--FALL 1905-----

Guess who's in this game too. Yep. Bob Knudsen as above. Other players orders are at hand. Deadline for Fall 1905 set back to June 9th, 1973. Because there are more players in this game, the entire time period will be adhered to in order to allow some diplomacy.

DEADLINE FOR FALL 1903---JUNE 9, 1973

JANUL: Another game infested by the head liar of COSTALIAR, the magazine that demonstrates conclusively that bad breath does not win games. Actually I think I'm really only an associate Pole; my forebears weren't really Polish-born, but they did preside over an awful lot of camps for those who were.

JANULOWICZ: The final solution to the Polish question; recycle trash! Eliminates the food source.

OXFORD: "Unless Germany again considers answering English Diplomatic communications, let it be known by all that a stage of war henceforth exists between the two nations." His Royal Mediocraty, Ekim I, our Monarch, wept at the necessity of this harshly worded statement adding, "Lights are going out all over Fenwick."

JASNY GORKI: "...TO SAY NOTHING ABOUT WHAT'S HAPPENING ABOARD THOSE BIRSAHON SHIPS."
Two players have inquired about the dual submission of orders while one party is away from the game. It is legal and acceptable if both parties advise beforehand and submit a single order sheet signed by both battlers.

MARSAILLES: M. Fouquier-Tinville, Marseilles' former Minister of Public Health, has been appointed special emissary to the Sultan of Turkey by the government in Paris. M Fouquier-Tinville has received popular acclaim for his successful suppression of the recent F.D. epidemic in the south of France, a campaign in which the guillotine proved its worth as a surgical instrument. When asked by reporters if his new assignment was a move by political opponents to remove him from the popular limelight, M. Fouquier-Tinville replied: "Nonsense. I am being sent to Turkey to negotiate for the sale to the Sultan of 853,000 eunuchs, most of whom were deserters from the Italian army of the Piedmont. One of my assistants has been dispatched to Munich with a small shipment of Italian sausage for the German Market."

Should Mr. Bosky fail to submit removals, Mr. Knudsen will become the player of record. ~~Human~~...five games. I shall have to start sending you two jasTrzabs, Bob. that great?

ROME: Reaction to the news of the recent French action in the west was mixed. In particular 16% of those questioned opted for boiling the aptly named French leader, General Klutz, in oil while 73% wanted to see what a certain exhibit in the Rome Zoo, containing a large number of small but toothy fish, would do with him and 68% would deliver him to the tender clutches of our Rumanian friend (now in exile), Vlad (the Impaler) Tepes, known for his legendary feats in staking out the opposition. (Totals adding to more than 100% are due to multiple and often virulent responses from those interviewed). ((MORE LIKELY--TOTALS ARE MORE THAN 100% BECAUSE THE ITALIAN INTERVIEWEES COULDN'T REACH THEIR TOES TO CHECK ON THE SUMS))

JAMUL TO BERLIN: Hey, boy, what the hell you doing in our ski resorts? Out! Out! Out..... NO, not that way.....

JAMUL TO JASNY GORKI: HEMOPHILE hangup? Hell, I don't think the guy has any blood.

JASNY GORKI TO JAMUL: Hemophile? Homophile? Oh.....HOMOPHILE! Now I understand. I really couldn't imagine why he was prejudiced against free bleeders. Perhaps he thought they were unAmerikan. But Homophiles! If one has met him in person one can readily accept the notion that he would be against free lovers (of any gender). I must confess to misreading the original statement and attributing some gaulish attributes to our Big Brother.....

SOMEBODY OUT THERE READS JASTRZAB (AND GETS PAID FOR IT):

We refer you specifically to page 135 of the May 1973 issue of PLAYBOY. Bruce McCall, the author of "Commodore Sweetwater's Waterlogged logbook of Foolhardy and Forgotten SEA BATTLES apparently got inspiration for his lead-in article, "Poland's Sub goes "Glub" somewhere. We invite comparisons. No matter that the original idea for the Sekret weapons might have originated in Playboy in the first place.....I think I will send him jasTraab 16.....

We have been hesitant in advertising opening another section of Lord of the Rings for a couple of reasons. Firstly, and most important, the game in progress was to be a test-bed for the original version. Jeff Key has experimented with several other additional modifications and additions to the original rules, but never finalized them (to this time). The game as it stands now is enjoyable as a one-on-one tactical exercise and as an in-person game. It has not been demonstrated that it is a good mail game as yet. However, if there were to be enough interested in playing in another section, I would oblige. Somewhere my second reason got mixed up in there. The rule modification that I think would be each of the five free positions more enjoyable would be the random placement of the ring by the GM into any neutral province, rather than the historical placement in the Shire. That would make the Gondor and Rohan and Elves perhaps more powerful. Mordor would not be told anything or Mordor would be told the number of spaces (approximately) from any one of his beginning missions. That might cause more problems, but more fun also for the harassed powers. Comments? We still have some of the conference maps designed/adapted by Bob Keathley and rules for same if anyone needs any.

Our sincere congratulations go out to Dr. John Beardman on the 10th Anniversary of the publication of GRAUSTARK. A track record unexcelled and perhaps never to be broken..... while he is still publishing. Congratulations are also in order to Leonard Lakofka on the 4th anniversary of LES LIAISONS DANGEREUSES. Both publications have continued because of the dedication of their publishers. All joking aside (for the moment) to say that these are not worthy of your support by subscription or by playing a game in them because you do not agree with what the editors profess or seem to stand for is like spitting in your eye to wash your face. On this occasion, a moment of silence for those who have fallen before you.
