August
10

Editor: Dale Bonowald

There will be a new Game opening this month. It is a regular Dippy game that will be run by Bruce Gletty. Prices are a little more than they used to be (inflation). If this is your first Journal game it will cost you $1, if you have been or are now in a Journal game it will cost you 75¢, still a bargain. Inquire to Bruce Gletty, 2034 N. Hoyley, Champaign, Ill., 61820.

I am also starting something next month for people who do not move. It will be called the lazy ass (s) of the month. Anyone who fails to send in their moves will become one and I will put his name up in large print on the front page for all to see. So you had better not miss your moves.

If anyone moves please send in your new address so I can alert all players.

The Fourth Annual NIPCON will be held in San Diego, August 26-29. For information contact Larry Peary, 815 24th St., San Diego, Ca. 92102.

Larry also asked me to ping POLITICO-MILITARY WARGAMES. These games are different than Diplomacy and appear to be very interesting. I urge everyone to contact Larry for information. It can't hurt you and you might get into something that you will really enjoy.

Pelack Predicts

As baseball swings into its final months the Oakland A's have all but wrapped up their division. The S.F. Giants are still having troubles but showed that they still have it when they need it by taking the Pitt. Pirates four straight games. The N.Y. Mets continue to drop even though Pitt. has been a little shaky this month.

I know there are a lot of football fans out there and so I will give all you people with opinions on the sport, be it college or pro, express them here. Keep it brief as I don't know how much space will be available. You can express grips, put some BS in for your favorite team, or claim your school has the best looking cheer leaders. I will print all I can.

Football (pro) started its exhibition schedule this week and already the powerful Detroit Lions (the N.F.L. premier team) have made themselves known by putting Joe Namath out for this season. The Lions, called the best for this year or as Sport Mag put it "for fun, watch the Lions in 71" are counting Super Bowl money already. After the way they ripped other teams last season it is only wondered if they can go the season without being upset.

In college Duffy Dougherty and Bo Schambachler are tuning up there teams in hopes of having their best years yet. In either case that is almost impossible in looking back over some of their past seasons, Michigan returns Glenn Doughty and Bill Taylor the NCAA's two top running backs and must be considered the prime candidate for #1 with Duffy's Mich. Staters presenting the strongest challenge. The Big 10 will rule again.

Remember and in any football junk you want or anything on any sport for that matter. My address is on the last page.

Game I, Press Releases

Ankara, October 9, 1909-Today, Sultan Bozo again asked the U.S. Commissioner of Baseball for a franchise switch. However, after seeing the N.Y. Mets play this month, he decided he would prefer a good team, at least compared to the Mets. The Sultan is now awaiting a reply from the Commissioner in regard to the Sultan's request to have the Philadelphia Phillies move to Ankara. The Sultan added that a new team in Turkey would not hurt the attendance of the Smyrna Giants or the Constantinople A's (Triple A farm club for the San Diego Padres) since they don't get anyone to go to their games anyhow. He also praised the Constantinople A's great new pitcher Aba Blue and invited him to the palace for a mule roast.

New York, October 10, 1909-At the end of the seventh and deciding World Series game which the New York Mets won 1-0 on Al Weis's two out home run in the bottom of the 28th the Commissioner of Baseball made a few comments. "I have asked the U.S. Post Office to return all mail to me from Turkey to the sender. Some numbskull in that seat of barbaric confusion keeps requesting that we move a team to Turkey. He readily admits that their minor league teams do not draw. Our business is to make money and not to satisfy the whims of an iron-fisted, slope-headed monarch. Also the minor league players from their two farm clubs have been barred entrance to the United States because they are all carriers of double, double rhino-fungus (an archaic Turkish term)."

Note: This is the Mets second Pee Wee II Championship since joining the Girl's open League 10 years ago.

Game II, Press Releases

Editor's Note: This month would have been a real bummer except for this exceptional (????) piece of literature that Bill Roche submitted. The only thing that bothers me is that Bill actually has nothing better to do. Guilford isn't really the action spot of the East Coast.

Vienna, October 22, 1908-A severe political play was performed tonight for the first time. It is said to be the most controversial piece of literature to come out of Vienna in a decade. Through the JOURNAL'S exclusive syndication rights (and mainly nobody else would touch it with a ten foot pole) we present here for our readers in its entirety:

Fascinating Cases

(These are a series of "on file" cases handled by T.R.A.S.H., Thwarters of Rats, Assassins, Scounderals, and Hoodlums, ace crime stopping bureau of Austria-Hungary. Everything you are about to read is nauseating, only the faces have been changed to protect the sickly.)

Our adventure opens with the infamous British spy, Mattress Fuss, having just stolen top secret Austrian military papers, and in the process of fleeing north to Kiel via Munich. Assigned to retrieve the papers is none other than Super Fellow, T.R.A.S.H.'s top field agent. (Super Fellow's real name is unknown. He prefers to work under an alias.) This is his report:

"Word came down through the grapevine that Mattress Fuss's first stop on the way to Kiel was a small Bavarian town called Donut Center. (What a hole.) His favorite restaurant was the Chic Grease, and knowing full well that he would stop there, I got a job as a waitress by speaking in a high falsetto. My first customer was a plump, elderly man. Since I didn't know who Mattress Fuss's contact was, I had to treat everyone with suspicion. Our conversation went something like this:

Customer: "Do you serve crabs here?"

S.F.: "Yes sir. What would you like?"

Cus.: "Don't get fresh, buddy."

S.F.: "Something's got to be. The food isn't."

Cus.: "Nevermind the seafood. Do you have any wild duck?"

S.F.: (He was getting fowl at this point. I humored him further, hoping he was the contact.) "No," I replied, "but if you want I'll bring you a tame one and aggravate him."

At this point, the air became heavy with the smell of old cotton and mildew. It was Mattress Fuss, briefcase in hand, who had just walked on the scene. "Hold it right there, M.P.!" (I used his initials for an arty effect; also, I would have felt just silly shouting "Mattress Fuss" in a crowded restaurant.) All he could reply was "Super Fellow!" and out of shock after seeing me in a waitress' costume, he dropped the briefcase and dove for the light switch, thus extinguishing the overhead illumination fixtures. As he dove for the switch, I managed to get off a shot from my revolver. This was unfortunate for the unlucky chap who was directly behind him.

I raced for the switch. When the light went on, Mattress Fuss was gone. He was wounded though; there was a puddle of cotton on the floor. It was too dark to follow the wounded beast, and my first duty was to the papers he left behind. As I was making my exit from the restaurant, the man I was serving hailed me. "This duck is no good. Send for the manager." I assured him, "It's no use, he won't eat it either."

Epilog: Once again, thanks to brave souls like Super Fellow, Good triumphs over Evil.

Notes-Builds and removals are due on Tuesday, August 17th. Moves are due on Friday, August 27th.

Be on time.

Well, here we go once more, late again. Sorry. Moves or builds, whichever will be due on August 27th at my current address. I have decided to follow John's lead and make builds a separate season if not everyone sends in conditionals. If there are any exceptionally strenuous objections, I will reconsider.

Somewhere in outer Syria:

Today Sultan Boso made a short announcement that he would be leaving the Eastern palace in Syria, and head for the Western palace in Crete. It is believed that he is plotting an assault somewhere on the Turkish coast with a group of loyal subjects. It is hoped that this will spur the people into overthrowing the present Russian leadership. It is rumored that the CIA is involved and will give the plan its full backing.

The Kobeldomietenstein Free Press

Well, a little less than a month has elapsed since our last issue, and my summer is really getting boring. Damn, I was so bored today that I actually decided to do this! So, here I am, down in the leaky and damp celler of the Klets Brewery, pen in hand, or rather, typewriter on lap.

It is kind of a hassle to always have to write out these Nor provinces, so from now on, we will use these abbreviations. Nat-North Africa, Nat-North Atlantic Ocean, Nwg-Norwegian Sea, Nth-North Sea, Nor-Norway.

So also simplify things, the supply center charts are as follows: (Example.) Austria-Hungary (Klats) St. P, Per, Edi. -1. The St. P, Per, and Edi refer to the supply centers that country owns. Then, after that, is any adjustments. In this case Austria-Hungary would lose 1 unit. If there was no minus sign, just a number, Austria-Hungary would gain that many units. If there is no number at all, then there is no change. Also, when we list what supply centers a country has, we use home to show that that country has her home provinces. Home is abbreviated to H.

If a name is followed by a (NMR) under the move section, that means nonmoves were received.

I believe I told you that I would have a set of house rules for you this month. Well, although I have the first draft done, I'm not yet done with them. I should have them by next month.

Since next season is Winter, all you people do is send me your builds or removals. The due date is the 22nd of August. The reason for this is that you really shouldn't negotiate over builds or removals. I am glad to see Mike back, but I would like to see Doug move. And also, how about some PR's? They add some humor to an otherwise dreary game (especially if you are Turkey or Germany!). Till next month then, good bye.

Moscow, October 13, 1902 (From the Moscow Morning Star)-"Today the Russian High Command announced the following, the Russian Fleet in the Barents Sea having killed over 10,000 sharks is ready for new victories and conquest, and the Army in Warsaw is to stop killing all the Poles."

In answer to the British Press release in which the British said the Russian reported all their movements in the local press is true. The only catch is that it took the stupid British spy 3 months to find it when it was on the front page.

From the outer reaches of the country it has been reported that 1,000,000 people were killed when the English set off a gas shell."

According to our man in Moscow, the million Russians died a horrible death. The clever English apparently dropped a can of Right Guard near some school children who were playfully torturing an Austrian POW with a red hot poker. One of the young people poked the can, which caused it to explode, and it spewed forth its deadly contents. The Russians died like flies.

-----Sillyman Beware-----

Budapest, December 14, 1902-A public press release was made today by dictator Ben Goss in answer to Sillymans requests. Dictator Goss was very publicly quoted as saying, "Up yours buddy! Besides if it wasn't for you ordering me to stay out of my own provinces (Bohemia and Galicia) and the Russian attacks upon my home provinces (Galicia) I wouldn't have to come down there and beat the shit out of you! Sillyman if you don't quit making demands that are silly and totally prevented your going to find a very angry tyrannical aggressor leaving size 16 foot prints all over your body."

The above was given as it was received from the Austrian news agency, Goss.

THE RABBLEASIAN GAZETTE

(Official state newspaper of the People's Republic of Rabbleasian issued under the authority and complete scrutiny of Governor-General "Ewana" Bill Roche, as authorized by the powers vested to him from His Majesty, Rollo the Wonderful, King of the Eskimos and Emperor of New Jersey. This magazine is the sole property of anyone who's nuts enough to claim it. Any resemblance to any person, either living or dead, is completely uncoincidental, and law suits can be refered to our beloved editor in California.)

Jubbulpore, Rabbleasian: Your progressive leader (that's me) wishes to introduce a new innovation to THE JOURNAL concerning builds. From now on, with each fall turn I would like to ask you to send in conditional builds. List them in order of preference, putting in extras, just in case you get an extra, unexpected build. Also, if there is even a remote chance of your losing a unit, list those you deem least important under "Removals." Same for retreats. I realize this might be an inconvenience to some of you; you'll have to be part swam, but if all you birds co-operate, you can see all the builds, retreats and removals the instant you get the magazine. This, I believe, is good compensation for using a little foresight. If there is a lot of genuine concern and opposition to this procedure, let me know about it and I'll bury the whole thing. Also, if you want this let me know. Majority will rule. So please, vote either pro or con.

Builds this turn will be due August 17, 1971, or four days after I receive this mag. In other words, as soon as you get THE JOURNAL, send me your builds. I'm going to handle missed moves differently. If you don't send in your builds, I'll build them for you. Armies will be built for all nations except Japan and England, who will get fleets. For those countries who have a choice of building in either Europe or Asia, you will get your builds in Europe. Again, this applies only to people who miss their builds. Send your vote, "pro or con" with your builds this month. (Ben, I have your builds.)

Press Releases; Game IX

London, September 17, 1901: The Prime Minister relieved Sir Kenneth Bulwerlytton as governor of Singapore for messing up British Far Eastern Policy. Admiral Doyle was also removed for trying to take the fleet up the middle of Thailand. The new fleet commander is Admiral Bligh, who the King hopes will straighten the mess out. (This gang, is tragic news to us Admiral Doyle fan club members. We can only hope that popular opinion will bring him back.)

Rome, September 25, 1901: Prime Minister Schaeferino explained that Italy's main objective in Africa, other than taking it, was to crack down on "the barbaric slave trade," calling the trade "the lowest form of commerce." Concluding, the PM cracked his whip, and his 500 "servants" pulled his personal barge up the Tevere. (Note: Only excerpts were printed of Schaeferino's speech as he doesn't speak to well, and what was understandable was probably another attack on the head man of Austria-Hungary. His speech was laced with them, and I chose not to print those phrases which usually suggested that Mr. Austria commit a physically impossible feat.)

Calcutta, October 2, 1901: Rajah Brucehamed the Gletty has put a "sound-proof curtain" around the whole of India. He gave no reason, but ordered all foreign reporters out of the country. Through reports from refugees who have fled into Tibet, we get some information as to what is going on. Numerous tales confirm that the infamous Prince Black Hole of Calcutta has successfully bred a "dynifant", which is a hybrid cross between an elephant and a stick of dynamite. The result is a beast with a head that explodes on contact. The other hybrid, on the other side of the scale, was a stick of dynamite with a tail and trunk, or "elemite". While the "dymifant" will be a beast of war, there has not yet been any calls for explosives with tails and trunks from the demolition industry. (Warning: this is what happens when you guys don't write enough press releases, I write some. And the government forces me to say that the surgeon general has determined that reading my press releases is dangerous to your health.)

Rome, October 9, 1901: The Madman of the Mediterranean expresses the desire to hear from the French, before there isn't an Italy to write to. "I never liked Venice anyway," he said with a sob.

Retreat: Italy's army Venice goes to Tuscany.
Moves are due August 26.

The reason Turkey's Fleet Con-Bul doesn't work is because he didn't specify East or South Coast, and could have moved to both. Unfortunately, I am powerless to change such picky rules, and am their slave. (Zass)

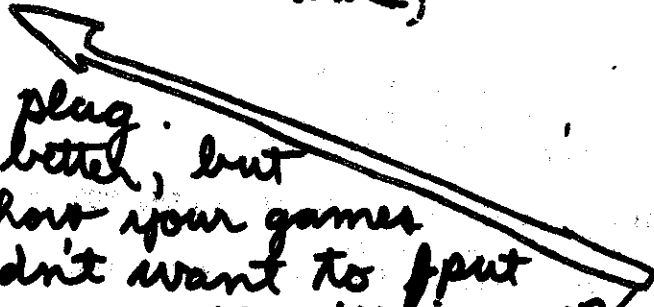

Burton Labelle's address is now: 146 Elm Street, Saco, Maine 04072.

My hat's off to you; you all moved. Keep it up. Thought for the summer:
Early to bed and
Early to rise,
Makes a man fuzzy and disazy;
Surprise.

Editor's note: It is stuff like this that leads me to believe that all our friends from Conn. have just been picked from the tree.

(WWII)

I gave you a plug.
Sorry its not better, but I'm not sure how your games work and I didn't want to put my foot in my mouth. Write a paragraph and send it to me and I will put it in next month. Would you plug The Journal please? I might now I am too busy to get into your games.
Sorry. Maybe I can get in them later. Best of luck with them though. They sound very interesting.
