Press releases:

LONDON: Mr. Burke today gave his reasons for his declaration of war:
1. The general overbearing and desperate ambition of the French faction. 2. The actual attacks on every nation in Europe. 3. The mischiefs attending the prevalence of their system, which would make the success of their ambitious designs anew and peculiar species of clamity in the world. 4. Their notorious attempt to undermine the constitution of this country. 5. Their murder of their sovereign, declared by most of the members of the convention who spoke with their vote (without a disavowal from any) to be perpetrated, as an example to all kings, and a precedent for all subjects to follow.

PARIS (DWE): Reserches here indicate that the Mr. Burke so wont to criticize the French government in Parliament these days is over 183 years old. It is then of less concern to us that he should criticize us so harshly than that anyone should listen to him.

Press Releases:

LONDON: (July 19) The war ministry, having successfully concluded the campaign for the liberation of Denmark, is now conducting operations aimed at the liberation of the Kingdom of the Netherlands from the black clutch of German militarism. Fear not, peoples of Holland, The Forces of Freedom are on their way to liberate you!

OTTAWA: (July 27) A high level conference held here today between British and Canadian representatives disclosed that the Canadian peoples have no stomach for the ugly bheer war that continues to rage unabated across the North American continent. It seems that most of the good water (and bheer) in Canada has been contaminated by that filthy American stuff. If something is not done soon it is feared that Canada will soon succumb to this most hideous form of chemical warfare.

LONDON: (July 28) The British PM today announced that England would greatly increase its aid to Canada. The British First Army will be dispatched immediately, and work is being stepped up on a new compound that will neutralize the terrible American bheer and turn it into harmless swamp water (relatively less harmless anyway).

WARSAW: Under a pre-dawn bombardment the First White Army landed on the beaches of Kiel Bay. Supported by the First Northern Squadron and British Marines, the King's Guardmen (Swedish elite troops) secured the towns of Kiel and Eckernforde before local units of the German Home Army arrived from Hamburg. After clearing the area of enemy troops the bulk of the army advanced toward the Dutch border to assist the British Navy in the capture of Antwerp. This brilliant military maneuver was accredited to General Gorman Beyerlov.

VIENNA: Italy, you will get it back if and only if no offensive moves were made against the Austrian Empire by your troops and the province of Tyrolia was evacuated on this move. Otherwise:

1. Tyrolia must be evacuated no later than March, 1904.
2. Tunis and Naples must be ceded to Austria, and Venice made an Austrian protectorate.
3. The Italian armed forces must be reduced to one army, solely for national internal use.
4. The Italian conquests must be returned to their rightful owners, in the case of France by not later than March, 1904.
