PRESS RELEASES

Rome, Sept. 19: Today the king made one of his rare public appearances and speeches in Rome today. As thousands of his beloved followers watched in awe, he spoke out on the dangers that surround the Italian people and urged national unity and strength in these trying times. In particular, he criticized Austria-Hungary for leading Italy into a war with Turkey and then conveniently leaving Italy to fight alone. He also attacked Austrian demands for military assistance against the Russians. The Austrian-Hungarian Minister, after hearing of this, asked for an audience with the King, but was refused.

After thoroughly denouncing Austria, our beloved King, then turned to criticizing Turkey and France. He accused France of warmongering and treaty breakage, and demanded immediate withdrawal of French forces in the Mediterranean. He then attacked Turkish foreign policy, describing His Impotence as a "Bearded Bandit without a beard". He declared that with the help of Pope Pussell Rowell, the Italian Fleet would destroy Turkey and all other enemies.

Rome, Oct. 2: News came today from the Italian Foreign Office that Italy has declared war on Austria. This statement was no surprise, as tensions had been building for months, but still it has caused much alarm in Foreign Capitals. The King made this statement; "The Austrians have pushed us too far, now we must fight!"

Venice, Oct. 3: All of Austria was shocked by the announcement of the war with Italy. Though Italy had been a staunch ally, they have been threatening war for some time. Now we hope to give it to them in unlimited quantities. Barf on you, King Mikul I!!!

Venice, Oct 5: After being recalled from their annual visit to Munich for the Oktoberfest, the Austrian General Staff has drawn up plans for war against Italy. They are planning on aid from France and Turkey. To their surprise, the Turks agreed to break a peace pact with Italy and join us in this war against aggression. Sultan Omar and King Mikul, Is there NO honor among thieves??

August 11, 1903 (Moscow--via Paris): Chief Pucker to the Czar, Pharley Piercon was given a verbal lashing after he had the gall to appear in a commercial for an American Product. Piercon saw no harm in saying "Flavoris gave him more Pucker Power."

August 14, 1903 (Rome--via Marseilles) Dumbfounded, as usual, Crowned Prince Mikul Murrall was crowned king by the pope after the death of his father. The death certificate listed the cause of death as natural--Fell from Tower of Pisa, blindfolded, gagged and tied from neck to ankle.

Dec. 25, 1903 Eifel Tower, Paris, France: The Comptess de Caquet held her 3rd annual ball and Noel Rogy in the city of Lights this evening. Heads of state from all over Europe and the world were in attendance. Envoy Prithurd was his typical sober self and only fell off the tower threetimes! For those guests who wanted to get higher than the tower, German Diplomat Herr Cote and Harvard Professor Timmie Querrie were selling joints and ref'ers on the highest pinnacle. His Impotence Sultan Omar II was doing his thing on the Arc de Truimphe, making whatever Truimph he could. (There arn't too many street walkers out on Christmas day.) Guru Georgee Filee was giving a speech on Tracendentalism, but as usual no one listened. Crowned Prince Mikul Murrall was fighting off the sea gulls all day, the last we saw of him was an extended right arm from a 25 foot mound of guano. Cabinet Minister Leo La Cupcake and the Comptess were having their own private meeting in the middle of the Champs' Elysee. "Disgusting!" said Austrian official Sigmund Prude, Alfred Von Butt and J. Edgar Schulehof. "We'll just drop over to the Russian Embassy and visit Ambassador Rosmenko. After all Vienna isn't the only gay city in the world!"

Cardiff, Wales (7 July 1903) (SNIFF): "You guys had better help me now or else big bad Germany and nasty old France will get you!" Sure, HM, now you want aid from the Tsar, Franz Josef, the Crowned Prince, even the filthy Turk! We wonder where the British Ambassadors were in 1901...(Now it's Italy's turn to 'catch it".)

EXCLUSIVE INTERVIEW

Smyrna, Turkey (29 Sept. 1903)(AP): The brightest star on the Military Horizon of Europe today is the one-eyed Levantine Genghis Cohen, General-Admiral of all Turkish Armed Forces, by appointment of Sultan Omar II. General-Admiral Cohen granted an exclusive interview to us, the text of which follows:

"General-Admiral Genghis Cohen is the name on every..."

"Hey, Keed! Call me Moshe, I don't like formality."

"Okay, Moshe. When you assumed command the Turks were in poor shape, now they're solidly placed and ready to go over to the offensive from the looks of things..."

"Sure thing! Turks are tough--all they need is a guy with moxie and brains running the show, ME."

"Yess, well, about your first name, 'Genghis', is that for..."

"The Mongol, you bet! But you see it's only a nick name really."

"A nickname? How did you get it?"

"Ever read history? Temujin would pile up heads if a city resisted his advance, Me, I don't go for that kind of stuff, When these Gentiles resist ol' Ghenghis Cohen, we simply smash resistance, line up the prisoners and circumsize them! Put 'em on the right path and makes a dandy pile of fore..."

"Thank you, General-Admiral, for your time."

EVEN BANGS LESLIE TAPSCOTT REFUSES TO HAVE ANYTHING TO DO WITH GRAUSTARK!

BILL MCDUFFIE SUFFERS FROM BOARDMANS' SYNDROME... HE'S SIC, SIC, SIC!

Xanadu, Turkey (3 Nov. 1903) (TPI): Sultan Omar I, the merciful and beneficent Light of Ahism, has announced special aid to the head of the Austrian State. Said his Omnipotence: "After reading the Viennese press release dated June 1, 1903 what else could we do but send a Psychiatrist and a ghost writer. Poor old Franz Josef is really gone if that's the best he can come up with!"

GRAUSTARK'S EDITOR BREAKS LONG TRADITION, TELLS IT LIKE IT IS, APPLAUDS HONESTY (excerpts from comments by John Boardman in Graustark #192 on a letter by Gary Gygax appearing in Verbal Chaos, Ltd. #14)

ASSASSIN ESCAPES

Vienna, Austria (Dec. 23, 1901) (AVCL): The Austrian Intelligence Agency was forced to admit that one of the recently captured British spy ring members had escaped custody almost immediately. Chief of the AIA, Count Von Kevenstadion irately denied that stupidity, carelessness or bumbling had anything to do with the escape: "That Exlax is speedy, that's all, and we weren't fast enough on our feet to make it to the WC (Warning Controls) before he'd acted. Now we have our...er...hands full. Frankly, I must admit that it is doubtful if we will take Exlax again."

Paris, France, Jan. 1, 1902: At a news conference today, King Louis made a momentous announcement. Said the King: "People of France, today marks the beginning of a new order. The world will know it as S.T.U.P.I.D. (Stupied things undertaken phor intimidation, duh...). We shall bring the new order to the peoples of the world if necessary, by force." The King usually noted for his famous oratories, did not elaborate.

Constantinople, Turkey--Jan. 7, 1902-- A total of 300 Austrian spies have been captured here since the first of the month. The group, specially trained by Count Willie Von Fluffy was easily caught due to their offensive use of the Turkish language. It seems they only speak in the genital...er..genitive case. Trial will begin Monday but children under 16 will not be admitted.

Damascus, Syria--Feb. 2, 1902: The 1902 Winter Olympics were brought under way here today. The chill temperature of 80 degrees was the coldest yet reported in Damascus. The atmosphere was festive(if the Turkish guards, machine guns and barbed wire were ignored) and gay(among the Austrians at least). The most exciting event was the ski jump made even more exciting by the fact that there was no snow. As no country volunteered to jump first, the Austrians were volunterred by the Turkish Olympic Committee. As the Austrians seemed reluctant, the Turkish guards helpfully hurled the entire Austrian team over the 350 foot cliff. As all other nations withdrew from the competition the gold medal was awarded to the sole survivor Hienz Blech. Total casualties were 99 Austrians and two Austrailian spectators with speach impediments. All Europe now looks forward to the Summer Olympics, to be held in Murmansk Russia.

Vienna, Austria (Apr. 10, 1902): Austrian agents of the Austrian Secret Service have reportedly penetrated the inner precincts of Italy's Foreign Office in Rome and successfully transmitted WOP Top secret information to their superiors in Vienna. The 347 page document smuggled from Italy outlined Italy's foreign policies in depth. The most amazing revelation of the manuscript revealed that Italy and England, who have "a very strong alliance" were in discussion of war plans in "teh forthcoming was against France." The English fleet in London is to move to the English Channel, supported by Fleet North Atlantic, while the English Army in the north of England was to move south to London in readiness to convoy! Austrian spokesman said later that "It is hoped England will not undertake such a foolish maneuver...the consequences would be very dire indeed in the cause of world peace." The spokesman went on to say the Austrian diplomats were even now in council with Lord Dudley and o ther top English statesman, in an attempt to dissuade them from this most egregious error.

Belgrade, (Feb. 7, 1902) An ominous reign of terror has begun with a series of mysterious and hideous cases of murder and rape. Austrian Secret Service agent J. Wilfred Miodaffy was, as usual, baffled. After a great deal of investigation all that could be found in common among the crimes were the letters V.D. etched on the foreheads of the victims.

Somewhere in Rumania(Feb. 17, 1902) Heinous crimes were the rule throughout Rumania this week as numerous cases of homicide were reported with the same symbol V.D. enblazoned on the victims' foreheads!

Paris, France (Mar. 17, 1902) All of Europe is in a state of panic as the mysterious V.D. murders have traveled to Belgium, Greece, Italy, France and last night-- to Amsterdam. Even during these times of war police all over Europe are working together.

Berlin, Germany (Mar, 31, 1902): Tonight a most blood curdling and frightening sound was heard on Marconi's wireless, what few such sets do exist. Through the garble and crackle the following baratone voice was heard: "I am the voice of doom. Europe shall cringe at the sound of my name! Soon I and the victorious armies I represent shall Triumph over Europe. All the world shall be under the curse of V.D.!"

Geneva, Switzerland (April 1, 1902) Heads of all the governments of Europe met today in one common cause, to wipe out V.D. on the continent! In a closed session they appointed their best agents to fight this evil foe. They were given the code name of Penny Silons, champions of justice!

London, England (May 11, 1902): Alfred Lord Dudley met with British agents headed by Geodfrey Laklopka, who had escaped from a Viennese prison a week ago. During the meeting Austrian Count Willie Von Fluffy burst into the room and attempted to assassinate Laklopka. Luckily it was an Austrian fire are and it exhibited typical Austrian craftsmanship and pride and exploded, wounding Von Fluffy. No comment was forthcoming from British officials.

Lake Geneva, Wis. U.S.A. (May 30, 1902): Cnidarian specialist and American Ambassador Polyp N. Chardprit was called on by Alfred Lord Dudley to help Britain in a secret mission. Charprit did not want to leave the convention he was attending but Phoney Morale of Italy and Turkish emisary Akbar ahmed Pulp persuaded him to leave. Just as they were about to go the body of their host, Larry Guygax, was found murdered in his home with the letters V.D. on his forehead.

Vienna, Austria (June 27, 1902): In a daring escape from the city jail, which required intricate planning and timing E.G. Exlax, W D Cloyer, P.N. Preacher and S. Sunken were all successfully spirited out of the hands of the A.S.S. agent Wilfred Micdaffy. One of the group who freed the British and allied agents, Akbar ahmed Pulp was killed in the attempt. Everyone is specualting on the reason for so daring a maneuver!

London (June 29, 1902): Ambassador Polyp N. Chardprit, P.M. Alfred Lord Dudley and E.G. Exlax gave a full account of the mustery involving the Austrian escape. Exlax told that he and his fellow agents had uncovereda most sinister plot to overthrow all of Europe. "Although I was sure that Austrian agents played a large part in the plans, other powers must also have been in on it. The plan involved the use of an appointed killer who would use the code name of the "Voice of Doom." Their plan was to so terrify Europe so as to mask the movements and intents of their alliance until their armies had struck! So for all that was sure was that Austria was trying to play off the nations of Europe, one against the other so she could act as a free agent, supposedly friend to all but actually lurking and waiting her chance. Both Turkey and Italy-her first victims, have been warned, but it may be too late! Russia and Turkish forces and Italian nad French armies are so deeply embroiled that they may need proof of Austria's evil intent. We have it on good authority that Austria will strike at Turkey and move into Tyr..." The room was blacked out and a scream was heard. When they got the lights on again Polyp N. Chardprit was badly wounded and Exlax had given his all. V.D. had struck again!

From another room a page ran in telling Alfred Lord Dudley his only daughter Penelope had been kidnapped.

"Will there be no end to this!? I only pray the Penny Silons can wipe out this vicious V.D. Before we are all struck! Let us hope thatRussia and Turkey can find peace and that the home of these killers is sacked and burned!!" (Tune in next week sportsfans for the continuing episodes--good grief more of this B.S.-- of the Voice of Doom! Will Penny Silon save the fair Penelope from V.D.? Who is the evil Voice of Doom? Is it Count Hahnenburgelli? Is it Czar Conlonfski? What of Lord Dudley himself?? (Ed. note: I sure as heck hope that we find out soon--like the next issue--three pages of these Blasted news releases is too much!!!)

DIPLOMACY DIOCRACY
by Lucien L'Heureux

We will attempt to analyse((sic)) the physical attributes of the different countries on the Diplomacy board. Let me point out that these features are constant. The whims and fancies of players involved will either add or subtract to these fundamental conditions, but remember that they exist and differ widely from country to country. Let us begin with the nation which has perhaps the best geographical position defensively and the worst offensively.

ENGLAND

The understanding of the composite and surrounding features of a country is of prime importance in conducting the best battle possible and it also aids greatly in conducting diplomacy. England is surrounded by bodies of water; has two near neighbors, France and Germany. Also a remote neighbor, Russia. Note that England has a 1901 build expectancy of one. The North Sea and English Channel are a natural line of defense and attack. One of the big advantages is that England can only be invaded by or through the use of fleets. Such invasion can be detected easily enough by observing France's and Germany's fleet movements. This is also true with regard to Russia, whose northern fleets could pose a threat. Also, the nature of their builds and the locations also bear watching.

Fleets in Brest, and Kiel and/or St. Petersburg (N.C.) may indicate a storm coming up. Your diplomacy should aim at the discouraging of such builds, encouraging your neighbors to concentrate on armies. It is possible that France will need fleets in the Mediterranean in order to pursue a policy of British urged expansion in that area. Be sure to keep such fleets out of a "neutral" Mid-Atlantic. I am of the opinion that the moment England possesses four naval units she should prove a very tough nut to crack for any opponent--even a coordinated attack by France and Germany. The North Sea is the heart of England's defense. Without its possession you have what probably amounts to a dead country. At no time during the game should control of it be relinquished! Likewise, the Irish Sea is the rear door, and if France becomes too powerful you should take necessary measures to prevent her entry there. Attack from this body of water could disorganize your entire game plan, or worse, bring total defeat!

If the seas are England's ally it is also quite a burden for expansion plans. Let's examine the attack problem. You have to get supply centers. This means getting onto and into the continent or nibbling at its edges. HOW? Through beach heads. England has a natural one in Norway, but it is too far removed from the center point of action to serve as an entree into Europe, generally. Using it as such necessitates operations far away from critical areas. To keep a force there is fairly difficult but not impossible. Continued occupation of the North Sea and/ or English Channel is a must. Nibbling--taking Norway, Holland, Belgium, Brest, Spain, or Portugal--is workable but a risky strategy as you are too spread out and vulnerable.

Here, on a general basis, are the prerequisites of successful play for England:
1) aim early at two builds; 2) make them fleets 3) get that beach head 4) keep a close watch on your opponent's fleets before denuding any area 5) keep control and possession of North Sea and 6) reinforce your beach head as soon as possible.

Naturally, your diplomatic ability will affect these requirements.

An attack on England proper can usually be handled easily with only a pair of fleets at sea and two armies at home. Liverpool and Yorkshire, both bordering on four of your six home provinces, are key areas for defensive armies. Although all English provinces have sea coasts, they border on only five bodies of water.

A word to the wise: An English-Italian alliance should be sought, while hostilities between Germany and France are promoted. An Italian army in Piedmont will more or less hamstring France and discourage any belligerent attitude toward you. It will also make it easier to acquire Belgium. If you can get German consent, after all it helps them in their struggle against France! or even their support it is so much the better for you.

Remember, England is in an excellent defensive position, but she must gain supply centers as early as possible if she hopes to win. Above all, guard that North Sea at all times.

Announcing new Diplomacy magazine!

Starting at once a new Diplomacy magazine will take applications for game positions. LD is overloaded now, so we need another place for IFW games. BRONTOSAURUS will be published by Len Lakofka, 1806 N. Richmond St. Chicago 60647 Rates will be $4.00/game, $3.50 for NFFF or IFW members, $3.00 for members of NFFF and IFW. Anyone now playing in a current LD game will be given an extra 50¢ off their first BRONTO game. Subsequent games in BRONTO while the first game is in progress will be $1.00 off the above rates. LD house rules will be used.

Error in the house rules---correct your copy at once.

Rule number III 10 is null and void. It contradicts the rules of Diplomacy and is therefore illegal in LD. A NOTE ON DEADLINES! PLEASE SUBMIT CONDITIONAL ORDERS FOR RETREATS AND BUILDS WHENEVER THEY MAY BE NECESSARY. OBVIOUSLY WHEN THE GAME GETS COMPLEX THIS MAY BE IMPOSSIBLE, BUT FOR THE EARLY YEARS THERE IS NO GOOD REASON TO SLOW EVERYTHING TO A DEAD HALT DUE TO LACK OF COOPERATION.

Beginning next issue I will enforce strict deadlines. I am going back to college and I must type up masters when I have time, not when you decide to send in your move.

LD #6 one more player needed!

So far we have 6 players, Nicholas Maffeo, Tony Morale, Henry Krigsman, George Patton, Lewis Pulsipher and Ken Valentine. If you wish to play in this game please write me at once. Len Lakofka.

Press releases:

Cracow September 18, 1901

Imperial forces of the Dual Monarchy today relieved the besieged city of Cracow by destroying the invading Russian Army. The czarest hoards simply dropped their weapons and ran back across the border. Littering the site of the Russian encampment were ten muskets, eightly thousand farm implements, and four thousand five hundred lapel buttons stating: "Nicholas is a 'fun' czar".

Rome September 9, 1901 (IN)

Today the minister of defense, Julio LaLicata gave a brief news conference in which he set out the goals of the Italian people during this present European chrisis. "All Italians everywhere", he stated, "want to be, and should be part of the great nation that of the great nation that Italy is, this includes those of our comrades living in misery to the East. We of the government of Italy pledge ourselves to their cause."

Somewhere on the Austrian border, September 13, 1901

Is war coming? by Roberto Romvidi war correspondent for the Frieenze Daily Planet. Today I visited the mobilization centers for the 3rd Frieenze Bdg. The troops were in excellent spirits (and the spirits were excellent) they have not forgotten 1859 or 1866. Yes these troops would strike fear in the heart of any Austrian War can't be far off.

Constantinople (September 2, 1901) T.I.D.B.I.T.

A new sultan rules the Ottoman Empire. Hotan Humid, described from a long line of Ottoman officers and princes has grasped the reigns of power in a lightning coup. Empire military policy will probably remain unchanged, although it is believed that the new potentate has given guarantees to Russia that no Turkish forces will enter Russian soil without permission. Speculation now centers about Russian-Turkish treaty against Austria and the Dual Monarchs, Sktzi and Ophrenia

Ankara May 30 1901

A top ranked Austrian Spy was apprehended here last night while attempting to smuggle state secrets hidden in a bouquet of flowers. Because of the technique used, the agent is believed to be the notorious operator known to intelligence agencies as "La Wien Rose". Ironically, the stolen papers were plans.

Sofia July 14, 1901

Imperial Turkish forces entered Sofia today cheered by thousands of exultant citizens and hailed by Bulgaria's leaders as a "strong right arm to shield us against Austrian Aggressors. Several Austrian regiments were driven from the ground northwest of Sofia by 2 understrength brigades of Turkish infantry led by Major Mustafa Kemal. Mustafa Kamel, a fast rising young officer, was decorated on the field by army commander Hishasha Pasha, who declared his respect for the young major by stating "I'd walk a mile for my Kemal

((Tunis)) August 14, 1901

In spite of initial unrest upon learning of the outbreak of hostilities in Europe, Tunis has returned to a Smnolent state of Eupleoria. Tkhe typical attitude is best expressed as "contented acceptance of what Allah wills the future will bring", according to the Governor Ohapi Dey.

Extract from internal memo from minister of the Turkish interior. Effective immediately higher quality standards will be maintained in all waterfront establishments.. Topless or bottomless dancers must meed rigid physical standards. Additionally, so as not to violate the Koran's strictures against nudity, such dancers will be gilded with gold or other substances. In short "All the nudes that fit we paint." ((Oh the pain))
