

"All I could see was that somehow appearances were on my side—and who needs more than that? Give me the shadow every time, and you can keep the substance—it's a principle I've followed all my life, and it works, if you know how to act on it."

MIDLIFE CRISIS 23

February 1985

ON TIME, FOR A CHANGE

As promised, I am sticking as close to the deadlines as possible in getting the zine out, and into the mails. My work schedule for the Spring and summer seasons should be incredibly light, giving me time to indulge in hobby activities (as well as completing my 10-year transformation from British Historian to Blue Collar Unionist to Entrepreneur. This year, I should finally get myself a small business (still preferably a bar) or bust in the attempt.

MIDLIFE CRISIS is a publication of Paul G. Rauterberg, 4922 W. Wisconsin Avenue, Milwaukee, WI 53208. The phone number remains 414-778-0750. I can be reached mornings from 9-12, weekday evenings from 4-11 PM —excluding Thursday and Friday eves, when I'll be bartending, and Saturday eves, when I'll be out on the town.

Subscription prices will remain cheap at 10 for $5.00.

Omigosh, it's

...A Sincere apology to Steve Langley. In the last issue of MC, I mentioned Steve as having called Bruce Linsey a child molester in print. As well all know, it was Steve Arnawoodian who made that comment (I believe it was in Retaliation #30) and NOT Steve Langley. I don't know why I substituted one name for the other, but it was an oversight and not an attempt to libel Mr. Langley.

I hope Steve Langley can accept my honest regrets for this error, and I trust that it didn't cause him any undue embarrassment.

LETTERS TO MC

FROM ED MOSEL: I couldn't help but observe that you labelled by publication Feudesse (please note the correct spelling) "sick" on the front page of your somewhat sporadic Midlife Crisis. "Sick" is a rather strong word and I believe you owe me and your readers an explanation of Feudesse's purported illness. You addressed Olsen's letter briefly but in labelling the entire publication diseased, you imply much more than a simple word or hangnail."

((I once heard Konrad Baumeister mention a German term which translates to "Happiness over Damage." Specifically, it refers to people who enjoy inflicting, and wallowing in, pain. I consider Feudesse to exist solely as a forum for those who wish to perpetuate and exacerbate the Byrne/Linsey Feud. It serves no constructive purpose that I can detect, although I guess its contributors feel that there are kicks to be gotten out of it (maily to Linsey's groin). A case in point: in that issue which you sent me, there appeared an "interview" with Bruce Linsey, written by Steve Langley. This prompted Linsey to write another piece of satire called "An evening at Byrnecon."

The whole crux of the matter is this: almost everyone wants Bruce to stop writing that stuff, and then they proceed to further egg him on with each issue of Feudesse, Bad Puppy, etc. Why don't we just declare a moratorium on the whole thing—the accusation by Bruce that Kathy threatened to declare his games in VO irregular; the accusation by Kathy that Bruce wrote an obscene letter to her daughter; the scuttlebut about Bruce and Bill Highfield and Alex Lord—the whole thing. If Bruce's attackers are willing to shut up, I will be happy to ask Bruce to shut up as well (and if he doesn't, I'll be the first to chastize him). Fair enough?)

FROM JOHN DANISO: In a past Whitesonia or Foot in Mouth or 2, I said some unnecessary things about you in print. I'm not talking about my comments on what you actually wrote, but on my assumptions of what you meant and what you were trying to do (sort of coloring a picture). Whether or not my assumptions were accurate, they were unnecessary. Please accept my apologies.

((Accepted. John and I, in private correspondence, are trying very hard to get to understand one another. I think both of us have flown off the handle on more than one occasion (such as the time I said, in VOD 98, that I "knew" Kathy had threatened to declare Bruce's games irregular." What I should have said was "it doesn't matter what she threatened or didn't threaten, as long as she didn't follow through on the threat." I'll apologize for not being clearer on that point.))

INDECENT PRESS

THE WALL TO QUIRK: Dear Enemy, Thank for all the kind words you said about me to the others. It's nice to know you care so much about my health and welfare. Hope the operation to remove the stick ~~from~~ ~~my~~ ~~ear~~ goes OK. I'd hate to lose your English position to someone who knows how to play the game. Love and kisses, The Wall.

MOSCOW TO QUIRK: Oh, yes. Of course. The same Quirk that Frush and Wall recommended to me as a "great ally" and "good friend." Of course!

ROME: I haven't used these moves since the LAST time I lost as Italy!

UNK MO TO ROME: Oh, you mean you make a habit out of losing as Italy!

ARMY TRIESTE (FORMERLY VIENNA) TO VENICE: We have been stationed here for self-defense. Remember, suspicion is a professional courtesy.

MOSCOW TO VIENNA: Galicia to help ME? Well, I want to go to Gal to help support you into Budapest in the Fall.

ROME TO VIENNA: Just dancing....

AUSTRIAN GOVERNMENT TO ROME: We are still set in our desire for friendly relations between our nations and see no cause for perfidy.

VIENNA TO WORLD: Austria has watched with horror as tension grows among European capitals. We feel Armageddon may soon arrive. In response to this, the Serbian and Albanian governments have requested our troops' presence to insure the safety of their people and leaders. Unfortunately, the same desire to promote peace cannot be attributed to other tyrannical, expansionist, empirical powers who shall go nameless.

ROME TO WORLD: R. Sweenywicki once again assumes the throne of small yet strategic Italy. He wishes to assure the neighbors North, South, East, and West of his infinite wisdom, sharp knife, and fanatic hordes (ready to succumb at his command).

THE FATTED PRESS

PONTIAC--UPI--A 42 year old man was today kidnapped from his efficiency apartment. His wife said 2 men with heavy accents had talked to her husband before he was snatched. The conversation went like this:
1st Man: You, Anderson, eh?
2nd man: You used to sub to a Canadian zine?
ANDERSON: Yes, but that was when I was only 22 and what does that have to do with you guys?
CANADIANS: Well, we need some one of low mental capacity to lead us and you happened to be the first one on the mailing list.
ANDERSON: But, I don't want to.
CANADIANS: We're sorry, but that can't be helped and we will give you your sub money back?
ANDERSON: Well...
And at that moment he was dragged away without being able to utter another word.

WARSAW TO AFRICA: All I want is a small piece of the pie.

MUSICAL LLAMA TO GREAT GOD OF MUSIC: Trick Question: It's one of the great ones...A JFK memorial album put out a few weeks after his assassination sold over 10 million copies in a week...but that's not really a musical question, so we'll give you another shot.

In these days of Prince and Michael Jackson, it is hard to remember just how racist the musical industry used to be (actually not, MTV, with the above exceptions, is still mostly lily white). Anyway, many groups made careers out of covering great tunes by black artists who remained relatively unknown among the general public because they weren't "playable." Quicksilver Messenger Service was somewhat appropriately named (although they weren't all that fast) for bringing the tunes (and best of one of these great artists) to all of those sexually frustrated white boys. Name him and at least two of the covered tunes.

GREAT GOD OF MUSIC: Shit, the only Quicksilver songs I even remember are "Mona", and "Pride of Man." You got me stumped this time.

EGYPT TO PERU: Wait til Wall stabs YOU viciously, and you might agree with Quirk.

WARSAW TO ASIA: See Africa.

WARSAW TO UNK MD: Why do I feel all I'm going to get is Brad's two front teeth?

PERU TO NEW CANADA: Mexico, huh? Now I've got you right where I want you....

PERU TO US OF CANADA: I guess you get to run free. Canada wants me to give him BC back, but it's not mine to give. Good luck.

INDECENT PRESS, concluded

SILESIA: I sure hope I'm empty this spring.

VIENNA TO ST PETERSBURG: May your borscht be eternally red.

VIENNA TO BERLIN: We wish to extend our sincerest offers of friendship to the Aryan peoples.

MOSCOW TO PARIS: Cold up there?

RUSSIA: James Hall

TURKEY: J. Taylor Washburn til Fall '02; Neil Kiercz

There were no endgame statements submitted. I guess James said it all when he stabbed Austria so effectively in Fall 1985. The stab seemed to take all the fight right out of John Kador, who never made much of an effort to resist Russian advances after that time. England played for a strong second place finish, never appearing to seriously put a stop to Russian expansion.

David and Michael will each be getting their $3 MM deposits back; James' $5 covers part of his $10 deposit in another game. Don Swartz gets $2.5M, having been fined for one MM.
