

version 1, number 36.

With that, it has been traditional in postal Diplomacy that a game be played out to the bitter end wherein one player gets the control of more than half of the supply centers and is, by the rules WRITTEN IN THE RULEBOOK the undisputed winner of the game.

In N.B., I have a pair of problem games wherein continuation to such a conclusion is possibly not the best solution to man's worldly ills. In the first case, we have 1967 LIA, the team game between the MFM and the LIA. Rod Walker has advised me that the MFM has been broken up do th the transfer of its personell away from Turkey. I therefore declare that game to be OVER.

CENTRE-YEAR CHART:

LIA		Citizens of the Diplomacy world, WOULD YOU deem credible
ENGLAND (TURNER)*	4	that this game has been incompetently lost by the LIA
GERMANY (DEGERT)	3	in only one year? I have no choice but to declare the
ITALY (BAILLY)	4	MFM winners, as it was possible to obtain orders from the LIA players only under extreme duress (now, that's MFM		a grammatical blunder I can't get away from. And that's
FRANCE (WALKER)*	3	another!) only after I'd had MFM orders for at least two
AUSTRIA (SIMON)	6	weeks. The MFM deserve their win, a brilliant victory
RUSSIA (PIRCK)	5	over three slovenly clods without a single 'von' among their names...

LUSITANIA ONE. over the months, the three remaining players who are NOT in a position to win the game have asked me to discontinue this one. So why not? Is it against the rules to agree on a winner in an across-the-board game when the participants must leave to pursue other matters? and so forth.

Therefore, we declare LUSITANIA ONE to be finished and done with. A Centre-year chart followth...

	1901	1902	1903	1904	1905	1906
AUSTRIA (von NETZKE)	4	6	7	8	28	48	= M.U. attempt to narrow the ERNOR GAP!
ENGLAND (REISEL)	5	4	4	4	3	3
FRANCE (BRAEMAN)	4	4	5	4	5	4
GERMANY (BOGERT)	6	7	7	8	8	8
ITALY (McCALLUM)	4	3	3	2	1	1

In following the game through its curiosities and contortions, I have found some very curious situations, in both Bernie Kling's gamesmastering, and in my own. I recommend that nobody even try to follow the intricacies involved, but merely accept the table above as final gospel of the game. Talk about errors. Bernie Kling made errors in reporting the game. I made errors in reporting the game. On top of that, when John Boardman and John McCallum sent me transcriptions of the progress of the game, their transcriptions of the moves had errors! I humbly (and cringingly) suggest that the game be buried. HOWEVER, making the best of a poor situation, I will insist that Conrad von Netzke be credited with a well-earned victory.

By the way, there are certainly errors in the chart above.

WARSAW-The Supreme Anarch today held a press conference in which he denounced Napoleon Dygertewski and the French for taking advantage of the strike to seize the historically Russian city of Kiel. [Scha-Blackleg! Journal] Strikebreakers!

In related news, the anarch described the strike as "totally successful" "We have won..." he said. After the second shift of newsmen had been seated, he said "... the forty minute week in all industries."

At this point, the Csar's secret police, led by I. Igor Boovrik, burst into the press room with a warrant for the Anarch's arrest on a charge of rebelling without a police permit. They were unable to arrest the anarch due to a technicality:the judge involve had taken 43 minutes to swear out the warrant, and he had not dream overtime.

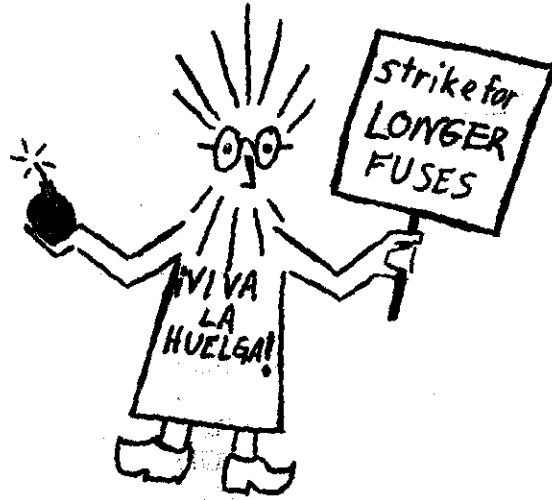

PARIS: AAAARRRRUUUUUGHHHHHHHHH!!!!
Kiel ??? RUSSIAN????? I'M DOOMED!!!
...N.DYBERTEVSKI.

1967:08-a pressing note...

CLYDE: The Supreme Anarch, in a surprise visit to this universe, joined demonstrators picketing the Royal Naval Weapons Station here. The picketers were unharmed as Clyde vigilantes were carrying on a full-scale war with newsmen.

The Supreme Anarch carried a sign that said "Brian Bailey, remember 1967G! Military police, believing the sign to be code signal dealing with sabotage, immediately arrested a young employee who was loading photon torpedoes on munitions ships. The employee, whose name has been withheld for security reasons, has been convicted on charges of subversion and of criminal pacifism and of knowing known revolutionaries...

Authorities were unable to arrest the Supreme Anarch, as he is fictional...

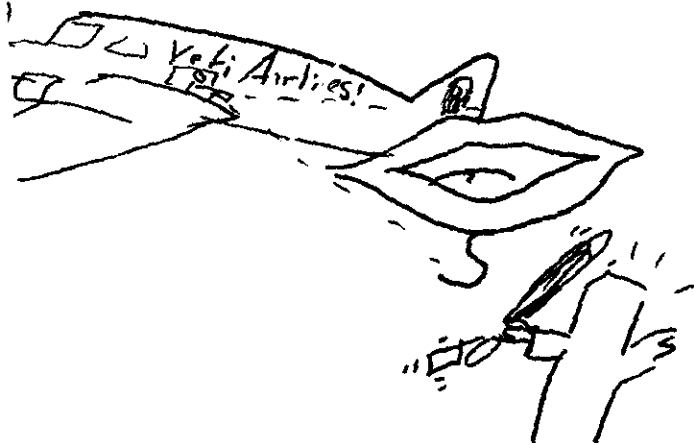

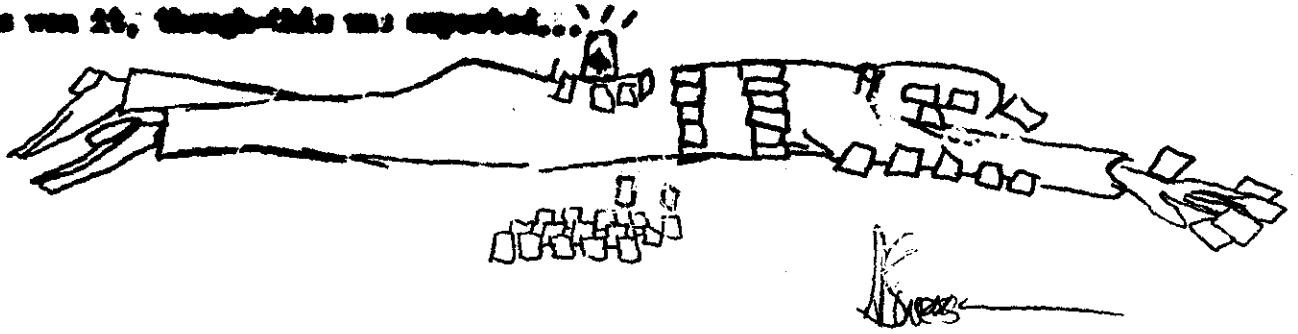

As we mentioned on one of the banners earlier in the issue, LARRY PERRY is Now With Us in civilisation. We all find this quite jolly, really.

Actually, Larry's arrival presented us with a couple of problems. We had to send Bailey and Turner to the airport-they're the only ones who know his face, and the sole photo of the boy is totally unusable: his mouth is closed...((Dygart thinks the photographer rendered him into an unconscious state for that shot))

Curiously, I was involved into playing cards...

The cards won it, though this was expected...

THE ESSENTIAL PERRY WAS PROJECTED EVEN BEFORE HE LEFT THE AIRPLANE!

At this point, French troops began to move on the Anarch, but as they advanced, they came into conflict with Russian Secret Police, who had infiltrated into the city with the express purpose in mind of arresting the Anarch. Amid cries of "He's mine!", "No, He's mine, Frenchies!" "It's our city!" "We had it before you did!" "MYEASHHH!", and several shots, the Supreme Anarch made good his escape...

Confusion, as ever, reigned sovereign.

press section.....

CONSTANTINOPLE: The Sultan emerged from the seclusion of His harem to make a few unnecessary comments on the current state of European affairs. "Ho hum", He stated, "It appears that France once again is about to walk over everyone in sight. We warned Austria of this very thing at the start of the game, but the Hapsburg Monarchy insisted on war. So, they got war. Lots of it. (Is it true that mental weakness is hereditary in that family?) Now the Hapsburgs know that We Turkish Sultans keep Our word. We promised to destroy Austria, and We have. Please note, dear Infidel Pigs, that it was Our War Ministry that drafted the plans that resulted in the fall of Vienna and Budapest. So there!" The Sultan also explained that Russia is doomed-"It is also unfortunate that Russia is doomed to fall before the French attack. As long as there was hope of stopping France, We cast our lot with Russia. Now it is clear where victory shall rest the laurel crown, We choose to align Ourselves with that side."

MOSCOW-Word has arrived from French held Berlin that the Supreme Anarch is organizing the German underground for resistance against the French imperialists. A strike has already been called by the Dwarves, Gnomes, and Subway Workers' Union local 73. Basement Sweepers' local 32 has gone out in a sympathetic strike. Signs of discontent are appearing all over the capital. Everywhere there are scrawled on fences and in restrooms: "Liberty, Equality, Fraternity, Anarchy!" "Frenchy Go Home," "Would You Let Your Daughter Marry A Frenchman?" "Napoleon Belongs In A Pastry Shop" "Stop Bombing Gondor!" "Abolish Your Local Dictator"

In a speech on a street corner, the Supreme Anarch said: "Comrads! This looks like it will be a long, cold winter with the forces of oppression in control of your city. We shall fight the French aggressors with all our might. There will be a class tonight on how to make good bombs with only things found in every kitchen!"
