What, TWO GAME STARTS?!

Did you ever have the feeling that you were being, well, WATCHED? That some THING was observing your EVERY move, noting your EVERY action, searching for JUST the right moment to do WHO knows WHAT? If you have, then, according to leading members of the psychiatric profession, you're a complete paranoiac. That aside, sit back and enjoy this issue 91 of Life Of Monty from Don Del Grande, 142 Eliseo Drive, Greenbrae, CA 94904-1339, phone (415) 461-2692, but only between 5 PM and 11 PM (Pacific time) (maybe a little later on Friday and Saturday nights). That is, enjoy it while you have the chance...

MONTY'S NEWS AND COMMENT is brought to you by whoever it is broadcasting that same letter OVER and OVER again at 4302.5 kHz. Could it be THEM?

I'm always the last to know. It wasn't that long ago that Pete and Kat Tamlyn (of The Acolyte) got married, was it? (Married twice, as I recall; they wanted a Pagan rite, but her parents wanted a church wedding.) Anyway, I pick up the latest Excitement City Unlimited, and... "Pete and Kat Tamlyn are now the proud parents of Marc John". Neverthenonetheless, Pete was the first European Lifer, so this event earns a FULL LOM CANNON SALUTE:

POP

Well, what did you expect on such short notice?

It's always good to see another 'zine that doesn't stick to Diplomacy and its variants (although the "MNC Under The Covenant" seems to think that just about any multi-player game is a Diplomacy variant; I, for one, fail to see too much similarity between Diplomacy and Civilization). PROTOZOAN, published by Scott Cameron (4 Meadow Lane, Hicksville, NY 11801-5304), currently runs games in Kingmaker, Kremlin (both regular and Revolution versions), Pax Britannica, and something which appears to be Conquistador (which isn't being made anymore). Scott is looking for players to play Kremlin, Pax Britannica, Merchant of Venus and Magic Realm. (Perhaps he can do better in running MR than Roy Henricks and Dick Martin have done?) The sub cost isn't listed on the latest issue (#52), but the Zine Register says that it's about 45 cents per issue and it comes out every three weeks. It's also quite small (#52 was 4 legal-size pages) and warehouse (no letters, no news, just games).

RUNESTONE POLL: Yes, it's that time of year again. All you have to do is to follow the instructions on the ballot (there's one included in this issue) and mail it to Bruce Linsey, P.O. Box 1334, Albany, NY 12201, or Eric Brosius, 41 Hayward Street, Milford, MA 01757. Note that the deadline "will probably be about the end of June", so that Bruce can announce the results at DIPCON if he attends. If he attends CAN-CON instead, the deadline may be extended through July so he can announce the results there. There's also an announced policy of "simply not counting bogus votes if there is a poll-rigging scandal similar to those of the past two years".

In association with the poll, Barbara Passoff and Simon Billenness are running the Diplomacy Alliance Against Heart Disease. You can pledge an amount "per ballot received"; for example, if you pledge one penny per ballot, and 400 ballots are cast in the poll, you would owe $4. Send in your pledge to Barbara & Simon at 630 Victory Blvd., Apt. 6F, Staten Island, NY 10301. (A pledge form is also included in this issue.)

Bruce Linsey has also announced that "there is a 50/50 chance" that he will not be running the Runestone Poll after this year, and that he will be looking for a successor after this year's poll is finished if he decides not to continue. I am repeating my statement of interest in becoming the next Runestone Pollster (originally made on the front cover of LOM 85) just in case the position does become vacant.

DIP WARZ

Once again, from the furthest reaches of the known universe, comes everybody's favorite sleep opera - "Sleep opera?"

Yes, Princess Luscious, this is a recognized insomnia cure. Two consecutive issues of this thing have been considered an overdose in 27 known star systems. But why, may I ask, are you babbling away like this?

"Because that's the kind of person she is - oh, I see what you mean. Why here and now?" Anyway, Oboe-1 Caruso continues. "As you recall, the Linoleum Falcon was squeezed thin by being pushed through a very small black hole, only to become very short and wise by landing point-first on some planet. Fortunately, it happened to be at coordinates 62.0004, -32.6558, 112.7170, which is a body shop planet. Unfortunately, this is a TYPICAL body shop planet, which means that (a) they take forever, (b) they charge by the hour, and (c) there's always, well, SOMETHING that didn't QUITE fit.

"Look over there!" Baldo Calberchian mentioned in one of those "Don't-make-it-so-obvious-but-there's-something-over-there-that-you-should-see" kinds of voices. Located in a far corner of the shop, under a large economy-size cloth, the lettering on the ship was obvious.

"Dear Mother. The Diplomatic Bad Boys are here."

"You mean us?"

"And that means," Rod Seaparter reasoned, "THE BOURSE is here somewhere."

"You mean THIS?" One of THEM (it is a criminal offense just to MENTION their names) held up the small rectangular object pulsating in its array of colors - light blue - dark blue - black - green - dark blue - green - light blue - dark blue - black - light blue. Just then, the holder disappeared in a POOF of white smoke. Just then, a familiar voice could be heard:

"BEWARE the LEFT SIDE of THE BOURSE. It will drag the unwary down like a well-placed knife between the shoulder blades. Not-very-young Seaparter, your quest goes on."

Please note that this statement of advice from Garra the Elvi master has been translated from that language he speaks (if that's the appropriate word for it) to make it easier on the readers.

FLASH! The SECOND BRITISH INVASION continues - that's Ian McShane of Lovejoy as Lockwood on Dallas. I thought the deal was that we give Britain ideas for game shows and they give us ideas for situation comedies.

KREMLIN GAMESTART

As there are five players who have expressed interest in playing PBM Kremlin, I am starting the game in this issue. I have NMR deposits from three of you; I'll need $2 from the others. Remember, you get the $2 back at the end of the game provided you sent in orders every turn (even if they were slightly late). The first time you don't send in any orders (and don't have a good excuse), $1 is deducted from your NMR deposit; the second time, you lose the entire deposit and a standby will be called if any are available.

Here are the players:

DAVE ANDERSON, Box 6093, Pontiac, MI 48059

*SCOTT CAMERON, 4 Meadow Lane, Hicksville, NY
11801-5304

*CHRIS CARRIER, 1215 P Street 12, Sacramento, CA 95814

*TOM NASH, 5512 Pilgrim Road, Baltimore, MD 21214

RICK PIERCE, 2305 Spanish Trail, Irving, TX 75060

MARK WESEMAN, 124 Burleigh Drive, Ithaca, NY 14850

* indicates that you haven't paid your $2 deposit yet. I have the right to deduct it from your sub balance if necessary, so I suggest you pay the deposit as soon as possible.

I assume that all of you have my PBM rules (appearing in issue 88); if you don't, let me know and I'll send them to you. (You don't need them for the first mailing.) Remember that only Basic rules are being used.

Each of you should send me:

(a) the name of your faction (you are NOT limited to the names used in the game; use your imagination.)

(b) the distribution of your 55 IPs (that is, which character is allocated 10 IPs, which 9, and so on down to 1; remember that these IPs are only allocated, not declared yet, and that none can be allocated to Nestor Apartschik);

(c) which IPs declared in (b), if any, you want to declare. (Specify character and IPs. You can make these orders conditional; for example, "Declare the minimum number of IPs necessary to have control of Goferbok" - 1 IP would be declared if nobody else gave orders to declare any IPs allocated to Goferbok, but if somebody declared 5 IPs, you would declare 6, assuming you allocated at least 6.)

PRESIDENTIAL POLITICS 2 ELECTION SPECIAL

The moment is now at hand! Republicans Stephen Wilcox and Greg Ellis, Democrats Dave Anderson and Melinda Ann Holley, and Independents Jake Halverstadt and Cathy Ozog have fought long and hard to get their ticket to the top, although Melinda's mystery ailment in this last week has kept her sidelined in Los Angeles and unable to help the Demos that much. Not that they have much chance, according to the latest polls....

Rocky Mountain	2 (72)	0 (0)	0 (45)
Pacific	2 (2)	0 (0)	20 (40)
California	1 (1)	40 (100)	0 (50)

Well, the polls have just closed in the east, so let's look at the results in the Mid-Atlantic states (New York, New Jersey, and Pennsylvania):

	REP	DEM	IND
SIG	1770	2086	1913
Issue	1152	273	879
Name Recognition	389	1943	1554
Organizers	333	133 1	1664
Travel	915	704	610
TOTAL	4559	6337	6615

The Independents score first blood with 77 electoral votes. Now over to New England (Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, and Connecticut):

	REP	DEM	IND
SIG	524	184	519
Issue	392	107	364
Name Recognition	909	0	349
Organizers	299	0	779
Travel	130	0	605
TOTAL	2254	291	2616

That third party ticket is sweeping the northeast - another 36 electoral votes to Halverstadt, for a 113 total so far. But here's a Republican stronghold: the South Atlantic (Delaware, Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, D.C., and Florida):

SIG	812	170	0
Issue	1558	936	751
Name Recognition	466	1211	0
Organizers	1038	400	160
Travel	599	298	0
TOTAL	4473	3815	1873

That's 88 electors voting for Wilcox, but he's still behind. Anderson hasn't gotten off the mark yet. Now the central states are reporting in, first with the East South Central (Kentucky, Alabama, Mississippi, and Tennessee):

	REP	DEM	IND
SIG	247	43	105
Issue	361	71	170
Name Recognition	440	0	0
Organizers	377	0	145
TOTAL	1682	114	420

No doubt about those 36 electoral votes. The Democrats could be challenging in the East North Central (Illinois, Wisconsin, Indiana, Ohio, and Michigan):

	REP	DEM	IND
SIG	1234	1467	1489
Issue	162	485	437
Name Recognition	303	1214	1516
Organizers	260	1299	1040
Travel	0	520	1207
TOTAL	1959	4985	5689

Those 90 votes go into Halverstadt's column, for a 203 total. Only 67 more needed for the independents. There are 47 available in the West North Central (Minnesota, Iowa, Missouri, North Dakota, South Dakota, Nebraska, and Kansas):

	REP	DEM	IND
SIG	412	72	175
Issue	587	344	257
Name Recognition	806	0	310
Organizers	266	0	690
TOTAL	2746	416	1432

It looks like those visits by Ellis paid off for Wilcox, who picks up those 47 electoral votes, giving the Republicans 171. Another Republican stronghold is coming up - the West South Central (Arkansas, Louisiana, Oklahoma, and Texas):

	REP	DEM	IND
SIG	412	72	175
Issue	659	125	94
Name Recognition	1014	0	0
Organizers	335	0	869
Travel	472	0	421
TOTAL	2892	197	1559

Another 53 electors in Wilcox's column, giving the Republicans 224, just 46 short of the 270 needed. Now the polls in the Rockies have closed, which is another Republican lock (Montana, Idaho, Wyoming, Colorado, New Mexico, Arizona, Utah, and Nevada):

	REP	DEM	IND
SIG	342	60	145
Issue	778	274	459
Name Recognition	557	0	214
TOTAL	2518	334	1001

That's 40 more Republican electors, giving them 264 - but their last chance seems to be in the Pacific (Washington, Oregon, Alaska, and Hawaii):

	REP	DEM	IND
SIG	247	43	105
Issue	319	64	191
Name Recognition	494	0	190
Organizers	163	0	425
Travel	222	0	214
TOTAL	1445	107	1125

And at 11:11 PM EST, the networks announce that Stephen Wilcox has been elected President of the United States. A few hours later, somebody realizes that Greg Ellis gets the VP job. Meanwhile, the results come in from California:

	REP	DEM	IND
SIG	1127	1406	1119
Issue	562	1124	714
Name Recognition	641	1668	257
Organizers	220	1430	550
Travel	0	663	369
TOTAL	2550	6291	3009

The final electoral vote totals: REPUBLICANS 288, INDEPENDENTS 203, DEMOCRATS 47.

Originally, I had the Independents winning the Pacific, sending the whole thing into the House (where Wilcox won easily) and Senate (where Ellis had a slim victory) - but then Dave Anderson reminded me that I had based media votes in the general election on name recognition spending only instead of all spending.

Victory speeches - concessions - arguments - general comments are welcome if they arrive by April 28. Say, Mister VP, when does the PP2 game in FF begin?

This is the opening setup:

PARTY CHIEF: Apartschik, 80, +

KGB HEAD: Krakembeds, 72

FOREIGN MINISTER: Manjak, 61

DEFENSE MINISTER: Purgemoff, 71

IDEOLOGY CHIEF: Putschnik, 52

INDUSTRY MINISTER: Wasolin, 50

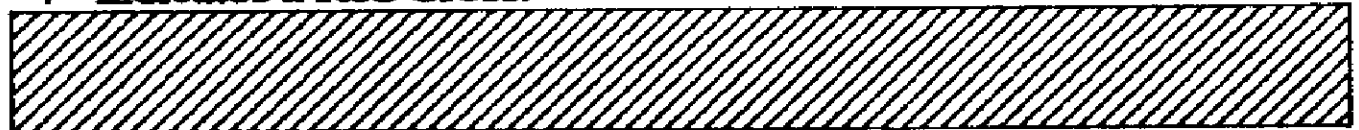

ECONOMY MINISTER: Boremtoev, 66

SPORT MINISTER: Satin, 62

CANDIDATES: Goferbok, 74; Niewitko, 73;

Mischif, 68; Karrienko, 63; Protaky, 56

The numbers after the characters' names indicate their ages; each "+" indicates a Red Cross.

KINGMAKER GAMESTART

I now have six players for my next Kingmaker game. The players:

TIM MOORE, 405 Fair Drive #101, Costa Mesa, CA

* indicates that you have not paid your $2 NMR deposit. I can always take it out of your sub fees if necessary. (OOPS - Cathy is a trader. Then again, she has a $1 credit.)

Your faction name and initial setups (include which cards go to which nobles, where your nobles begin, and which cards go to Chancery) are due by APRIL 27.

Here are your initial six crown cards:

Next issue will include my (slightly) revised Kingmaker House Rules. I am trying to decide whether to create a new PBM map or have the players write orders relative to place names (e.g. "Move north to the space east of Northampton")

GAME OPENINGS

1830 - Goode, *Pierce, von Metzke, Nixon (maybe) signed up. This game may start next issue if all four of you want to start with four, assuming all of you are still interested in playing.

TALISMAN - Dorneman, *Pierce signed up. Basic rules will be used.

(Don't hold your breath for this game to start.)

Both of the above games require a $2 NMR deposit. * indicates a paid deposit for that player.

STANDBYS - needed for Diplomacy. Only Anderson and Nash are on the current list. You get 50 cents sub credit for each of your first two sets of orders, and $1 credit for finishing the position.

MEETING OF MINDS #25

This is Meeting of Minds, the subzine of International Diplomacy Tournament Ratings (IDTR), from the IDTR's I-can-call-myself-whatever-I-want-as-I-do-all-of-the-work-except-of-course-for-the-tournament-directors-who-send-in-the-results-without-which-I'd-be-nothing, Don Del Grande, 142 Eliseo Drive, Greenbrae, CA 94904-1339, USA.

THE 1988 IDTR WORLD TOURNAMENT DIPLOMACY CHAMPION IS still not known as MIDCON has not sent in its results from last October. I'm not alone; apparently, nobody has seen the results other than those announced at the tournament itself. I sent them one of the "official" results forms to fill out; why do they always do this to me?

AS FOR 1989, I don't have the AUSTRALIAN CAN-CON results either. This was only two months ago, however. The VICTORIAN CHAMPIONSHIPS are being held as I am typing this.

DIKIECON is the first IDTR-sanctioned tournament in North America this year; if you haven't entered yet, you have until April 30 to send in your fees. See the enclosed flyer for prices and addresses.

ALSO UPCOMING: The NSW CHAMPIONSHIPS in Sydney, ORIGINS in Los Angeles, and ATLANTICON in Baltimore.

DIPLOMACY ALLIANCE AGAINST HEART DISEASE

BARBARA PASSOFF & SIMON BILLENNESS
630 VICTORY BLVD., APT. 6F
STATEN ISLAND, NY 10301
(718) 981-6247

As I'm sure most of you already know, it has now become a tradition to hold a charity appeal along with the Runestone Poll. Last year, it was for AIDS research. This year Simon and I have decided on the American Heart Association.

Now, I could bombard you with lots of statistics showing how many people die each year from heart disease. But I'm not going to do that. Statistics are just numbers, after all. Instead, I'm going to tell you why I insisted on doing the appeal for the American Heart Association. My father died of a heart attack at the age of 55. I was 19 years old. He never had the chance to meet Simon; never saw his daughter get married. And if we have children, he will never see them. I will never stop missing him.

The appeal will be run the same as last year. The deal is this: 1) Vote in the Runestone Poll; 2) Pledge a monetary amount for each vote cast. So, if 500 people voted, and you pledged 5 cents a vote, you'd owe $25. Simple enough, right?

I need your pledge in by the end of June. Alternatively, you can send your pledge to Bruce Linsey, and he'll forward it to us. One more thing, this is Simon's and my last year doing the Appeal. By September, we'll both be doing our MBA's and we will not have enough time to devote to this. If nobody volunteers to take over for us, this will be the last Hobby Charity Appeal.

Thanks,

Barbara Passoff & Simon Billeness
