WORLD

1993

This is the late Nemedian Chronicles #6, the fabulous magazine of local diplomacy and crummy jokes. It carries two wars and is available at 5¢ a copy of 20/ $1.00. Out of town subscriptions are 2/15¢, mailed in batches of two, due to the recent mail rate hike. The editors, procrastinators, etc. are the sensational six (?):

Norman Zinkhan
Rm. 213 LaV
U of S Res.

PRESS RELEASES:

To England: You wouldn't be planning to step all over poor, helpless little Germany, now, would you? (Would you believe poor, helpless little France?)

To France: Blind faith is all right, but I'll still give the lions 2 billion to 1 over the Christians. By the way, you wouldn't be planning to step all over poor, helpless little Germany, would you??

To Germany: Somebody(ies) are planning to step all over you (if they haven't done so already). I suggest you cancel the Grand Ball in Warsaw and take waltzing lessons --- you're going to knead them. (This way you might be able to keep the English from holding their Grand Ball in Berlin) Deutschland über alles!?!)

To Italy: I know the French are the traditional protectors of the Vatican, but this is ridiculous. Suggest you look out for the French, they seem to have your number. Matter of fact, the only country you don't have to worry about seems to be Russia (but don't count on it they might want Warsaw back).

To Austria: If you're planning on lasting longer than 1905, I suggest you beware of the French, English, Russians, Italians and Turks. (Why not the Germans--- they seem to be intent on committing suicide in Fall '04).

To Russia: Could be that the English are attacking. Suggest you watch them. You can take some consolation that you're tying up 5 English forces (That's consolation?!) Take heart! The Turks might not take Rumania, the Italians might let you have Warsaw, and the English might call off their attack. (On second thought, maybe you better just pray.)

To Turkey: I hope you enjoyed your Serbian lunch. Nobody seems to be attacking you do they, but you don't seem to have much further to go. Suggest you beware of the French---they're not what they seem to be. Austria just might want Serbia back, so you had better watch them (that is, unless you plan to trade Serbia for Greece).

LONDON (1903): The following is Article 23 of the Anglo- Franco- German Pact of 1871:

Article 23: Under no circumstances will the neutrality of Holland be questioned by the countries of England, France and Germany. Intervention by one of these three countries is a declaration of war against the other two countries.

England therefore finds it necessary ~~to~~ under the current circumstances to liberate the people of Holland from the oppression of Germany. (This action has been further declared necessary because the German government insulted his Royal Majesty King Edward VII by sending him a litter of short coat Mexican Chihuahuas signed "with the compliments of the Kaiseress of Germany.")

Krakow Nov. 17, 1903): From the Jordanian 6th Army, To: Germany. Beware of your dear neighbour, FRANCE!!!

BELGRADE (August 14): The Sultan, addressing wildly cheering crowds in Belograd this afternoon, proclaimed that an end would be quickly put to the Austrian forces still remaining in the fair country of Serbia. Marshall Bigutz, commander of the famed First Army, had much praise for the gallant Russians, whose unflinching courage was the overriding factor in the defeat of the Austrian oppressors.

PRESS RELEASES (cont'd)

CONSTANTINOPLE (August 16): Turkish Military Advisors from the famed Turkish Military Academy were dispatched today for Italy aboard the new Turkish Dreadnought "Sultan Osman L.". Their mission was unknown. The Sultan in a speech at their sendoff, urged the English Gov't to halt its war of Aggression on the peaceloving Russian people.

PRESS RELEASES:

VIENNA (August 1): Fredrick Firkola, Correspondent: Copies of Whose Who have been dispatched to all members of the press in Vienna in appreciation of their kind gesture in adding one more volume to my collection of dictionaries. The name, Firkola, appears on page ten. It is also found in my new dictionary. If you have a copy, notice the spelling is Firkola.

VIENNA (September 1): Report from Serbia: The Serbian army is stepping up pressure on the barbaric Macedonian Hordes.

VIENNA (October 1): Report from Athens: The Admirals of the First Fleet and supporting elements of the Serbian Army congratulated themselves on the successful eradication of all the Macedonian Raiders, some of which were persued into the Adriatic Sea. The Greek citizenry welcomed the success of the Austro-Hungarians, as they had also lost many maids. They are now returning.

NAPLES (October 20): Next Thanksgiving the people of Naples will have Turkey instead of Spaghetti.

Istanbul (November 18): The Sultan is happy to announce that by a recent marriage of one of his many beautiful wives to the Czar of Russia, he has sealed a pact of peace between the two countries. He extends like invitations to all interested influential persons.

ODESSA (December 15): After a most glorious honeymoon, the Czar is thinking of trading his wife in for a new model. Applications for the Czareess of the Year Contest are now being accepted. For further information see the back of specially marked Kellog's Corn Flakes boxes, and may you have a doubly good year.

NORTH POLE (December 24): In view of the disturbing crises in Europe, Santa Claus has decided to distribute gifts on the North American continent only. The Prime Minister of Canada will receive an erector set, and a capital in the prairies will receive extra cold air to bring the climate down to a habitable level.

DEADLINES:

In the course of making approximately 15 phone calls on Friday night to get moves in, I have decided that I will stricter with the deadline. If I have not contacted people by 1/2 hour after the deadline I will not accept moves. Also, I will make a stronger attempt to be in my room for one hour before the deadline. However, I still prefer written moves. Wherefore, (due to the Highwaymen teenybopper dance) the next deadline is Friday Nov. 29, 1968 at 8:00 PM. So get the written mo ves and conditional builds in by then.

Tünnes and Schäl were the characters of the Andy Capp type, drinking a lot and working little- as little as possible. Their stamping ground was the city of Köln.

#2:

One day Tünnes and Schäl decided to go to confession. He came to the priest and said.

"Oh father, I have sinned, I have committed adultery."

The priest leaned forward eagerly and queried, "Yes, Yes, go on! With whom- with whom?"

"Ah, father, I cannot remember."

"Well, was it Maria at such and such a place?"

"No, it wasn't."

"Then was it Lucy at so and so a place?"

"No-o-o."

This went on for some minutes. Finally the priest said,

"well, then it could only be Angelica at whatchamacallit place."

"Yes, yes, that's her!"

The priest then put Tünnes' soul at peace.

When he left the church, Schäl was waiting for him. Tünnes said,

"Boy Schäl, you should really go in there! I got a whole bunch of new names and addresses!"

This week PI presents, not a matter of physics or physique, but rather a problem in physics designed to make you physically ill.

How to Rid Oneself of a Tapeworm

Tapeworms are easily acquired. This column will not go into the sources, but perhaps a later one will. However

The main ingredient in this cure is a bowl of hot milk. To get rid of the tapeworm, open your mouth and breathe in the vapours. Some of these will reach the stomach. There, the tapeworm will be attracted by the vapours, and, being continually hungry, will try to follow them to their source. As he moves his head up through your throat and towards the milk, bite his head off. The other 20-odd feet of his body will then be easily digested.

REVIEWS: Book #3: Glory Road by Robert A. Heinlein

It seems to me that in his later books, Heinlein has been deliberately trying to inject some sex in his books. This is especially noticeable in Stranger in a Strange Land and in Glory Road. Glory Road is a difficult book to recommend or not recommend; I like it, but I don't like it, as good Heinlein. It is probably the closest thing to fantasy you'll ever get from this author, but it is still science fantasy. It is possible that the hero is a sort of modern day Conan- and yet there are differences. Most of Heinlein's work is science fiction, and extremely possible to come true. Glory Road is different- the immortal queen of another universe is hardly the most plausible character in the world. If you are a hard-core science fictionite, try reading it as a transition to fantasy. You won't like it the other way round. gfhg
