Well, lucky #7 of Nemedian Chronicles has arrived. Your editors are pleasantly filled with cheer, not to mention being mildly astonished, after having a real steak supper at Marquis Hall (of course the peas WERE raw and the mashed potatoes gummy; but it was steak). This is the last of this prodigist magazine before Christmas. The editors among others want to pass their half-class finals. Comments, gripes, kudos, etc. are invited and, if in writing, may be printed at the discretion of the editors- the magnificent seven of:

Norman Zinkhan
Rm. 213 LaV
U of S Res.
652-1980 Ex. 341

and

Gerhard Graebner
Rm. 309 Hearne
U of S Res.
652-1980 Ex. 243

(Actually this issue is being printed on Dec. 10, but the editors are too lazy to change the dateline.)

PRESS RELEASES:

CONSTANTINOPLE (Sept. 25): His advisors having at last arrived in Naples, the sultan hopes they will do some good.

Note to the Italia ns: Try not to bungle it again.

CONSTANTINOPLE (Sept. 30): The Sultan, in a cautionary statement to the French, advised them not to get sucked in.

ST. PIERRE ET MIQUELON (Nov. 1): Local gossipers are still buzzing about the report of a canoe being seen here last night. It was reported to be manned by Negroes with bones through their noses. Local police investigated the incident and wrote it off as some of the usual hallucinations resulting from the spiked sugar cubes given out as treats here.

PRESS RELEASES:

BERLIN: The Imperial German Government wishes to inform all nations that acts of war against our Danish brothers shall be considered as a direct act of war against the Imperial Government of Kaiser B. and Chancellor B.A.D. Such acts shall only cause our forces to retaliate against offending nations.

After too great an indulgence in Burgundy, the Kaiser was heard to say; "Hold on Teutonic Brothers, here we come."

GREENLAND (Dec. 31): At the local assembly the peers of Greenland met, quaffing ale and munching legs of lamb, as they deliberated the happenings in Scandinavia. At about 3:00 AM, when the gathering started to get stale, they decided to send for two dragon boats and a magnetic fish to the aid of Norway. These will leave on Jan. 15 when the crew recovers from its hangover.

GERMAN JOKE DEPT

(Yes John McCallum, I am proud of my German heritage.)

This week we go back to Jan and Hein.

Lying in a meadow, recovering after a drunk, they waxed philosophical. Studying a buttercup before him, Jan asked Hein,

"Do you believe in the transmigration of souls?"

Hein replied, "Yes, I do."

Jan then asked, "What would you want to be ~~be~~ when you come back?"

To this Hein answered, "I think I'd like to be a buttercup. I'd stand in this beautiful meadow all day, and all the pretty girls would come around and sit on me. What about you?"

"I'd like to be a cow."

"A cow! Why?!"

"Well, I'd walk around this meadow until I came to a buttercup. Then I'd drop my tongue around it, break it off, chew it, and swallow it. Then I'd walk to a nice cool patch of shade and bring it up and chew it some more. After some sleep, I'd peacefully digest it. Then I'd evacuate it from the bottom, turn around, look at it and say, 'My, Hein, how you've changed.'"

THE PHYSICAL LINES

Professor in Quantum Mechanics Class: "Well, shall I go over the Hydrogen atom again or would it Bohr you?"

THE PHYSICAL ILLNESS (continued)

The Tapeworm - Volume 2

After I printed the first tapeworm joke, I heard another, much funnier one. After much deliberation, I decided not to print it.

Anyone who is curious, can ask one of the editors about it.

-----

This week we have some of my (gfhg) fabulous poetry instead of one of my excellent reviews:

1. The Stark Effect Lab

Twinkle, twinkle little stark,
How I wonder why you are.
We cleaned and polished you with care
And pumped out all the excess air-
Twinkle, twinkle, little stark,
How I wonder why you are.

--

2. The Beard

It always comes all of a sudden.
First nothing,
Then it's there -
Hair!
