

↑

FEBRUARY 1, 1969

Short week, wasn't it? Here we are again with big issue #9. Your longwinded have run out of words, so without further ado, those sensational military geniouses:

editor

Norman Zinkhan

and

Gerhard Graebner

852 Saskatchewan Cres.
 Saskatoon, Saskatchewan
 Phone 653-2598

bring you games 1 and 2:

CHRONICLES GAME #1 SPRING 1906 Gamesmaster: G. Graebner

FRANCE ON THE MOVE ITALY STATIC

AUSTRIA-HUNGARY: A Tyr-Mun, A Boh-Sil, A Ven-Tyr
 (Henry-B. Graebner)

ENGLAND: F MAO- W Med, F Nat-Nwg, F Nth(H), F Bal-Both, F Ber-Bal,
 (C. Gerrard) F Tun(S) FRENCH F Tyr, A Den-Kie, A Kie-Ber, A Pru-Sil,
 A Lvn(S) FRENCH A war, A StP-Mos.

FRANCE: A Par-Bur, A Sil-Gal, A War(S) A Sil-Gal, A Mun(S) A Pie-
 (Jones) Tyr, A Pie-Tyr, F Tyr (H), A Tus-Ven, F Lyo (H)

ITALY: A Rom-Ven, F Nap-Rom.
 (Lettuce Growers Inc.)

RUSSIA: A Mos (S) A Ukr, A Sev (S) A Mos, A Ukr (S) A Mos, (Quesnel) A Gal (S) AUSTRIAN A Boh-Sil.

TURKEY: F Gre-Ion, F Aeg (S) F Gre-Ion, F Ion-Nap, F Adr (S)
 (Zinkhan) F Gre-Ion, A Ser-Bud, A Apu (S) ITALIAN F Nap-Rom

Unsuccessful moves are underlined.

The Russian A Gal and Austrian A Tyr are dislodged and retreat to rumania and Vienna respectively.

DEPARTMENT OF ABJECT APOLOGY AND RETRACTION

~~Several~~ errors have occurred recently - one several moves ago: Turkey has a fleet in the Aegean Sea, not in the Eastern Mediterranean as reported the last few times. This was noticed recently and would have affected the Spring 1905 moves. However, since a move has occurred since then, the misake will unfortunately have to stand. Henceforth, be it known that the fleet is in the Aegean. Moreover, the Italian move should be F Naples (S) TURKISH
 F Ion-Tyr. [Fall, 1905]

PRESS RELEASES:

London, Ont. (Feb. 4): Reports of wandering hunters have come in. It is said that these hunters are willing to trade 300 cricket pelts for any Gorfs found. Gorfs are considered a delicacy among the hunters, especially when prepared as Gorfcycles. The Mayor suggested they try northern Quebec where numerous Gorfs have been sighted this year.

Ottawa (Jan. 2): Word has just reached Canada by dog sled across the bearing strait from Russia that a certain Pollack peasant, who left Bohemia years ago to take up residence in Saskatchewan, possesses a recipe for a special chili, which is known to be a cure for cricket pelt sterility. This peasant who is one D.P., has a greed (very kindly we might add) to share his recipe for the good of the unfortunate (and a little

PRESS RELEASES (cont'd)

ignorant) English fleet. The recipe is as follows:

- 3 lbs. beef
- 1/4 cup oil
- 2 qts. water
- 3 tbsp chili powder
- 3 cloves garlic
- 1 tsp ground cummin
- 1 tsp marjoram
- 1 tsp red pepper
- 1 tspb sugar
- 1 tbsp paprica
- 1 tbsp flour
- 6 tbsp corn meal

Sear meat in oil until grey. Add 2 qts water and cook 1/2 to 2 hours. Add remaining ingredients and cook 1/2 hr. Then add flour and corn meal mixed in a cup of water and cook 5 min.

May it scorch your tongue for the next 7 years.

Moscow (May 9): Thanks to the unending efforts of the finest chef, the Czar of Russia was able to announce 7 recipes for the eating of crickets without suffering the disastrous side-effects of sterility. These recipes are being forwarded post haste to Gamesmaster Graebner in Geneva in hopes that he may better entertain Madame X. In return, the Russian ladies are hoping that she will provide them with patterns of her latest dress.

London (March, Ides): King Edward VII announced a major cabinet hang up today.

(Advertisement)

Now you too can be a gourmet. Send for our exciting book: " 1001 Ways to Cook Crickets ".

Compiled by the foremost French and Pollack chefs in the world, this exciting book describes recipes for soup, entrées and delicious desserts. Send for it today - only $ 15.00. Truly a bargain.

CHRONICLES GALE #2

SPRING 1904

Gamesmaster: N. Zinkhan

FRANCE STALEMATED

ENGLAN WAIVES HER RULE

AUSTRIA-HUNGARY:
(Prevost)

A Rum-Gal, A Bud (S) A Rum-Gal, A Sev-Mos, F Aeg-Ton, A Ukr(S) A Sev-Mos, A Bul (S)
F Aeg-Ton. A Vie (S) A Rum-Gal.

ENGLAND:
(Kell-Cameron)

F Eng (C) A Lon-Bre, A Lon-Bre, F Edi-Nwg.

FRANCE:
(Morphy)

F Nat-MAO, A Bre-Par, A Mar-Bur, A Por-Spa.

GERMANY:
(Krislock-Demenciuk)

A Par-Bre, A Bur-Mar, A Mun-Sil, A Rhu-Mun, F Kie-Den, F Bel-Eng, B Nth (S) F Bel-Eng.

ITALY:
(P. Gerrard)

A Tyr-Pie, A Pie-Mar, F Tun-WMed, F Gre-Ion, F Nap-Tyr

TURKEY:
(Quesnel)

F EMed-Aeg, A Con-Ank, F Smy-Con.

GAME #2 (cont'd)

RUSSIA: A War (S) A Mos, F Bla-Sev, A Mos (S) F Bla-Sev, A Gal-Bud, (Lane) F NWE-Edi.

Unsuccessful moves are underlined.

The Austrian army Sev is dislodged (since the Russian Moscow support remains good) and retreats to Armenia.

The Russian army Gal is dislodged and retreats to Bohemia.

The English fleet English Channel is dislodged and retreats to Wales.

PRESS RELEASES:

Vienna (April 1904): Fredrick Firecola correspondent. This correspondent regrets the poor management of this glorified newspaper, namely the Nemedian Chronicles. The lack of proper communications with yours truly has resulted in the state of affairs and good intentions of the Austro-Hungarian empire being poorly communicated to the poor beleaguered people of Europe. Fear no brave peasants. The Austro-Hungarian Empire will save you from the oppression of the Bolsheviks and the requirement of eating cricket pelts.

Moscow: The Czar wishes to invite the ambassadors of all friendly powers to a formal ball to be held February 17 at the Royal Russian Auditorium and Laundry in Moscow. The celebration is to be held to commemorate the Czar's unexpected oil discovery in the East section of Paris.

Berlin: At the Chancellor's Antique shop a certain trench-coated figure was heard to say:

"Wieveil kostet es?"

The accent was slightly Italian or was it English or maybe Rusky. Anyway the tower is still for sale. ---

Auf Wiedersehen - Chancellor B. A. D.

Berlin: Care packages shall be accepted for delivery to a certain desparate Island by the French, Russian and German fleets.

Found: 2,000,000 well cured cricket pelts. These were found in in the vicinity of Paris. Call 954-0007, Berlin Germany.

Stock Report from London:

The Royal Cricket Industries up 2.5

The British Armament Co. Ltd. down 9.5

Munich: It appears the Italian army is planning to move. Across our Frontiers certain movements were observed. Truckloads of spaghetti were seen convoying in Tyrolia.

Aegean, aboard the SS HERM-CARE-FOR-'EM (March 17): The Sultan on his intended tour of the Mediterranean has let it be known that he has every hope for the emergence of the state of Ireland. On the ~~same~~ suspicious Irish feast day he has ordered the export of 1,000,000 cricket pelts and H. G. Wells to Ireland to convince the Irish of Turkish support in their just revolt against their English overloads. These will be convoyed there by Italian fleets courtesy of the Pope, Lecherius XII.

DEADLINES for both games LA are 7:00 p.m. on Friday, Feb. 7, 1969.

This is to allow players and editor(s) to get their moves in and resolved before the Scouter's Ball. Written moves with tentative builds/removals are preferred.

THE PHYSICAL ILLNESSES

After five weeks of subzero, and mostly sub-20 Below weather, it's time to hear some comments on it:

T.S. Eliot: "Lord, we cannot endure much more of this reality."

Jack Stillborn: "Saskatchewan is a case of mass insanity."

Student X: "I dare you to tell me to go to Hell! I dare You!"

Now another biased review.

REVIEWS: #4 "Doc" Smith- The Skylark series

This series is typical Doc Smith - goody-goody heroes, and even goody-goody villains that go around conquering everything in sight and inventing fabulous contraptions. There are only two worth reading, the first, The Skylark of Space, in which the inventions and plot have not grown too implausible, and the characters are not too superhuman; and the last, Skylark DuQuesne, in which galaxies are destroyed and the villain becomes a human, and the focus of the reader attention. The first is worth reading as a good story. The last is worth reading as an impossible space opera - for escape only. The other two stories in the series are too much alike and too milque-toast to offer anything. This last comment goes for pretty well everything else Smith has written.

Bed-wetting may be cured by frying a mouse and making the offender eat it.

ABORTION: (Old Norfolk Remedy)

Jumping on and off a table for half an hour daily should produce the desired result.

Beard-growing Prescription : (attention JBN)

To ~~xxx~~ help grow a beard, spread honey on the outside and chicken dung on the inside of the appropriate area- the honey pills, and the dung drives the hair out.

Next issue: Death and other suchlike ailments of some severity.

The German Joke Dep't will not appear this week, due to the laziness of their cribber.

This has been Nemedian Chronicles, a magazine that has been trying to decide whether to stay with Diplomacy or to become a cook book. ((Three cheers for "The Galloping Gourmet"- CBC weekdays at 4:00 pm. --a paid political announcement)). We are currently carrying two local games. Subs are 20/$1.00 or 5¢ each, for Saskatoonians or 2/15¢ in batches of two for the plebeians out of town. trades are welcome- all for all.