PRESS:

From the battered Gordon Royal castle- as we enter the shell-shot building, we find a small group of disconstated men huddled around a small fireplace... King James is speaking, his voice shaking... "Men, we haven't got much time left to live... they take no prisoners... Let't sing around of "Taps" before we leave and flee for our lives..."

LONDON-King David's annual St. David's Day message offered little hope of peace. "In our efforts to stem the imperialism of the Campbell-Fraser Axis, we shall not shirk from any tedious task, we cannot cringe from bloody battle, we will not waver from our glorious cause," said the young monarch. "Together with our allies, the clans of Gordon, Graham, MacDonald, MacLeod, Stewart and Kieth, we shall continue the struggle for Scottish self determination!"
