News from around the Globe

TAMPAHO TO ENGLAND: I know where Central and Northern California are, they are both suburbs of Los Angeles/right down the street from the cat-nip store, I like Quakes, they taste better than Captain Crunch.

SWEETWATER: And I always thought that Oxnard was a suburb of Santa Barbara.

BERLIN TO PARIS: Ok. I'll come over for Turkey and Apple Pie, meanwhile please get out of Germany.

SWEETWATER: You didn't have to blow me out. No Pie.

ROME: The Italian Senate, after debating the issue for 37 seconds, has unanimously endorsed a declaration of war by the free and honorable Nation of Italy against the rapacious and decadent Nation of France. We don't mind your stretching, Hal, but we do object to the direction it is taking. We call on every one, especially England, to join in this undertaking.

SWEETWATER: You mean I can't come to Capri for the Summer?.

MOSCOW: Emperor Charles I's naval expansion worries us, too. With Germany angry at the Russian government, we have decided not to take any chances on a change of their Foreign policy in this War.

SWEETWATER: Does that mean war?.

RUSSIAN EMBASSY IN PARIS: Agnew Eisenstein arrived today in Paris for a high level conference with the French Ambassador Hal Naus. Reports were that the two were discussing the possibilities of getting together for serious talks. As to whether they will even attempt to be serious about the Paris piece talks, the World waits to hear the trembling news.

SWEETWATER: Hey Agnew I'll supply the girls if you will supply the Vodka. The hell with serious talks, lets get the breads and get drunk.

PIEDMONT: Don't stretch into Italy.

SWEETWATER: I did, I did. does that mean no Vodka and Breads.

MOSCOW TO BERLIN: We have guffed, but we cannot understand a lack of German mercy for the poor, little, undernourished and half-crazed Russian government. Don't worry, we'll make it up.

WARSAW, POLAND (Warsaw Navigation Company): The President of WNC, Rumble Stanjalans, made an official company reply to the Italian request for a contract of fuel conversion to the board of directors (seven, naturally) "The Italian Government has asked for expert appraisal of their Italian Navy's fuel problems which was to the danger point when the French Navy stood them out of the Ionian. As we see it, the Italian Navy should stop using decomposed anchovy pizzas and switch to distilled French White wine. As we have tested the French fuel, it worked better than anything we have--even our Polish soup; But, we are now working on a more potent Polish dish to be used as fuel, but until we have obtained more sausage, we think that it will remain to be a problem to solve. As for the Italian Navy, we suggest that they will find lots of French White Wines in French territories, but of course, the problem there is to get into French territories before we run out of decomposed anchovy pizzas. In a emergency, you can always try decomposed Platypus dung".

from the Moscow White Star, "Call me the White Baron--I like that nickname. I made it in Vienna only to meet Air resistance from the Austrian Air Force (and old Kaiser Club). I was pleased to meet the Red Baron in a rematch and since I am here, you know who won." White Baron, how did you defeat the Red Baron? He had 20 kills to his credit. "Well, sir, I must confess that I won a little unfairly because when I made a double loop to get him off my tail, the little bombs I had for Vienna unfortunately fell out of the cockpit and upon hitting his plane, exploded. Needless to say, he went down, but I was puzzled to find him jumping out of the plane and floated to the ground underneath a large bedspread--rather, a large blood-stained piece of linen. "So, he got home safely?" "Yes, I suppose so, but I did shoot him down". "What happened after you reached Vienna?" "We didn't get to Vienna on account of their anti-aircraft guns--was too thick--and besides, there was so much smoke from these guns that we couldn't see and had to return home. We'll get Vienna next time around." "And what about the Austrian Ace, Von Metzke?" "Well, I swooped besides him and tipped my wings in salute to his bravery, but I couldn't make out what he was doing with his hands--too much smoke interfered." "Thank you, White Baron, and we hope you'll have more to say after your next sortie." "Thank you".

RUSSIA TO ITALY, should it be Russia to England? Anyhow, I wish to make the following note on California Earthquakes/whats that/You #644/California/nasty/ Keep your earthquakes to yourselves. We had an earthquake in Pennsylvania not to long ago/2.5/ and we don't like your exports; Who cares if Oakland, San Francisco, Los Angeles, or San Diego is North, South or West? In the end, they're all going to be shakened to the bottom of the barrel by a good Earthquake. At the bottom of the barrel--it's plenty hot; Anyhow, we Pennsylvanians have already counterattacked your Earthquakes with our mushrooms; You all know that Pennsylvania is the worlds largest exporter of mushrooms, and just to spite yo u, we poisoned a couple of Cans sent to California; Hope you enjoy them. Jamul; Oznard? Who's Oznard?.

SWEETWATER Carlisle, isn't that a School for Indian,?.

Fall 1904 and now to the Jamul edition of the moves.....
