

THE TACTFUL ASSASSIN

Sorry about being a little late this time. Things rather crowded in on me. Too much work, too much health stuff, too much spring-time farm start up, too little time and then the library phones and says that "Debt of Honor", all 766 pages of it, is in for me, but I can only have it for 21 days because there are 137 people on the waiting list for the 23 copies that they have. Something had to give. It was TTA.

I have been re-assessing my energy orientation lately. I've decided that I have to re-orient my priorities in the near term. My community health stuff will have to be toned down, but not dropped. My Dip time will have to be scaled back. So when I finish any games I will not take on any new ones for quite a while. TTA will have to change, too. The amount of personal writing that I put in will vary with the amount of time that is available at the moment. The look may be more warehousy, but that's better than a fold.

Marco and Runestone Poll ballots are enclosed. Please VOTE

LETTERBOMBS

Berry Renken: A little something on what you wrote about government vs. commercialism. 1st You say that economics is a game, with businesses as players, government as a referee and rules that seem to write themselves. 2nd Without government there would be anarchy and no infrastructure, so there would be no chance for any company to be of more than local importance.

ECY: Government was supposed to be the impartial referee which it found difficult to be, and decided that it would like to play too. Business put up with that for a while, but wants things to go back the way they were; government writes the rules the way that business wants them written, so that it can get on with the job of making profit. The Japanese have operated that way all along, their government is just a front for the real rulers; the zaibatsu. The other big world players couldn't quite compete against that tight team until they threw off the sea anchors (government). There won't be anarchy. Heavens, no. Just the 'right' rules.

Harry Andruschak: I do get irritated to read lines like "you elected the Newt". Not all of us USA citizens did. I didn't, and many others didn't. It is true that the majority did, but that is not the same as a blanket "you". There is a lot going on in the USA that I voted against or asked my Congressmen to vote against. So why blame me personally?

ECY: Whoa, big guy. No insult was intended. I apologize for the flippancy of my comment. It was meant more along the lines of, "The forces of business to control the society's thinking are just as strong, if not stronger, in the USA as elsewhere. It is little wonder that its agenda should be espoused by those recently elected to govern (by a 20% to 17% margin (only 37% of those eligible actually voted))."

NINJISTICS

Berry seems to be the only interested in sending answers to my little brain teasers. I decided he's won so many that I'll send him a $20 prize and then disqualify him from any more, other than the extra supports in Ninjistic Dip.

He and I agree that the time would have been 9:16.363636, the equation was $X/5 - (15 + X)/60$.

Twisted Titles II

Tit for Tot: New La Leche League motto.

The Iliac: Homer's hip epic.

Lonesome Move: The van didn't show up.

Rus-Chi: I was willing to work with you but you never responded. That sealed your fate.

Rus-Jap: Ah, a victim who is fighting back. Kind of refreshing, in a way. But soon we'll both tire of it - to your detriment.

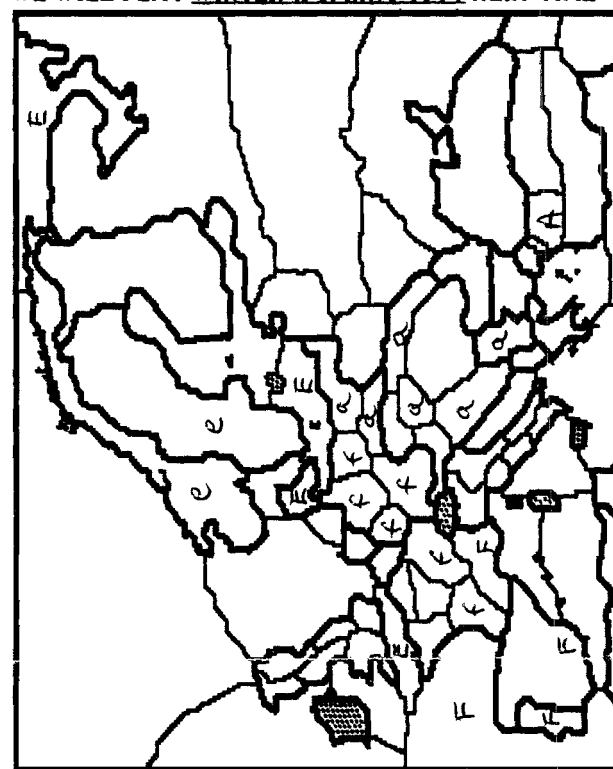

Phil-Eric: Jason didn't put me up to voting for a return to Am seasons. In the issue where I got the stand-by call, I saw the press exchange you and Jason had regarding your decision to change to Brit style. I simply let you know where I, a new player, stood. I always prefer Am-style, and usually don't sign up for any game using Brit-style.

ECY-Phil: I knew that but couldn't help making the dig about you guys both being from Florida. I wonder if the Am-style season thing is in the water down there?

Aus-World: It is with great sadness that I must announce that the leader of the Russians is that most foul of Diplomacy players, a player that holds grudges from game to game. As all civilized players know, a game is a game, entire of itself, isolated and unique. In my circle of FTF Dip players such a person would be the first to be eliminated until he reformed. I had hoped rumors of my Russian friend were not true, but unfortunately they were. I challenge Ray to deny my charge, but I predict he will not. I challenge the rest of you to decide if this is the type of leader any country should have?

Spiff-Arm & Spamster: We could've rumbled, but now we've stumbled.

Spiff-All: Due to the unforeseen politico-military upheaval that is now playing itself out in the west, the 2nd Roman Empire hereby declares all bets to be OFF. Negotiations with anyone interested in forging new alliances are opened.

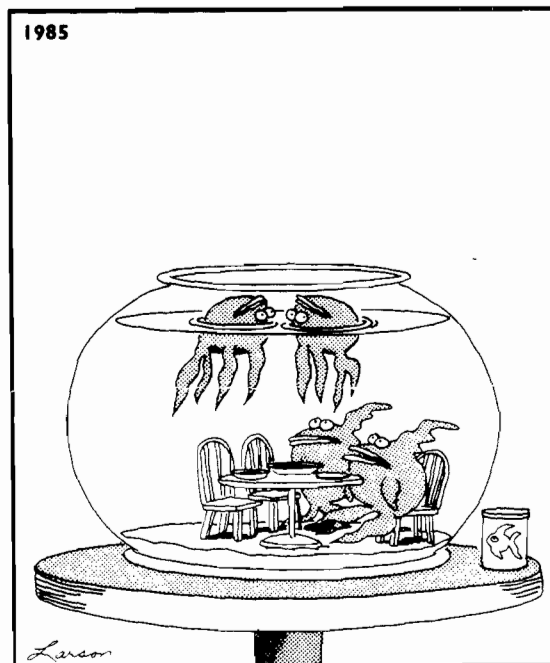

Spamster-Spiffy: Please find enclosed a fleet in Gol. If I hear nothing, I will support you next turn into TyS. After that, please submit your requests.

Spamster-Armor: Hey, we all fall prey to temptation once in a while, don't we. It should be obvious that your stab failed. You may get a dot, even two, but by then Russia will be conveying his armies into Edi. If you back off, then all is forgiven. My fleets will maintain a holding position awaiting your reply.

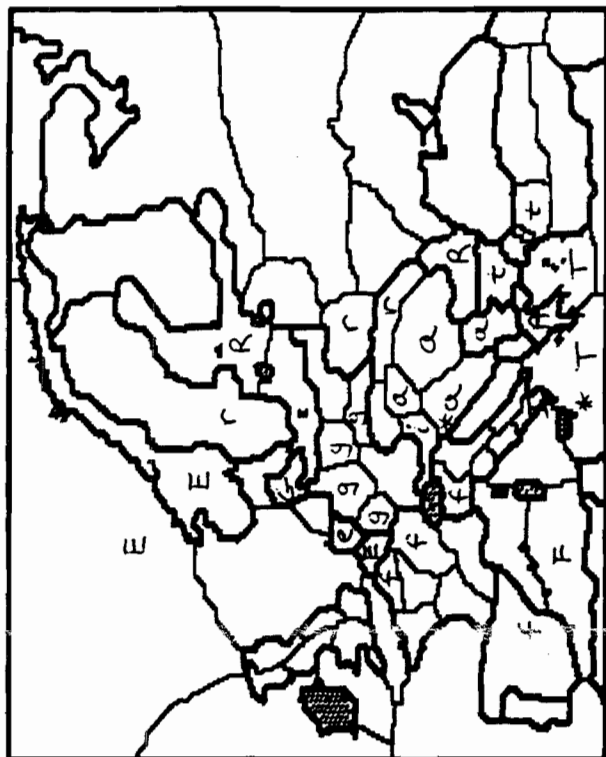

Arm-Spam: You may serve up your plate of crow now. From my Spring orders you can see that I've corrected my errant ways. Hope the damage was not too severe. Get your armies into Germany so we can head east on our original course.

Arm-Hillary: We can't work together if you are continuing to arm in the north with me as your only target. It could have been good.

The 1995 Runestone Poll

ZINE POLL

You may rate any amateur postal or e-mail zine that you've read enough of to rate fairly. This means you've seen (or would have seen if not for delays) at least two issues since July 1, 1994. Only North American zines are eligible, but anyone may vote. Rate each zine from 0 (the worst) to 10 (the best)—no fractions, please. Do not rate your own zine. Blanks are for zines I forgot to list. Do not vote for me or my publications.

You may rate any GM under whom you played any postal or e-mail game since July 1, 1994 for long enough to judge him or her fairly. Only North American GMs are eligible, but anyone may vote. List GMs alphabetically by name (not zine). Rate each GM from 0 (the worst) to 10 (the best)—no fractions, please. GMs may not rate themselves. Do not vote for me.

Thanks for your donations; they really help.

RUNESTONE POLL CONTEST

Guess the Zine Poll winner—the prize is a travel Diplomacy board with magnetic pieces. To be eligible you must vote in the Poll and correctly guess the winning zine; I will pick the contest winner at random from the set of eligible entrants. The names of the winner and any other eligible entrants will be published in the Poll publication.
