ISSUE No. 9

Published by DAVALAN Press

April 25, 1984

I am very sorry for the lateness of this turn. Moving took much more time than I expected. I still do not have everything together, especially my wargaming materials. The next turn should not be so hard to get out since things will be better organized then.

The cost for this issue is 20¢. This will be added to your bill. Thank you to each person that sent money this turn. I will list your balance next issue as the book is burried at the bottom of some box.

This Issue: Charlie Game-Italy Wins.....3
Hokie Game-Spring 1909.....4

There is a wonderful book out now that I suggest you all go out and buy. It is titled Sick of Shadows and is written by Sharyn Mc/Crumb (my wife for those of you who don't know her). It is published by Avon Publishing Co. and is under Mystery. Diplomacy is played during the book and adds a nice touch.

DIP: The English move listed as impossible follows the same rule as Spain in the regular game. The fleet must move to Johore before it can move to the southern coast of Thailand.

The French fleet may retreat to Annam or disband. The Russian army may retreat to Ukraine or disband. The Turkish Fleet may retreat to Aegean Sea or disband. The Turkish Army may retreat to Jordon or disband.

For those of you without GO's on file, look at the damage that was done to Turkey and Russia as a result of their failure to have such, while France and Germany were not hurt at all with their miss.

PRESS.....

The Imperial Army, fulfilling long-standing treaty obligations, marched into Manchuria in a humanitarian gesture to aid the down-on-their-luck Russian troops which have been abandoned here through no fault of their own.

Vaguely reminiscent of the 'fabled 10,000' Greek mercenaries of 3,000 years ago, who fought their way out of Persia, these grizzled veterans are expected to board waiting transports in Harbin for the long voyage home.

They deserve it. So, two cheers for the Russian people, but thumbs down on the Czar and his cronies who put thses brave fellows in this mess.

DIP: The English fleet may retreat to Helgoland Bight, Baltic Sea, or disband. The Italian army may retreat to Haussa, Libya, Cyrenaica, or disband. The Indian army Siberia may retreat to Sinkiang or disband. The Indian army Peking may retreat to Inner Mongolia, Hankow, or disband.

The US move into Spain failed because the fleet in Gascony can not give support into Spain(south coast) because this fleet can not move there. In order to give support into an area, the unit must be able to legally move there.

The extra build centers in Africa are as follows: AUSTRIA - Gabon, ENGLAND - None, FRANCE - Senegal, GERMANY - Katanga, TRANSVAAL - Lozi. The Panama Canal is built.

There were some questions about borders on the Indian Ocean. I have written to Rod Walker for clarification. As of now there will be the following

South Indian: Antarctic Ocean, Mozambique Channel, Mid-Indian Ocean;
 Mid-Indian Ocean; South-Indian Ocean, Somali Sea, West-Indian Ocean;
 West-Indian: Mid-Indian, Somalia Sea, Arabian Sea, East-Indian;
 East-Indaan: West-Indian, Bay of Bengal, Andaman Sea Malayan Sea, Timor sea;
 Timor Sea: East-Indian, Malayan Sea Clebes Sea, South Pacific Ocean, Magella;
 Antarctic Sea: South-Indian, Mozambique Channel, Cape of Good Hope,
 Cape Fria, South Atlantic Ocean;
 Plus respective land masses.

Thank you very much for the money. I understand that some of you need maps. I have small conference maps for 25¢. My large scale map is not very good for Africa and New World (Eurasia is excelent). I will be trying to make a better copy of that very soon.

Press is welcome from all players. It help to spark interest in the game. Please feel free to write all that you want. I just ask that obsenity be used only tactfully, and not for absenitys sake.

If you see any of the players that missed, please ask them if they recieved their turn and if the address I listed is correct. Remind them to send in their moves or tell me if they are not interested in continuing.

THE HAGUE, April 2, 1909 (Reuters)

A Religious-bases faction, The Tse' Tse' Brothers, overthrew the too-long entrenched Afrikaans Party last week.

While promising to bring "'modern animism' to the oppressed people of this region", the Brotherhood's spokesman, Maurice d'Mau Mau, pledged that "no retribution" would be taken against the ex-leaders of the now defunct government, "nor their allies abroad".

Mr. d'Mau Mau, educated at the Sorbonne in Paris (PhD., Theoretical Mathematics), indicated tht he will go to Paris later this Spring for his 10th class Reunion and, while there, discuss world affairs with other heads of state.

He also hopes to discuss religious issues with the Pope and Caliph, either on his way to Paris, or while returning home after the Reunion.

Leaders of the Dutch Reformed Church here in The Hague expressed the hope that no appropriations of Afrikaans property will take place, so as to assure the success of the annual "Save the Rats" fund drive.
