

T.S.

NUMBER TWO - MARCH 1, 1966

EDITOR and GAMESMASTER - Monroe E. Jeffrey
PUBLISHER - Eugene Haskell
SECRETARY - C. F. von Metake
DISTRIBUTOR - Match Publications

As some of you may have noticed the name of the magazine has been changed. This is because the new name is more in line with the policies and feelings of the staff; or, more specifically, of the Editor and Gamesmaster.

We, the staff, feel that it is about time that a 'hard core' magazine was published. Thus, whenever any of you out there in Diplomania-land has a bitch against the way we run things, then - T.S.

As the first step of our new policy I am instituting a $3.50 entry fee, $2.00 of which will be returned to those who finish out the game (More on this later). This rule applies only to those players entering later games. However, if those that are now entered in the first game wish to send in money, we won't object ($2 or more if you please).

At the outset there will be no subscriber rates because T.S. will be delivered to those that are actually playing a game and to those others that we feel are 'worthy' of receiving issues. This policy may be changed later. This is due to the possibility of offering advertising space to anyone who may want to advertise something.

Any of you who wish to have articles or other b.s. printed in T.S. - send it in and maybe it'll get printed - or maybe it won't. All material sent in will receive the consideration due it.

For those who may be interested (spread the word!) there will be a new game starting in a month or so. You may sign up now if you like. No one presently playing in the first game is eligible for the second.

PLAYER CHANGE: From the game list published last issue delete Dennis Frisch as Austria and substitute:

Charles N. Reinsel

Also change Roland Tzudiker's address to 310 Garrison St, Denver, Colo. 80266.
