

"C/2XT, 100S, 18F, 4B can get a little unwieldy"

This is Whitestonia, a game zine brought to you by John Caruso 42-34 Saull St Flushing, NY 11355, 212 353-9695. Within these pages you'll find dip, WSIM, mastermind, NH and Catastrophe, a sub zine put out by Dave White in conjunction with Whitestonia. There happens to be 2 Catastrophe sub zines, the other appearing in Konrad Baumeister's Eggnog. For more info on Eggnog, write to Dave White or Konrad.

CONTEST

Last months contest was answered correctly by only 2 people. The 1st correct answer being given by Paul Canniff. The profile was that of Dan Sundre. This months contest will be a bit different. It will be a sports question. As a matter of fact it will be a racing question. The 1st correct answer will receive 2 free issues of Whitestonia.

Who was the 1st horse to win the Kentucky Derby?

HOBBY NEWS AND INFO

Diplomacy World: Jerry Jones 1854 Wagner St Pasadena Cal. 91107 Sub fees to DW are $5.00 for 4 issues, which is for 1 year. DW comes out every 4 months. It is a very informative piece of literature which every dip player should get at one time or another.

Boardman Number Custodian: Lee Kendter 4347 Benner St Phila, Pa 19135 If you publish and need a number for your dip game, he is the man to get in touch with Orphan Service; Dick Martin 26 Orchard Way No. Rockville, Md 20854, John Daly Rte 2 Box 136-25 Rockwell, NC 28138, Jack Brawner 2745 58Ave So. Apt 260 St Pete, Fla 33712. They make up the USOS, an organization created to place orphan games. If you have one, are in one or know of any, please drop one of the above a line. -

Origins; Well, everything went along smoothly. Walter Blanks won the dip tournment and Kathy and I had a good time. But more on that later. Read my little story.

Rumors: Someone asked me if Voice of Doom has changed since the hassle it had and what was it up to. Until this week, we never received the last 3 VOD. Well here are some of the things that have happened. Linsey brags in issue 19 about lying to the players in his game at Origins about the rules and brags about the fact he deceived the Head GM, John Boardman. He states in issue 17 or 18 that it is ok for any player in his zine to attempt to deceive another player by saying he is Linsey. In issue 19, Linsey NMRed a player who had 2 sets of orders on file, when 1 was obviously tentative orders. Linsey never checked for postmarks (at least he didn't say he did) and the orders weren't dated. A simple extension would have sufficed. Then on the back page Linsey claims he will always uncover and dispose those who play cross game. Well the guy he exposes has only played 1 game, a FTF at Origins, vs Linsey. Linsey is actually doing harm to this players ability by making a statement which can not be proved. So has Linsey changed? Such a deal!

COA: Well this isn't really a change of address. What happened was I typed it incorrectly, or my typewriter did. Anyway call it a typo. Jerry St Germain 2244 is his address not 2245. The rest is the same.

INJURY: For those of you who may get Italiano Pribe, it will be a little late due to the fact that its editor, Dave "Cruesome" Grabar has injured his right hand and hasn't learned to type with his left. Look for IP to reappear about Aug 5-9 as thats about how long it'll take Dave to get back from Hawaii, I mean for his finger to heal.

GAME PLUG: Our very own John Caruso has a game opening for a tactical game he has created. It will utilize conventional weapons on a hex map. This is to be a short land version of the game I am creating to be a total war game, land, sea, air. This game will have 8-12 players. One player will be the commander in chief of his army and the other players will be the generals. There are only 2 nations with the victory conditions being the capture of the other nations 2 cities. Each general will get to create his own units and move them. The CinC will also create his own units, but his units will be responsible for defending the cities and he will also totally control the air force, if any. This game should take only about 10 turns and is meant as a play test. But I doubt any rules will change as they are all pretty clear. This is basically a combat system play test. Those interested, please contact me by Aug 9, 1980. Also let me know if you'd rather be a general of an army or the C in C of the entire nation. FEE $1.00

WSIM 1 on 1 NEW GAME START Set up due date is Aug 9, 1980

British- Jim DiPetta French- George Leritte

Wind direction is #1 and is constant. British must set up anywhere between A-Y and French must set up anywhere between AA-YY. Jim you still owe game fee.

NOTE: The grappling phase of the turn is now phase 8 and all other phases move up one. This makes the game more playable by mail. Good luck Admirals.

PS: If you would prefer a 2 week deadline, I will oblige, but only if you both agree to it.

WSIM 2 on 2 due date is Aug 9, 1980

Well guess what? Yep, I made a mistake with the adjudication of the melee last turn, so heres the corrected results.

2101 vs 1106 battle on French ship 2102 lost 7c total 1106 lost 9c total

2103 vs 1212 battle between ships 2103 lost 3c total 1212 lost 6c total

1104 is in Z17-2 not Z16-1 all other ship listings are correct. Sorry.

WSIM 1 on 1 due date July 26, 1980

Last time I am mentioning it, the grappling phase is now phase 8 and all the other phases move up 1 spot.

Last turn I omitted 2 battles, they are listed below. I'm asking for anyone who wants to bid in them submit a bid with the next set of orders based on the money you had in your account prior to this turn. Also make your moves conditional on who wins if it is necessary. India may submit builds if he wins.

ARTICLES

Articles, profiles and short stories are wanted. If you have any kind of knack for writing, feel free to submit any piece of material you want. You will be rewarded for your trouble. One thing to note, I am not in the policy of editing or bleeping out, unless it is totally unacceptable or bad English or grammar. So, what you write will appear, most of the time, as is.

CATASTROPHE

Well, Cat is no where in sight, and after a phone conversation with Dave White, I found out why. He's been working a new 12 hour a day job, and between that and other committments, he just didn't have the time this month. Dave promises to be here on time next month. Sorry for the inconvenience it may be causing any of you. By the way, Dave has 4 paid players, and 2 possible, for his dip game. Dave White 2448 E. If you have any kind of ad you'd like me to run for you, get in touch with me. I will put it in the 1st available chance I get, but keep the ad small. It can be an opponents wanted ad, games for sale, zine plug or game start, anything.

A TRIP TO ORIGINS as seen by your publisher

We were driving down US 95 when I thought of something funny. I burst into a horrendous laugh. Kathy was seated to my right and had just downed another hate pill and chased it with a swig of arsnick, when she asked me "Whats so funny honey?"(She always gets poetic when on arsnick). I looked at the road marker and it read 18.3. We were about 15 minutes away from Chester, Pa and Origins and I just had the funniest thought, so I told her. "What if all the people at Origins look like Bruce Linsey? How will we know who is who? Just imagine, a whole convention of Bruce Linseys." We both grinned at each other. We knew the only disadvantage to that was we wouldn't know who was who, but figured it would make it easier to stab our dip enemies. The only thing that worried us was the fact that maybe all these look alike would be loyal to the original. Still we had to take the chance and we drove onwards towards Chester and our date with destiny.

Upon arriving at Origins we parked the car and proceeded to check in. The 1st person we ran into gave us info on where we were to go. He looked like Bruce Linsey(called BL or Brux from now on), but he didn't recognize us. We were safe. We arrived without being detected. As we walked along the campus grounds we noticed that everyone looked like Brux. There were some interesting differences though. One person had on a suit of armor, another had on a Gestapo uniform yet another dressed like Santa Claus, and so on. I remember thinking to myself that this was strange. How could everyone look like BL? There has to be an answer. I had only initially thought of it in jest, but here we were in the middle of Origins with a colony of people who look alike. Still we know we had to continue so we checked in and headed towards the fun part of the stay.

Where to go? We had to go somewhere for a few hours, so we decided to go to the exhibit hall where all the major game manufacturers had their booths. As we tried to gain entrance into the hall, our passage was barred by this Cop who looked like BL. He told us the hall was over crowded and a fire hazard already and that we'd be better off to come back later. I asked him how late the hall was open till and he said the hours were from 10AM-6PM and that we should come back around midnight, and with the remark he laughed. Kathy and I were both annoyed, but our sourness turned to glee when one of the ogres(who also looked like BL) hit the cop with a pie, in the eye. We burst into another horrendous laugh. At once the cop turned towards us, and when he did we turned our backs and walked away. As we headed west I yelled to the cop "We'll see you later and we like cake ourselves".

We turned the corner and saw a sign on the building which read Kapelska Hall. We went in. On the 1st floor, all we saw were miniatures. Wall to wall, in every way shape and form. We decided that minis were not for us so we venture down into the basement. In the basement we saw many war gamers who were involved in all sorts of different games. They all looked like BL, some were carrying swords, others had hand guns, yet others had on war paint. We moved down the line and came upon a dip game. I walked up to the guy with the dark sunglasses and hat on and asked his name. He replied Dave Perlmutter and except for the gold capped tooth he looked like BL. I asked the guy next to him what his name was and he said Brad Wilson. He was a little heavier than the original, but he too looked like BL. By now Kathy was blushing. Neither of them knew who she was then she spoke "My name is Kathy". A minute later another player on the board came over. I asked who he was and he said Germany. Then yet another player came over and I decided to guess, "You're England". He said no, he was France. Then I asked the other player on the board who he was and he said nobody. We all had another laugh, then Kathy and I said goodbye and good-luck to the 7 of them.

We decided we were hungry so we ate. Kathy had another hate pill, chased down by some arsnick, and I had 2 heros of tuna which tasted like they caught Charlie. While eating I saw the 1st 2 people who didn't look li'e BL. No it couldn't be, but it was. Bob Beardsley and Dennis and Bernie Agosta. I yelled to them. At 1st they tried to ignore me so I hit Bob in the head with a rock. They came over and we chit-chatted for a while. They had realized the similarities in the all the people too, but said it was only a coincidence. They were in a hurry so we let them go upon their merry way.

After eating we went to Kirkbride Hall where the dip tourney was to be held. We were early so I asked Kathy if she'd like to meet another interesting non BL, person. She said yes. We went over to the War at Sea tourney room and I introduced her to Alan R Moon. Alans charm was as usual, boring. We both did notice that there was 1 familiar name on the entry paper for the WAS tourney and asked Alan if he'd call out the guys name. He did, "Is Dave Rohde here?" A weak voice from the corner said "Over here". Kathy went over and was back in 2 minutes. We said thanks to Alan and left. We had met Alan and stumbled on to Dave Rohde, who just happened to be another BL look alike except he had blonde hair, a beard and a little mustache.

It was getting late so we went upstairs to the dip tourney room. At last the moment we were waiting for was upon us. As we entered the room we notice that everyone in the room, yep, you guessed it, looked like BL. So we introduced ourselves and waited for the reciprocative responcees to bombard our ears. A short, husky, older man came over 1st and introduced himself as John Boardman, and right behind him was this skinny little guy with glasses on and he said in a meek voice that his name was Robert Sacks. Across the room, a tall slender fellow yelled out "I'm Richard Kovalcik". He was sporting a cheap camera and a decal which said "Bird seed is for Birds". Next Jim Yerkey came over and introduced himself in a very unfriendly manner. Bill Thompson and Dan Mathias were the next to give their names. Unlike everyone else, Bill was balding and Dan had a collegian haircut from the 50's. Jim Yerkeys red hair got redder when his arch enemy, Dave Crockett came over and spoke. "I'm Dave Crockett, and I don't play in dip games with girls". He was a husky, brawling man, who resembled a bear so we didn't anger him with any wise cracks. Walter Blanks was sitting in the corner with a mask on and reading a How to Play England book. Mark Franchesini entered the room and had pizza traces on his lips and the smell of garlic on his breathe. Standing in the middle of the room were the infamous father and son team of Lee and Lee Kendter, Sr and Jr. The father was a mature looking BL and very prim and proper, whilst the son sported a mustache and was gray. All of a sudden there was a bugle sound and in came Gods gift to the South, the 3 blind mice, Bob Arnett, who had blonde hair, blue eyes and and a cowboy hat on, Roy Henricks, who had little hair, no eyes and a racoon hat, and Wade Dudley, who was sporting 2 black eyes, stringy, stragly hair and a pirates cap on his head. Right behind them to my astonishment was the only other person in the room who didn't look like BL, it was Dick Martin, and with him was a whole entourage of persons who resembled him. In fact Martin himself looked very familiar, then I placed my finger on it. He looked like Kathy Byrne. So did his entourage. I had to ask him what the story was. His answer was something like this; Dick had heard we were going to be there and figured we'd need help, and in order to help us he cloned himself and brought all his clones with him to attempt to confuse everyone. Aha, thats why noone recognized us.

So the gaming started and ended 5 hours later. In the course of time, I had managed to survive, but Kathy had gained a 3 way draw playing Austria, at the expense of Dave Perlmutter, who was very mad and at the expense of this poor defenseless 10 year old, who due to his age, we won't mention his name. Byrne Syndrome at its best. Kathy lied, begged, and sweated her way through the affair. She even had an Austrian army in Belgium at games end. Anyway, we were all very hungry, so we invited everyone to go with us to the local pub. At the pub, who should we run into, but Dave Rohde, again, we chatted. During the course of dinner, this guy came over and told Kathy she had a funny accent and she told him so did he and that he also looked funny. She introduced herself, so did he. She told him where she was from and asked where he was from. He replied Houston, and Kathy then asked if it was near Beaumont and he said yes. Then she asked if he ever played Putt-Putt golf. Everyone burst into a horrendous laughter. She was embarrassed and blushed a bright green (Irish blush green, not red). After eating we all decided to go play another dip game, for fun. I drew Russia, Kathy got Germany, Bill Thompson got France, Dick Martin-Austria, and cloned brother Dave got England, Ken Toomajian pulled Turkey and rounding out the field, BL got Italy. Well BL demanded Tyro and got attacked by everyone, meanwhile Ger & Eng, sharing the same piece of paper, attacked me. Do you think they were allied I didn't. I hung on till the end, but BL was obliterated because he didn't realize that Tyro is supposed to be Eng.

The next day we went to breakfast at Howard Johnsons. Now we know why no one recommended it. The food was so-so, but the service was the pits. And it took me 15 minutes to pay the bill. Actually, I never paid the cashier, I just left the money on the register. Had I waited for the cashier, I'd probably still be there. On our way to the dip room we ran into Jim Brophy, another of the BL look alike except his difference was long, shoulder length, curly hair.

We entered the room for the 2nd and final day of dip and were taken back by a sign hanging on the wall. Obviously, BL hung the sign which read "Kathy can't play dip". How a man of John Boardmans calibre could let something like that happen is beyond me. By the way, they didn't even have a ladies room on the tourney floor, and her 2nd day players wouldn't give her 5 minutes for a break. Still under these adverse conditions, we participated. Needless to say Kathy ended up with a 4 way draw as Russia with 10 centers and I ended up with a 10 center Eng and a 3 way draw. On the board I had met Tom Mainardi, yet another BL look alike, and Fred Townsend, yet still another look alike.

After the tourney we headed over to the awards ceremony. There were over 25 of us. To make a long story short, we made alot of noise in the hall and were asked to leave. We refused, and the guards just shrugged their shoulders and let us be. Well Walter Blanks won 1st place in the dip tourney, thanks to charity and Mark Franchesini, who finished second. Jim Yerkey ended up 3rd with, I believe Ken Toomajian 4th and Dave "the clone" Martin 5th, after getting wiped out the 1st day, he won with Austria on the second day. Kathy finished the tour 6th out of over 130 players. Bruce Linsey was no where in sight. I had finished approx 20th. After the ceremonies we said our farewells to all the new friends we made. It was raining and we wanted to get back to NY before it got dark and besides, another hour and I think Kathy would have also looked like BL, for she was already starting to look a little like him. Still there was something I wanted to do. So I went over to the cop at the exhibit hall and hit him in the face with a cake and ran away, all the time laughing horrendously.....

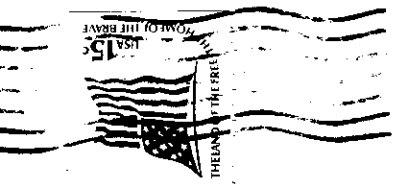

PUBBER to the READERS: Most of the incidents which occurred in the article are true. Most of the people mentioned were present, however the character descriptions are fictional, obviously. Also the incident with the cop wasn't totally true. We really had a good time at origins and hope you all had a good time reading about our experience there even if some of it is made up. JOHN.

Well, this wraps up another issue of the hobbies fiesty, finest magazine, Whitestonia. Only kidding. But this is the end. If you have any friends looking for a dip game there are still at least 2 game openings, 1 in Catastrophe and at least 1 run by me. Sub to Cat is free. You will receive it if you sub to Whitestonia.

One more thing, enclosed you'll find an open letter to the hobby by Kathy Byrne. As for whats in it, I agree 100% that there is a need for such a board, and back its creation and will support it in its execution, also 100%. For my fellow pubbers out there, if you'd like to reprint the article in its entire form you may, with Kathys blessings. Therefore, I have left it on a separate sheet of paper so you can just take it out and get it copied if you use a copier such as I do. This article is basically for the benefit of the players, and if you care at all about a players rights and feelings, you'll print the article. Thank you.

Player Board - About time!

by Kathy Byrne

I have been an active diplomacy player for over a year and a half, during that time I found myself in the position of needing a place to go with a problem. In all honesty, there is no where to go.

If you have a problem, forget publishers there seems to be a code of ethics which dictates that they back each other. No one wants to get involved in anyone else's zine. Each publisher feels a guy can run his zine however he chooses. Legitimate complaints by players, are put down as the GM is always right.

I managed to find GM's who would listen and one, Lee Kendter, Sr., went out of his way to help me. In no way do I suggest anyone write Lee with a problem, he is not the ombudsman, and he hasn't the time to help all of us. Jerry Jones another good listener and problem solver is forever bothered by our problems.

It is about time, that we the players, join together, and try and help each other out. If we unite, we have a glimmer of hope, that a publisher will listen, as it is now if four players have legit complaints in the same zine, no one will listen. If we band together, I don't see how publishers can refuse to at least listen to our side.

What is becoming the players solution? PROTEST RESIGNATIONS! I was and am as quilty as the rest of you when it comes to protest resignations. I do not condone resignations nor do I believe in players who NMR out. I found no solution to the problem that I was having with a GM, and I therefore decided the only way to avoid the hassles I was having was to resign. Another player in the game, who was having similiar problems resigned with me. A third player, never sent in another set of orders. A full seven player game, now had 3 new players, in 1903. Could this have been avoided? If we had been able to find someone who could at least help, at least listen, maybe speak to our GM, it might have helped.

I therefore say lets give a player board a chance. If publishers can stick together, why not us(besides I hated giving up a terrific position). I ask everyone to contact Jerry Jones at 1854 Wagner St., Pasedena, Calif. 91107. Jerry will have my total support and I will do everything I can to make this player board a reality. I ask all of you to help with this project - what's one more letter - let Jerry know that we appreciate his efforts and intend to follow through for him.

This is our hobby, lets get involved in making it a better one - especially for the players! A player board may be just the solution we need to get our side heard.
