Jock Root says that he thought he moved the Fleet Rome to the Tyrrhenian several moves ago - my records don't show it. Sorry.

(Bydgoszcz) Polish president Andrzej Sarriczewski, on vacation in this coal-mining resort (the ads call it, "the last resort of the desperate), today conceded eventual victory in the long war to the Maldive Islanders, whose recent usurpation of the French throne added scores of screeching savages to the already bloated Franco-British (that's Gail's good cooking that does that, not the screeching savages) lines.

"There is no long-term hope," lamented Sarriczewski (who has conceded defeat twice before in this same war, only to rise to power again), "but we shall make it costly. (For us, dammit, as well as for them!)"
