

WILD 'N' WOOLY

DR. SARBONA, YOU CAN SET YOURSELF ANOTHER
"FUZZY LI'L CATERPILLER"...

F. H. H. H.

May 22, 1966

An explanation is in order here. Being 10 days late with a 9 day publication is pretty bad. I went off one of these silly mountain roads into a ravine. I suffered only some external bruising and I'm fully recovered. My car, however, suffered a great deal of internal injuries and will never run again.

Now PLEASE, please don't anyone delay any games for me. Its bad enough that Wild 'n Woolly is delayed. I missed getting my removal orders in to Barad-Dur but the Gamesmaster will remove the same units that I would have removed anyway.

I want to thank John Smythe and Conrad von Metzke for getting jobs for me. I was planning to move to Youngstown but I cannot for a while now. I'll try to make it in time for the Worldcon.

(Vienna) WAR DECLARED ON ITALY! At a press conference in the National Palace this morning, Ken Fletcher, Minister of Public Informantion and Spokesman of Crown Prinz Engen, explained the circumstances behind the declaration:

"Basically, this action is dictated by an integral part of our National Self-Interest: Expansion into Italy is necessary to gain unhindered access to the Mediterranean. At least we're not going to be hypocrites about our actions. . . besides, we must protect the spawning rights of the Slavic-speaking fish of the Adriatic Sea."

Crown Prinz Engen has reportedly expressed interest in an alliance with England. "After all, the further away the ally, the less you have to worry about his motives," he said.

Emperor Franz-Jocund the XXIXth, in the midst of his current drunken orgy, announced his disapproval of the actions of the Crown Prinz in declaring war on Italy. "More better we should kill some Poles," he said, bigotly. "As Emperor, I would like to warn potential meddlers in the Balkans that they will be attacking Imperial Protectorates, and punitive actions will result!"

(Warsaw) Alexander Nevsky XIV, his lethal Dutch Schimmelpenninck in hand, concluded a recent airing of Russo-German relations by saying, "Look, those who don't remember the past are condemned to relive it!" Regrettable as it may seem, the German Diplomats never survived the initial airing.

(Ankara) The Sultana of Turkey announced a meeting of the high command to decide the fate of a certain nation. It is expected that Turkey will choose her first victim soon. All friends should make themselves known right away to avoid attack.

(Vienna) Austrian units on the southeastern front, inactive for two long years now started their Spring Offensive with a series of attacks on frontier positions in Armenia and the Ukraina. Brushing aside lightly armed frontier posts, the Men of Austria advanced thirty miles inland on the opening day of the campaign and seized the provinces with moderate fighting. The Turkish government, which has always had trouble keeping order in Armenia, filed a pro forma protest, but no military action appeared likely. No further actions against Turkey are contemplated until a pacification campaign controls Armenia. The Ukrainian natives welcomed the Austrians but appeared frightened and ill at ease. Some sort of an Austro-English link up that would liberate Moscow and Warsaw was not considered unlikely.

(Berlin) Insolencia? De quien esta hablando? Nosotros no le atacabamos - era su propia perfidia. Si vd. querria la paz, no deje su ejercito en Borgona, nila armada en el Paso de Calais. Cuando estan racias estas secciones, entonces saldremos del Ruhr y, si podremos, de Munich. Que vuelva la amistad! Muertos estaran los ingleses - los diablos del limoncito!

(Budapest) Budapest's Govenor Iajos Kossuth, Champion of the Civil Liberties, announced today, from the balcony of the Hungarian Drithe that Baron Hunchbrausen has a mind that is totally blank and irrevocably suppressed in spirit.

THE BEGINNERS GAME

Wild 'n Woolly will publish a game for players new to Postal Diplomacy. It is open to any seven players who have never played Postal Diplomacy before. We'll even accept girls in this game. It's your chance to talk some of your Avalon-Hill opponents into the Diplomacy world where you can get even with them. The Beginners game will require either of the game fees under Plan A or B. There will be a free game for each of the players in this Beginners game. This free game, they can get into as soon as they wish. There won't be any more than two of them in any one of the new games. Have the prospective players write to me, stating their choice of country.

Wild 'n Woolly also hopes to start 5 or 6 more regular games this year. In fact, we may have a game list for 6R (1966KR) in the next issue. If you want in a game, write and state your choice of country.
