PRESS:-----

London-Ankara: You were waving your private parts? We thought you were lighting a Camel regular between your legs. Say, what's that yellow stuff on you?

Liverpool-Brest: Oh dat yellow rain am comin'
 Run an' hide, run an' hide.
 Yes, dat yellow rain am comin'
 Step aside, step aside.

Yo' done hurt de other fellow
 So he took yo' black umbrella.
 Oh dat yellow rain am comin'
 Run an' hide, run an' hide.

Turkey-Judy: As the blind priest said as he passed the fish market, "Hi girls!"

Turkey-Judy again: I looked and looked. Did you announce the winner of the Dave Carter award or not? If it was presented to me, I would like to accept it on behalf of all the women in the world who make it so easy and justifiable to maintain male jingoism. If I didn't get the award, well it's a stupid award anyway and I wouldn't take it if you gave it to me, so there.

Judy-Turkey Lurkey: The award was announced on the bottom of page 7 of the May 22nd issue. It went to Brian Creese. You probably had the issue upside down looking at the girly pictures. Besides, if I remember correctly, you usually paid more attention to the pictures than the words anyway. You will have to despise the award for one more year. You've got company, a couple of people are already in the running for the 1986 award.

The following was sent to me by my friend Jeff Albrecht with the words, "Be it known, I agree with the Wizard." ((Another bid for the Dave Carter Award?))

Cathy submitted orders, but they were conditional orders and neither of the two conditions specified took place. She did not have an "otherwise" set of orders. I hate ruling on technicalities but as many times as I read her orders, I couldn't see any other way to understand them. Sorry Cathy. I am returning a copy of your orders with this issue so you can see what I was faced with.

Finland: Tsarina Xherpes II organized a gala to celebrate the wedding of the your Turkish ruler. Later, she expressed interest in going for a cruise with the Russian navy. "I really think it's time I inspected those masts," she told Admiral Popoff, "don't you?"

Italy-Turkey: Congratulations Cathy! How does it feel to have a new name?

Italy-Austria: Yes, I would be interested in a standby position. Is Don Williams the one with the duck?

England-Russia: Congratulations on Prince Daniel - I like sports/but I don't have an impeccable reputation.

England-Austria/Turkey: Yes, the game may be lost - but I'm enjoying the defensive strategy involved in fighting the rest of the world!! Come and get me!!!

Turkey-England: Do you give up yet? It's only a matter of time you know.

PHOTO CORNER

Here is a picture from the DAFCON I attended last January. Not a great photograph, but then I'm not Ben Schilling. Of note in the picture is the player who is either consumed in the game or consuming himself. That reminds me of a short story I recently read in Stephen King's collection of short stories, "Skeleton Crew" about a doctor stranded on a desert island with a quantity of cocaine. He injures his foot and has to amputate it, later consuming it and progressively more of himself as his hunger continues. If I may paraphrase a part in the story, the doctor muses that if you are what you eat, he hasn't changed a bit.

Here is photo of another con being held in South Dakota. This must be a game of Feeder Dip where only the player's can see the board.
